IRATE EDWARD FIGHTS BACK

RATE ROBINSON LIKELY CHOICE FOR HIGH COURT

Reveal Pledge Made by Roosevelt.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 19.—[Special.]—Senators who are friends of Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas were confident today that he would be appointed to the United States Supreme court in the place to be vacated by the retirement of Justice Willis Van Devanter.

Senator Robinson.

The confidence of Senator Robinson's friends, including both Democrats and Republicans, was based upon the disclosure that President Roosevelt, back in the summer of 1933, definitly promised him the first vacancy to occur on the Supreme bench.

Report Is Confirmed.

It has long been reported that Senator Robinson had been promised a place on the Supreme court and this report was confirmed in unimpeachable quarters today. It was learned that Mr. Roosevelt not only gave Senator Robinson his promise, but went so far as to secure from Republican leaders a pledge that they would not block immediate confirmation by demanding that the nomination be sent to the judiciary committee.

While the assumption was general in the senate that the Democratic leader would soon be invested with the ermine, and his friends on both sides of the chamber gathered around to extend their best wishes, it was learned that not a word had come from the White House regarding the President's promise since the announcement early yesterday morning of Justice Van Devanter's retirement. Some of those closest to Senator Robinson, while wishing him success, suggested various considerations which might induce the President to ask to be relieved of his promise.

Aid as Leader Cited.

First of these is the President's need of Robinson in the senate. He has submerged his own political philosophy, which has an ultraconservative background, and led the fight for every piece of legislation, however radical, demanded by the President. He is personally popular in the senate and is a forceful majority leader. If he should be appointed to the Supreme court the President would be hard put to find a Democratic leader who could hold the divergent elements of the unwieldy 5 to 1 majority together.

Furthermore, Democratic leaders fighting the President on the Supreme court packing issue served notice today that there is only one man supporting the court plan whom they would accept as majority leader. That is Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, another southern conservative, who has been going off the reservation on the economy issue and probably would not be acceptable to the President.

Question of Eligibility.

Another consideration which might prevent Robinson's appointment is the question of his eligibility. The constitution provides that "no senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States which shall have been created or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time."

When the recently enacted statute permitting Supreme court justices to retire on full pay of $20,000 a year for life was under consideration, it was construed in some quarters as increasing the emoluments of the office. Under previous law, the justices were permitted to resign on full salary but it was subject to curtailment by special act of congress, which did reduce the salary of the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes.

This was a question which Senator Robinson, in private conversations

NAZI SNOOPERS AND BUROCRATS ANGER GERMANS

Citizens Forced to Toe the Mark.

Incurs Nazi Wrath

1. Entire German press voices wrath at Cardinal Mundelein's speech to Chicago diocesan meeting Tuesday attacking Hitler and German government's campaign to take over Catholic Youth organization and church schools.

2. Vatican prelates state the cardinal had every right to speak his own mind; declare the Vatican will not concern itself with either a repudiation or a defense of the cardinal's remarks.

3. The basis for Cardinal Mundelein's attack on Nazi Germany was a collection of independent reports of indignities suffered by German Catholics, according to Chicago church sources. Both Protestant and Jewish leaders praise the cardinal's stand.

BY JOHN DICKSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 19.—A vast burocracy and an army of Nazi snoopers have risen to plague the German citizen under the dictatorship of Adolf Hitler.

In the days of the kaiser the world sang cabaret songs about German burocracy. The kaiser was an amateur compared to the Nazi chief of burocracy.

Everywhere buildings are being built for the Nazi burocrat. If the average German wants to buy a glass transom he can't do it. All glass transoms have been reserved for government buildings.

Must Ask Permission.

If the average German wants to build a house, he must first ask the burocrats whether it will be possible to get the materials he needs. He will get permission if the materials are not needed for government buildings, and they usually are. Iron girders are earmarked for government construction. The average man cannot buy them. Due to the shortage of raw materials plants can't make them.

In order to get an idea of the size of the burocratic army it is interesting to figure out how often a citizen is card-indexed. He is registered with the local police, the central police, the secret police, and the army. He is registered in the home "cell" to which his home belongs and in the "block" to which the cell belongs.

His name appears on the winter relief lists [as donor or recipient]. It is on Nazi welfare association lists, on the butter and fat lists, on the income tax lists, on the city tax lists, on the church tax lists. It also appears in the Labor Front, in the guild of his profession, in the "Strength through Joy movement," and in the Nazi party, if he has the honor of belonging to it.

German Kept in Line.

It is on the illness insurance lists, on the unemployed insurance lists, on the old age insurance lists, on his church list. If he has a car, dog, or a house, the number of times he is card-indexed increases many times.

The above list is not complete. Its purpose is only to give an idea of how the official burocratic army helps keep the German in line. He is aware of the fact he is being watched and may be called for military service any moment.

The men who have card indexed the nation are not mere scribes or red tape men. They are officials of the Nazi party, who use their knowledge, influence, and power to make millions of Germans toe the line. The card indexed masses may not be as well drilled as the soldier, Storm Trooper, labor conscript, Schutzstaffelman, [hand picked Hitler guard] Hitler youth leaders, the police and secret police, but all have had their party training in some shape or other and are fully aware the police will brook no resistance.

Become Volunteer Spies.

Something sad is happening to the German character in all this drilling—as it is bound to happen to any nation under dictatorial rule. Human nature being what it is, many, aroused by the countless verbotens, will try to cheat. Others, lured by officially sanctioned snooping, become paid or volunteer spies.

LINDBERGH IGNORES 10TH ANNIVERSARY OF N. Y. TO PARIS FLIGHT

LONDON, May 19.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has no wish to commemorate tomorrow the tenth anniversary of his epochal solo flight from New York to Paris. The American expatriate, who is 35 years old, succinctly told a questioning friend: "I did it. Why should I celebrate it?"

Lindbergh will spend the day quietly at his country home at Long Barn with Mrs. Lindbergh and Baby Jon. There will be no telephoned anniversary congratulations; the phone has been disconnected.

One of his friends spent two days with the colonel recently and remarked on the approaching anniversary of the flight which never has been duplicated.

"How am I going to celebrate it?" Lindbergh asked, his friend related today. "I am not. If anybody else wants to, all right. But I won't participate in any observance."

But the colonel's present interests and activities are known to very few.

"I was with him two days," the friend related. "But he volunteered nothing. He and the family seem supremely happy, though."

SON FOR NAVY TEAM; MOTHER LOSES IN WILL

Hackensack, N. J., May 19.—[Special.]—Gen. Jay J. Morrow, brother of the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, took the Army football team seriously. In his will, filed here today for probate, he excluded a sister, Mrs. Agnes Scandrett of Washington, D. C., from sharing in personal bequests, explaining:

"I'm leaving Agnes out of this because one of her sons sat beside me at an Army-Navy football game in an Army seat and cheered lustily for the Navy."

Mrs. Scandrett, however, will share in the estate.

Horse Heeds Trafic Light, Even When Running Away

Owego, N. Y., May 18.—(AP)—Police Chief Earl Sibley is authority for the story. He was chasing a horse which was galloping down Main street when a trafic light turned red. "His hoofs actually screeched as he skidded to a stop and sat down on his haunches," the chief said. The chief grabbed the horse before the light turned green.

Lilacs Waken City's Sick to Spring Beauty

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Acres of lilacs, melodious of springtime, hope, and love, were transported from the back yards of Chicago's suburban homes yesterday to the bedsides and wards of ninety-two city hospitals and other institutions for shut-ins. Along with the fragrant lilacs, white and blue and deep Persian red, sprays of apple and plum and japonica, or burning bush, and brilliant tulips were tucked in with the good wishes of the senders.

The ninth annual Share Your Lilacs day, sponsored by the Chicago Plant, Flower, and Fruit guild and The Tribune, resulted in twice as many flowers being sent in as last year. They came from thousands of home gardens, estates, parks, country clubs and schools, most of them in the west and south suburbs, and were gathered under the direction of eighty suburban garden clubs and other organizations.

16,000 Get Flowers.

Sixteen thousand hospital and institution patients benefited by yesterday's distribution, the first of the two Share Your Lilacs days this year. The second one will be next Tuesday, May 25, when garden clubs of north and west suburbs will send in their offerings. Those left out yesterday, 38 institutions, will be supplied then, and flowers left over will be given general hospital distribution.

Seventeen truckloads of lilacs and other flower gifts, which were collected at railroad stations during the morning, went out from Tribune Square to hospitals shortly after noon. The rains of Wednesday had made the blooms fresh. Crowds in the loop watched the procession of Tribune trucks laden with a new kind of news. Instead of wars and murders and politics this was news of a simple kind from the country. It said that spring was here, that life ever sprang anew, that there is thoughtfulness in the world for others.

Lilacs Come by Air.

Three airplanes of the United Air Lines brought lilacs for this day from Cleveland, Seattle, and San Francisco.

A truck load of lilacs came in from the Tribune experimental farm at Wheaton, the special gift of Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, chairman of the executive committee of the Chicago Plant, Flower, and Fruit guild. Mrs. William H. Schultz of Maywood,

N. Y. MENTALIST FINDS HOOVER'S MIND BLANK —EXCEPT FOR 'HULDA'

New York, May 19.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover thinks of "Hulda" in the presence of a mind reader—simply that and nothing more.

The former President, it was revealed today, cleared his mind of all other thoughts when confronted by Joseph Dunninger, New York mentalist, at a dinner attended by many prominent persons.

"I tried to find what else was in Mr. Hoover's mind—perhaps something about the future of the Republican party," Dunninger said. "But there was nothing there—nothing except the name 'Hulda.'"

Hoover admitted he was thinking of the name, but declined to reveal her identity. "Who's Who," however, shows that he is the son of Jesse Clark and Hulda Randall Hoover.

14 WOMEN HURT IN ACCIDENT AT G. A. R. SESSION

Decatur, Ill., May 20 [Thursday].—(AP)—Fourteen women were injured, seven seriously, early today when a police patrol in which they were making a night tour of the city, went into a ditch and turned over several times.

The women were here as delegates to meetings of the auxiliary organizations at the annual encampment of the Illinois G. A. R. Names of the injured were not available.

J. S. Patton, Decatur newspaper man, said at least seven had been injured seriously. All were taken to St. Mary's hospital.

Thirty-five veterans registered and gave a record attendance for the last three years. Five affiliated organizations are meeting with the G. A. R.

Frederick Buy, 93 years old, of Danville, chief mustering officer and most sprightly of the veterans, scorned the offer to ride in the day's parade. He walked.

Wife Turning to Stone Is Granted a Divorce

Mrs. Petrakos, who suffers from a malady which is slowly turning her skin to stone, charged that her husband broke her nose in a fit of rage.

Gerard Slips Britain a Sound Economic Tip

A Spending Veto

President Roosevelt vetoes 5 million appropriation for New York world's fair, thereby enraging congressmen who threaten to prune his 1½ billion relief demand in retaliation. Details on page 9.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 19.—Aristocratic ears perked up and distinguished eyebrows arched tonight when James W. Gerard, No. 1 man for President Roosevelt at the British coronation and stanch Democrat, made a speech at a farewell dinner of the Pilgrims' society in London.

It was not the way he spoke his views, for that was polished, as one would expect from a former ambassador to Germany and one who wore knee breeches and silk stockings to the coronation. Rather it was what was said by this man who gave $51,100 to help elect Mr. Roosevelt last year that was unexpected.

"Hands Across the Sea," Then—

Nearly 300 Britons, distinguished in official, diplomatic, and business life, had gathered at this parting dinner for the American coronation delegation. They heard Mr. Gerard speak of the mutual trust and desire for peace of the United States and Great Britain.

But then Mr. Gerard decided to give hands-across-the-seas advice on economic matters.

He warned Great Britain not to follow the lead of President Roosevelt's administration and enact a capital gains tax.

"I hope you will not pass a tax such as we have," he admonished the gathered Pilgrims, "for our capital gains tax has been found to be a discouragement for enterprise."

Something New to Pilgrims.

The President's envoy did not enlarge on his views and his hearers could only speculate on why he felt called on to express them. But that Mr. Roosevelt's envoy, a seasoned diplomat, had said such a thing at all caused a ripple of astonishment in this society, which has sponsored so many Anglo-American affairs.

[The federal tax on undistributed corporation profits was passed as Roosevelt "must legislation" at the final session of congress in June, 1936. It provides for a tax of 7 per cent on the first 10 per cent of profit not distributed in dividends, increasing by steps to 27 per cent of all income over 60 per cent retained by the corporation. This is in addition to the tax on corporation incomes, ranging from 8 to 15 per cent.]

Gerard extended his remarks to say that American policy is actuated by three principal motives.

"First, we are against war; second, against any alliances, and third, against meddling in the muddled affairs of Europe."

Duke Infuriated by 'Double Cross.'

A Broken Promise!

Dispatches from London last night tended to confirm reports that Stanley Baldwin's government has broken its pre-abdication agreement with Edward, duke of Windsor. The duke's friends charged that the agreement was not carried out, pointing particularly to the royal family's boycott, at the behest of the government, of the wedding of Edward and Mrs. Wallis Warfield. Details on page 2.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTS, France, May 19.—Stung by the decision of official England to cut his wedding, the duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, today served notice on the world that he will expect his wife to be referred to as "her royal highness."

This timely reminder from Edward to the people over whom he once ruled and to the government which forced him to abdicate his throne that whether they liked it or not he is still a member of the British royal family slipped out quite innocently in the course of a press conference at the Château de Cande with Herman L. Rogers of New York, the duke's volunteer propaganda minister.

An Automatic Title.

"Will Mrs. Wallis Warfield [Simpson] be called her royal highness after the marriage on June 3?" a correspondent asked.

"I would think she automatically would be called that," Rogers replied.

The drama back of this simple question and answer is not obvious at first glance, but it is there all right. It is self-evident that Europeans at least, and Americans who go in for titles, will call Mrs. Warfield "her royal highness."

But it was just as self evident a week ago when Rogers was asked the same question. At that time the reply was that information on this point would not be forthcoming until after the coronation.

Bishop and Baldwin Object.

The reason was that the idea of calling "that woman" her royal highness sticks in the craw of the Anglican bishops and Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin.

They would have considered it then as a provocation on the part of the duke, or American impertinence on the part of Rogers. And since the question of official recognition of the marriage then was being discussed, care had to be taken not to spoil the negotiations.

Now the lid is off. The negotiations having broken down. If the negotiations had succeeded Mrs. Warfield still would be called "her royal highness" just as automatically. However, the attention of the press would not have been drawn to it so as to spare touchy British susceptibilities.

Gets Edward's Approval.

It is true that Rogers did not volunteer the information, but there can be no doubt he would not have let it be drawn out of him if he had not gotten Edward's approval beforehand.

Telling the world that from June 3 on it will be "her royal highness, the duchess of Windsor," was unmistakably a deliberate countersnub aimed at the British snootocracy and a dignified but effective way of getting under the skin of the government which Edward feels double crossed him.

It definitly widens the breach between the ex-king and English officialdom, including his own family. However, it chiefly is interesting as an indication that Edward is tired of playing the rôle of he who gets slapped and is beginning to hit back at those who have not played the game with him as he played it with them.

To Be Married by Mayor.

Further evidence of the rift was the announcement by Rogers that there will be no consular ceremony and that the marriage will be performed under the French civil code by Mayor Dr. Charles Mercier of Monts.

That leaves only one tie and that a doubtful one linking the marriage of the former ruler with his own land and traditions. That is a religious ceremony following the civil one with a prelate of the Church of England officiating. Rogers still could not say whether there would be a religious ceremony or not; so in the end it is possible that the church, like the royal family and the government, will turn its back on the marriage of the man who for nearly a year was its secular head.

Edward's spokesman at this point of the interview took another crack at the British government in referring to the fact that no member of the royal family will attend the ceremony.

"King George VI. has been advised not to send any one to Edward's wedding," cryptically remarked Rogers.

Sign Marriage Contract.

The marriage will be at noon on Thursday of June 3, he revealed. Last night at the château a pre-nuptial contract was drawn up between Edward and Mrs. Warfield in accordance with French custom, and this morning the contract was deposited with a notary in Tours. The contract was described by Rogers as a standard act now general in France among sophisticated classes whereby the partners agree to hold their respective properties separately instead of in common, with the husband administering it under the French civil code.

A special clause added by Edward was that in case of the death of either party the succession of the estate would be subject to English law instead of French.

No marriage settlement on Mrs. Warfield was referred to in the contract, Rogers said, but it is understood a settlement was made last week.

DANCER AWARDED $1,750 FROM I. C. FOR RIDE INJURIES

Miss Stafae Bajorunas, 22 years old, 12001 South Halsted street, was awarded $1,750 from the Illinois Central railroad yesterday by a jury which returned its verdict in the court of Judge Roman E. Posanski. Miss Bajorunas, who dances under the name of Sally Warren, charges that she was injured when a train in which she was riding stopped abruptly last July 4. She asked for $50,000, claiming her injuries resulted from negligence by the defendant.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO MRS. SHANLEY; GETS $125,000

Mrs. Katherine Martin Shanley, 174 Hazel avenue, Highland Park, was granted an uncontested divorce yesterday from Robert Roosevelt Shanley, now of Sarasota, Fla., a distant relative of the President. Judge Ralph J. Dady of Lake County Circuit court in Waukegan heard the testimony in chambers.

Mrs. Shanley, who is 32 years old, said her husband deserted her a year ago after 10 years of married life. Mrs. Shanley received custody of their children, Robert M., 9 years old, and Lawrence R., 5 years old. It was indicated an out of court settlement provides her with nearly $125,000, including their home, given them by her father, James L. Martin, a real estate operator.

EDWARD FURIOUS OVER ROYAL SNUB TO FUTURE BRIDE

Abdication Pact Broken by Britain, Friends Aver.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 19.—Friends of the duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, today said that complications existing between the abdicated monarch and the British cabinet substantiated the belief that he had stepped down and out too soon last December. They insisted he had discarded the throne before he actually had clinched whatever deal he made.

Today's remark of Herman L. Rogers of New York, spokesman for the duke and Mrs. Wallis Warfield [Simpson], that "King George VI. has been advised not to send any one to Edward's wedding," together with the visit of Lieut. Dudley Forwood, the duke's equerry, to Buckingham palace last night, was seen by London friends of Edward as marking a complete rift between him and the government. King George's "adviser," it is assumed, is, as usual, his majesty's cabinet ministers.

Say Edward Is Furious.

The complications between the Château de Cande, near Monts, France, where Edward and Mrs. Warfield are staying, and Whitehall also led to whispers among the duke's friends that Edward is furious. They declared the agreement the ex-king thought he had made when he abdicated in order to marry Mrs. Warfield does not tally with the way things have turned out since.

They indicated their belief that conduct on both sides shows that Edward thinks those who opposed him in the cabinet and in high places have had their way and have not kept the agreement he thought he made at the time of his abdication.

It was recalled that only a bare thirteen days elapsed between the dramatic cabinet meeting on Nov. 28 and Edward's abdication and that Winston Churchill, his spokesman in parliament, repeatedly demanded assurances from Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin that the duke would not be rushed off the throne over the weekend.

Public Is Puzzled.

The revelations that no member of the royal family will go to Edward's and his fiancée's wedding appeared to have puzzled the public. So did the fact that newspapers favorable to the duke, such as Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard, whose managing editor, Mike Wardell, was a guest last week at the Château de Cande, printed in black type Rogers' remark that the reason no royal family members would be present was that some one told the king not to let them go.

It never has been made entirely clear to the public what financial settlements have been promised or effected with the duke of Windsor. No pension provision was made for Edward on the civil list or the royal pay roll. Evidently he expected something. The fact that neither the duke of Kent, Edward's youngest brother, nor the princess royal, countess of Harewood, his sister, will attend the wedding has enraged the former sovereign. It was recalled that two weeks before his brother's coronation there were reports the duke threatened to kick over the traces until given unofficial reassurances members of his family would attend his wedding.

Some Angry Over Date.

On the other hand the duke has made many other British loyalists angry by choosing June 3 as his wedding day, because it is the birth anniversary of his late father, King George V.

Taking a great hand in all public functions now is the archbishop of Canterbury, head of the Church of England, who is watching closely all public reactions. He addressed 5,000 children in Westminster abbey today and will attend the coronation naval review tomorrow.

Randolph Churchill, son of the Conservative leader, who got into Château de Cande on his father's name as a guest, but who is reporting the story of Edward and Mrs. Warfield for the Daily Mail, indicated "complications" in what he referred to as "informal negotiations between the château and Buckingham palace."

The News Review reported that flippant coronation stories by Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express have gravely offended Whitehall. It said that "government circles have noted with interest the fact that the duke's immediate precoronation visitors were those who were his biggest supporters during the abdication crisis."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 19.—Prince Charles, nephew of King Gustav and brother of the late Queen Astrid of the Belgians, and Countess Elsa von Rosen, daughter of the courtmaster of ceremonies, will be married soon. He is the third member of the royal family to renounce his rights and marry a woman not of royal blood. The other two are Prince Signard, son of the crown prince, and Prince Lennart, son of the king's second son. Countess Elsa is seven years older than the prince. The wedding ceremony is expected to take place in Belgium.

CLERKS DEFEND YOUNGHUSBAND IN $100,000 SUIT

Women employés of J. Leslie Younghusband, wealthy cosmetics manufacturer, testified for him yesterday in the $100,000 breach of promise suit brought by Miss Alyce Strand, a former employé. A jury in the court of Judge John J. Lupe is hearing the evidence.

Miss Elizabeth Hartung, 6330 Winthrop avenue, a shipping clerk, told of dining often at Younghusband's apartment on dates in 1933 when Miss Strand had said she was there during her alleged courtship. Consulting a diary which referred to her employer as "Y," Miss Hartung said Miss Strand was not present on these occasions.

Miss Florence Woefel, 180 East Delaware place, said she never saw Miss Strand and Younghusband talking together or ever heard any one refer to their engagement which Miss Strand says occurred in March, 1933.

300,000 CHEER AS ITALIAN ROYALTY VISITS HUNGARY

BUDAPEST, May 19.—(AP)—Three hundred thousand enthusiastic Hungarians acclaimed the visiting royal family of Italy today during a three mile procession from East station to the palace of the regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy. Fifty-four persons in the crowd received minor injuries.

Five horses drew the carriage of King Victor Emmanuel. The king, with the queen, Princess Maria and Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, are here on a visit of friendship.

There was a brilliant display of uniforms and Hungarian ceremonial costumes. At the palace, one hundred bright-eyed girls presented Queen Elena and the princess with sheaves of flowers. There will be four days of state dinners, ceremonies and hunting for the royal visitors.

WOMAN INJURED IN FALL; DIES.

Miss Olga Neswold, 72 years old, 2086 Milwaukee avenue, died yesterday in the County hospital of injuries incurred in a fall, Tuesday, in her home.

311 SHIPS PASS BY KING TODAY IN CORONATION FETE

Rulers Eat 'Baron of Beef' at London Luncheon.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PORTSMOUTH, England, May 19.—King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain and their daughter, Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive, arrived at this great British port late today to await tomorrow's coronation review of 311 fighting and commercial ships of eighteen nations at Spithead.

To the accompaniment of a 21 gun salute the king and queen and little princess boarded the royal yacht Victoria and Albert after a six mile drive through cheering throngs. The route was flanked by war veterans, territorials and marines. The duke and duchess of Kent, youngest brother and sister-in-law of the king, accompanied the rulers to Portsmouth from London. The royal visitors dined on the yacht. They will remain aboard until after the review.

Breaks Old Tradition.

The king has decided to abandon an old tradition and will not lead the fleet to sea for maneuvers on Friday. His father, the late King George V., tried to do so at the review in honor of his silver jubilee two years ago, but the ancient royal yacht was quickly outdistanced by the fleet, and the maneuvers were conducted at a speed too fast for his ship.

Fifteen special trains will carry more than 3,000 official guests to Portsmouth tomorrow. They will include Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands and her consort, Prince Bernhard; Crown Michael of Rumania, the archbishop of Canterbury, and many distinguished foreigners. They will follow the king's yacht during the review in five liners.

Before coming to Portsmouth the king and queen, with others of the royal family, attended a brilliant luncheon at the guildhall in the city of London. The luncheon is traditional after a coronation.

Eat from Gold Plates.

From the city's famous service of gold plate 1,400 guests, including princes, rajahs, diplomats, rich industrialists, and the archbishop of Canterbury, ate the city's traditional roast "baron of beef."

In the hall stood a dais with two gilt thrones in front of a white screen bearing the royal arms. On each side were chairs for the members of the royal family in attendance, in addition to the king and queen—Queen Mother Mary, the dukes and duchesses of Gloucester and Kent, the princess royal, countess of Harewood, her husband, the earl of Harewood, and Prince Arthur, duke of Connaught, the king's great-uncle.

Mayor Sits on Royal Dais.

For the first time in history the lord mayor and lady mayoress were invited to sit on the royal dais instead of heading the sherif's table. In accordance with tradition there were no speeches. Toasts were drunk to the king, the royal family, and the lord mayor.

Thousands who had stood in a chilly drizzle several hours were disappointed when the ceremonial part of the royal family's drive down the Strand and Fleet street to the city of London was canceled in order to save uniforms and personages from a drenching.

PAROLE BENEFITS CRIMINAL ONLY, SAYS CLABAUGH

Former Board Chairman Favors Loesch Plan.

Illinois' experiments with the humanitarian idea of the parole system have proved that parole benefits only the criminal and reacts against public welfare, according to views expressed yesterday by Hinton G. Clabaugh, who was chairman of the Illinois board of pardons and paroles for four years.

In advocating the Loesch plan of amending the law so trial judges may fix indeterminate sentences, Mr. Clabaugh, who is rated an expert on the subject by sociologists, scoffed at the claim of parole authorities that 87 per cent of paroled convicts make good.

Federal System Cited.

From his years of experience with the government service as chief of the department of justice investigators in Chicago and elsewhere, before and during the world war, he declared no fault had ever been found with the government's system of imposing definite sentences aimed to fit the crime. Since his retirement from the parole board in 1929 Mr. Clabaugh has returned to his work as an industrial engineer, but said he has kept in touch with crime developments.

"Close observation has convinced me that probation and parole are the two most valuable assets of the criminal, especially the gangster and professional," he said.

"Theoretically parole is a beautiful thing, with its sentimental appeal, but in recent years I have become convinced that in practical operation it has failed, and crime conditions throughout the land continue to grow worse.

Hits Lack of Fixed Sentences.

"In most of our serious felony cases under the present system the judge and jury in the state courts are without power to impose definite time sentences. Upon the Illinois parole board is placed the statutory responsibility for determining the amount of time to be served by 80 to 85 per cent of persons committed by the criminal courts of 102 counties, one of which alone has a population of 4,000,000.

"Regardless of integrity, qualifications, and diligence, no parole board, supervisor of paroles, or director of public welfare can quite take the place of judge or jury or reproduce trial court atmosphere.

"As it is now, the parole board has not the power to swear witnesses, issue subpenas, or compel the appearance of witnesses, so it cannot discharge its duty except by guesswork conclusions.

Pressure on Parole Board.

"Opponents of the law recommended by Frank J. Loesch, president of the crime commission, have said they wish to protect the judges from the pressure that would be brought on them to impose lenient sentences. Let no one imagine that pressure is not brought on parole board members.

"The pressure on the parole board is much heavier than would be brought on a judge, and the parole board, politically appointed, has not the means of protecting itself that a judge has. Then there is log-rolling by the parole board members who represent fraternal organizations, racial groups, or political factions.

"I believe the parole system is a failure and that sentences determined by the trial judge or jury, which would have to be served without hope of parole, would throw fear into the criminal underworld and do more good than laws, speeches and literature, and experiment."

AIDED BY DICKENS

LAURA HOVER LOOMIS.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 19.—(AP)—Charles Dickens' famous study in abnormality, "A Madman's Manuscript," became a pivotal point today in an annulment suit Mrs. Laura Hover Loomis of Los Angeles won from Homer Leslie Loomis Jr., New York.

She said Loomis made her read the story while she sat with him in a darkened room two days after their marriage.

"It was about a man who married a woman and then talked about different ways of murdering her until she went insane," Mrs. Loomis testified. "It was horrible."

She said she married Loomis in Westchester county, New York, at dawn, Dec. 12, 1935, when he was a senior at Princeton.

Mrs. Loomis said her husband made her read "A Madman's Manuscript" because "he said he wanted to watch the expression on my face. I told him the story was impossible."

Her husband replied, she said, "I don't think it is impossible."

DOWDELL TRIAL ARGUMENTS WILL BE MADE TODAY

CRIMINAL COURT.

James Raffone, Robert Giardini, and Walter Bartusiak, robbery, sentenced one year to life each in the penitentiary; Edgar Arnold, robbery, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Michael L. McKinley.

Frank Lawrence, larceny, sentenced one to ten years in the penitentiary by Judge Robert C. O'Connell.

Closing arguments will be heard today in the second trial of Maxwell Dowdell, 50 years old, park district foreman, on a charge of indecent liberties with a girl 10 years old in the Rogers Park district. Evidence was concluded yesterday before the jury in the Criminal court of Judge Peter H. Schwaba. For a second time Dowdell testified in his own defense and denied the charge. His first trial a month ago ended when the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

STATE QUIZZES SALOONISTS ON SLOT MACHINES

Sleuths Make a Surprise Visit to Joliet.

A dozen investigators for the state liquor commission appeared in Joliet yesterday and began questioning owners of restaurants and taverns about the 700 slot machines which for more than a year prior to last Saturday afternoon had been operated under protection of a temporary injunction issued by Judge Edwin L. Wilson of the Will county Circuit court.

Although none of the investigators would explain their sudden interest in the machines, it was understood that the liquor commission at Springfield had been asked by State Representative Joseph S. Perry [D., Wheaton] to make a survey of Joliet business places in which the machines were operated. Perry is pushing a resolution in the legislature to impeach Judge Wilson for enjoining Joliet officials from molesting the gambling devices.

Even Garage Is Barred.

The commission's representatives expressed disappointment when they learned that not a slot machine has been operated in Joliet since the owners quietly sent around five trucks last Saturday to pick up the gadgets. They were also disappointed to find that the Shepley garage, 110 South Des Plaines street, Joliet, headquarters for the owners, was locked and barred.

The machines are supposed to be owned by the Crown Supply company, unincorporated, of which one Walter McGowan is the sole proprietor. McGowan cannot be found and the offices of the company, somewhere on Jefferson street in Chicago, never have been located.

One of the facts causing the most speculation in Joliet is that the missing machines are still under the protection of Judge Wilson's injunction. On Monday the judge said that before the end of the week he would give a final ruling on the case, either dissolving the order or making the injunction permanent, but he did not do so yesterday.

They Play It Safe.

Among the theories advanced yesterday for the voluntary withdrawal of the machines was one that the owners expected the judge would dissolve the order which was entered in April, 1936. Therefore they collected the slot machines so they would be beyond the reach of law enforcing officials after the injunction is dissolved.

Judge Wilson heard extended arguments last November on whether the slot machines are gambling devices or are mere mint vending machines as represented by the owners. He has held his ruling on this under consideration for the past six months.

Sudden adjournment of the Illinois house of representatives at Springfield yesterday forced a postponement of consideration of the Perry resolution to impeach Judge Wilson.

A NEW LOVE POPS UP IN THE PAST OF A LOVING WIFE

Score: Two Husbands and One Fiance.

Mrs. Helen Watts Pool Betenas has a weakness for matrimony which caused a new series of confusing court complications yesterday.

Last March Mrs. Betenas, who is blonde, 26 years old, and lives at 6516 Kimbark avenue, was arrested for having two husbands, one nocturnal, and the other on a day shift.

It was brought out at that time that when her No. 1 husband, Michael Betenas, 52 years old, 5846 South La Salle street, a chef, disappeared for a few months, Mrs. Betenas, became lonely and, after an evening of drinking, married Grant C. Russell.

Divides Time Between Them.

Then Mike returned. So Helen divided her time, spending nights with Betenas, and days with Russell, a night worker, until the bigamy charge arose. This was eventually dropped and Mrs. Betenas won an annulment of her marriage to Russell. Then Mike sued for divorce.

"We got engaged two years ago," testified Hagen. "I gave her a diamond ring. Look—she's still got it."

"That's nothing," retorted Attorney Frohlich. "Helen gave him some tips on the horses. As a result of one tip on a daily double that paid $200 he won more than $1,000. In gratitude he gave Helen a ring.

Seeks an Early Trial.

"Incidentally, your honor, I would like to have an early trial before any more fiancés or husbands pop up. Besides, you can't tell about Helen and Mike. Look in the back room."

The judge and the two attorneys tiptoed to the anteroom.

There was Mike pleading with Helen for a kiss, urging her to forget their troubles, and come home. As photographers snapped a picture, it appeared that Helen was meeting Mike more than half way.

Judge McKinlay decided to let Helen file her cross bill. But under the circumstances he placed the case for a hearing early next week.

ALD. ARVEY SAYS HE MAY RESIGN FROM COUNCIL

Jacob M. Arvey said yesterday that for several weeks he had been considering resigning as alderman of the 24th ward, and that he would make up his mind definitly by the council meeting next Wednesday.

"I'm ready to let somebody else take up the burdens and troubles of an alderman's job," he said. "My law practice has suffered greatly because of my duties in the council and I have other private business matters that need attention."

Arvey said he would have resigned several weeks ago if there had been any prospect of a special election during which 24th ward voters might elect some one else to represent them. Arvey has been in ill health for some time.

LILACS AWAKEN CITY SHUT-INS TO SPRING BEAUTY

the guild's general division chairman, was in immediate charge of the gathering and distribution of the flowers. Theodore V. Purcell of Evanston is president of the guild.

Mrs. George Plamondon of Wheaton, a director of the guild, telephoned Mrs. McCormick that 115 cartons of flowers were sent from Wheaton. The Chicago, Aurora and Elgin trains were so filled with flowers at Wheaton that between the hours of 7 and 9:30 o'clock they could not take any more from other stations along the route. Even the smoking cars were stacked with flowers. When the supply of cartons ran out the railroad provided more from its warehouse.

Every suburban train coming into the city from the west and south had its load of flowers. Robert Herron, engineer of the C. & E. I., brought his cab full of blossoms.

School Pupils Do Part.

Thirty thousand pupils of elementary schools and pupils in eight high schools in the western suburbs aided in making this the most successful lilac day.

At Homewood the children doubled the gifts of last year, and they did so in a distinctive manner. Under the leadership of Father Stephen Sullivan of St. Joseph's school and Col. Paul E. Williams of the Chicago Military academy they organized an early morning parade through the town, headed by the academy band. Each child carried an armful of lilacs to the Illinois Central station.

The children also made the scene at Aurora an unusual and moving one. Between 800 and 900 school children, each bearing a bunch of flowers, formed a procession to the school, where they deposited their offerings, each bunch of flowers with a name on it. It took a truck to get the flowers to the railroad station.

Elgin Sends Collection.

At Elgin a generous collection of flowers was made by Mrs. E. E. Stewart, Mrs. Henry W. Batterman, and Mrs. Walter C. Taylor. Other Fox river towns will send in their flowers next week.

Many persons not members of garden clubs became lilac-conscious yesterday. Employés of several factories and offices brought arms full of lilacs to work and called up to know where to distribute them.

Among the senders of flowers whose names were on the boxes for distribution were the Wheaton Garden club, the Flossmoor Garden club, the David C. Cook Publishing company, Elgin; the Chicago Flower guild, Calamus lodge, St. Charles; Homewood Garden club, West Chicago Garden club, Columbine unit, Batavia Garden club; Downers Grove and Hinsdale Garden clubs, Morgan Park Women's club, Western Springs Garden club, Riverside Garden club, Mokena Garden club, Tinley Park Garden club, Aurora House and Garden club, and the Hazel Crest Garden club.

Following are accounts of the experiences of Tribune reporters who assisted in the distribution of the lilacs yesterday:

WELCOMED BY VETERANS

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

At Hines hospital the lilac blooms were distributed in every ward. War veterans, pale and thin, pushed their wheel chairs around eagerly to find glasses and vases to hold the bouquets. Some held them in their hands, and others laid them weakly on their counterpane, lifting them up occasionally to see them.

Walter Hoglund, 41 years old, 6059 Touhy avenue, who was in an automobile accident two months ago and lost both legs, piloted his wheelchair vigorously to assist in the arrangement. "Women aren't the only ones who like flowers," he said. "They sure do brighten up a place, don't they?"

Arthur Bach, 4517 Altgeld avenue, a wartime marine, stuck his bunch of lilacs into an empty window box. He poured several glasses of water in the dirt and looked at them proudly.

GIRLS DANCE AND SING

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

The company manners were on at the Home for Dependent Colored Children, 5627 South Michigan avenue, where 22 little boys and girls circled around the hub of fresh pastel lilacs. While an awed silence claimed her fellows, little Alice Jackson, who doesn't know where her mother is, and is doubtful about her own age, looked about her, twisted her ragged pink handkerchief and sang a little song of joy.

She moved back into line triumphantly and Teacora Merritt, 6 years old, came forth. Hers was a demonstration of dance steps to the tune of "Jingle Bells." While she shuffled her feet, and held an admonishing finger upward, her shining brown eyes rolled from the flowers to her audience.

"That's enough, Teacora," said Mrs. Lillian Smith, the superintendent. "Now tell them what you think of the flowers."

BACK TO CHILDHOOD DAYS

BY BETTY BROWNING.

In one of the women's wards at St. Luke's hospital a white haired old lady lifted her head from the pillow as a nurse brought in a great armload of the fragrant blossoms.

"Please, could I have just one?" she murmured, and then smiled. "They used to grow like this in our yard—there were six bushes in front of the house. I remember we used to send our lilacs to the hospital once in a while, too."

Near by the pretty girl who had been a dancer until an automobile struck her last January turned her eyes wistfully to the bouquet that was placed at her beside. "I hoped I'd be out and about by the time these were in bloom," she said.

Almost every one in the men's surgical ward at the County hospital turned toward the door as the pretty nurse brought in a box overflowing with purple and white blooms. The convalescing patients who were making bandages interrupted their work to help place the vases of flowers at the bedsides.

"Perhaps you don't care for any?" the nurse laughingly remarked to the young man who had been operated on three days before. He smiled back wanly, "O, yeah?"

GIFT FOR A GIVER

BY DOROTHY PESCHEL.

Alvin Lindeblad was watching for the truck that brought the lilacs to Augustana hospital. When he lived in La Grange and raised lilacs himself he used to cut his finest ones for the Share Your Lilacs days. It's almost a year now that he has been a patient in the hospital.

"I never knew before," he said, "just now much those lilacs could mean."

The little old lady with the broken hip in the Evangelical Deaconess hospital hoped no one had seen the tears that came to her eyes. She said to put her lilacs close to her bed, very close.

BLIND MEN CHEERED

BY ANGELA PETESCH.

The day's work was ended when the lilac truck reached the Chicago Lighthouse at 3323 West 22d street. But the thirty blind men who labor there had not gone home. They were waiting for the flowers they could not see, to enjoy their fragrance and take them home that their families might share the happiness the flowers brought.

Bouquets were delivered to Hull house just in time for the children's May festival. And Miss Thora Lund, director of the mothers' and children's department, said they would be kept fresh for the memorial service to be held tomorrow for the woman who funded Hull house—Jane Addams.

Sleep Sickness Victim's Mother Gets $709 Award

Mrs. Sadie Maguire Miley, 523 South Clarence avenue, Oak Park, received $709 yesterday which had been awarded to her daughter, Miss Patricia Maguire, 32 years old, who has been ill of sleeping sickness for more than five years. The money was awarded by the Illinois industrial commission for the death of Patricia's father, James Maguire, who was fatally injured while working for the city. In approving the award the Probate court appointed Mrs. Miley conservatrix for her daughter, directed her to keep the money for expenses in caring for the invalid, and then discharged her as conservatrix.

BIG STUDEBAKER PLANT HALTS AS THOUSANDS QUIT

Union Strikers Reported Seeking Closed Shop.

South Bend, Ind., May 19.—[Special.]—A strike of several thousand union workers of the Studebaker corporation today halted operations at the big automobile plant.

It was reported that although the presence of nonunion workers was given as the direct cause of the strike, the United Automobile Workers of America wanted a closed shop.

"Due to the large number of employés who have stopped work," stated a company notice on the factory bulletin board, "all departments will remain closed until further notice, except those departments now working."

Officials of the U. A. W. A. and company officers conferred this afternoon. No pickets had been posted at the plant.

Threaten Film Strike Spread.

Hollywood, Cal., May 19.—[Special.]—Threats to extend the month old strike of movie studio craftsmen to approximately forty independent movie producing companies within the next 24 hours were voiced today as the Federated Motion Picture Crafts adopted new strategy in its fight to obtain union recognition and a closed shop for its workers.

Car Workers Walk Out.

Johnstown, Pa., May 19.—[Special.]—Approximately 600 workers at the No. 2 assembly plant of the Franklin car shops of the Bethlehem Steel corporation went on strike today.

Employés were said to have called the walkout without approval of a union, contending they were making less money, because of fewer working hours, than they did before the company granted a wage increase in November.

Aluminum Workers on Strike.

Alcoa, Tenn., May 19.—[Special.]—About 3,000 employés of the Aluminum Company of America's plant here were on strike today to enforce a wage parity with the concern's workers at New Kensington, Pa.

Police "Interference" Denied.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 19.—[Special.]—Charges and denials that the Republic Steel corporation had sent its private police heads into nearby Aliquippa, Pa., "to interfere" in the largest labor board supervised election ever held were made tonight on the eve of the collective bargaining balloting at the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation's plants.

The election among Jones & Laughlin's 27,000 workers in Pittsburgh and Aliquippa is expected to determine whether organized steel's course should be peace or war in maneuvers that will affect 200,000 workers.

LUCILLE MEREDITH.

Mrs. Lucille Meredith, 23 years old, was being held last night at the Central police station after she was arrested in a loop hotel with Bernard Mooney, 49 years old, of Cleveland, who was unconscious in her room. Liquid in a vial in Mrs. Meredith's purse was turned over to the city board of health by the police for analysis to determine whether it consisted of knockout drops. Mooney, who was wearing a diamond ring and had $700 in his wallet, had not been robbed. He was revived by a hotel physician who said he appeared to be suffering from some narcotic.

AUDIENCE JOINS CAST ON STRIKE AT SHOW BY WPA

New York, May 20 [Thursday].—[Special.]—With more than one-third of an audience of 600 participating, the cast and production staf of a WPA dance recital began a sit-in strike at the Nora Bayes theater immediately after the final curtain last night as a protest against impending layoffs of workers from the relief rolls.

Early this morning the strikers and part of the audience were still in the theater, while 500 sympathizers marched four abreast with banners in a noisy picket line in front of the building, which is on the south side of 44th street, between Broadway and 8th avenue.

The pickets, from unions of teachers, writers, artists, and others, began arriving on foot and in taxicabs. By midnight there were 100 singing "Solidarity Forever" and distributing handbills to crowds leaving other theaters in the streets. An hour later the line had become so large that the police blocked off the entire street to all pedestrian and vehicular trafic. They did not interfere with the demonstrators.

FLINT INDUSTRIAL AREA PARALYZED BY POWER STRIKE

Workers Return Under Murphy Truce.

Saginaw, Mich., May 19.—[Special.]—Striking employés of the Consumers Power company returned to work under a truce tonight and restored electric service to Saginaw, Flint, Bay City, and scores of smaller communities in the populous Saginaw valley where industries were paralyzed for several hours.

The strikers, called out by the United Automobile Workers of America to enforce a minimum wage scale, agreed to return to work after the union and the company acceded to the emphatic request of Gov. Frank Murphy to enter into negotiations at his office in Lansing tomorrow.

The strike committee issued a statement to the effect that "whether or not this truce becomes permanent will be contingent upon results attained" in the meeting with the "mediating governor."

Even Trafic Lights Out.

The strike, which began about noon, quickly spread paralysis throughout the countryside. All of Saginaw, except hospitals and the police department, was without power. Trafic lights were out. The fire department operated its own generator. Grocers worried over foodstuffs spoiling and ice cream melted in uncooled electric refrigerators.

Both electricity and gas was off in Bay City. Eighty per cent of the mercantile and industrial establishments and 35 per cent of the homes were without current. One small hospital was without it for a short time.

Bay City housewives were in the midst of preparations for their evening meal when the gas was turned off. Bakeries prepared to send their dough out of town to have it baked, but the gas service was restored when the truce became effective.

Flint Factories Hard Hit.

Most of the thousands of industrial workers made idle because of the lack of power were in Flint. The pulling of switches deprived the Buick and Chevrolet Motor companies of power and the A. C. Spark Plug company plant was closed because of the uncertain supply. The three plants employ 38,000 persons.

Owosso was without power for an hour when electricity was obtained from another source.

The strikers held possession of the company's key plant at Zilwaukee, between Saginaw and Bay City, and pulled switches there that turned off electricity from trunk lines.

Sent Back by C. I. O.

The men were ordered back to work by Wyndham Mortimer, first vice president of the U. A. W. A., highest ranking officer of the union in the state, while Homer Martin, president, is on a speaking tour to the west coast.

The strike climaxed two weeks of negotiations with the company during which the men sought a minimum wage of $160 a month.

MARRIAGE TEST BILL IS PUSHED ALONG IN SENATE

Amendments to Be Taken Up Next Week.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—[Special.]—Progress was made in the state senate today toward enactment of the Saltiel bill to require persons intending marriage to undergo tests for venereal diseases. The measure was moved to second reading without objection and will be considered on the amending stage next week.

Senators Harold G. Ward and William J. Connors, Chicago Democrats, are expected to offer several amendments. Some of them will represent the suggestions of Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, the celebrated Chicago surgeon.

Ward and the house sponsor, Edward P. Saltiel [R.] represent the same Chicago district and both are equally anxious that the bill pass the senate, receive Gov. Horner's signature, and become a law on July 1.

Provisions of the Measure.

Tests to show the presence of or freedom from syphilis or gonorrhea would then be requisite to issuance of a marriage license and no license would be issued to an infected person. The examinations will be made within fifteen days prior to issuance of a license and the license would be void if not used within thirty days after issuance.

Senator Ward said that he intended to ask that the bill be amended to strike the provision limiting the fee of examining physician to $2.

The measure passed the house by a vote of 105 to 4 and was recommended to passage last night by the senate judiciary committee.

Statistics released by the state health department today showing the increase in the number of reported cases of syphilis and gonorrhea emphasized to the senators the beneficial claims made in behalf of the Saltiel bill.

Reports More Complete.

The health department announced that from Jan. 1, to the beginning of this week, physicians and city health departments reported the presence of 8,975 cases of syphilis in the state, as compared with 6,595 during the same period last year.

The gonorrhea reports also show a comparable increase in infections—6,090 this year, and 4,654 last year.

Doctors and health agencies reported 617 new cases of syphilis last Monday and 402 new cases of gonorrhea. On the same day last year, only 246 syphilis and 192 cases of gonorrhea were reported to the department.

Reported syphiltic infections have increased in Illinois from 11,115 in 1920 to 16,738 in 1936. On the other hand, gonorrhea declined. Immediately available satistics on this disease are for the ten year period ending last year. In 1926, reported cases totaled 20,286; by the end of 1936, the total was 12,949.

The Statistics Explained.

The current upward trend in case reports is attributed by the health department not so much to a spreading of the diseases as it is to the effects of the campaign being waged to stamp them out. More infected persons are seeking treatment as the campaign extends, the department believed; thus the reports mount.

Reporting of venereal cases by physicians is required by a rule of the state health department, which is backed by a statutory provision requiring local health authorities, police and municipal employés to enforce the rules and regulations that may be adopted by the state board of health.

Any person violating a department rule may be fined not to exceed $200, or sentenced to six months in jail, or both.

Persons Obliged to Give Facts.

The rule on reporting venereal cases stipulates that physicians, nurses, druggists, laboratory workers, dentists and all other persons having knowledge of an infected person shall report the case to local health authorities, or to the state's department.

When local health officers receive the report, they must forward it to Springfield. It is permissible to withhold the name of the infected person if the physician in the case assumes the responsibility that the infection will not be transmitted.

SHOT BY SUITOR

Mrs. Dorothy McBride, wounded in Calumet City tavern by Clayton McGrath, a rejected suitor.

Clayton McGrath, 29 years od, 636 Truman avenue, Hammond, told the state's attorney's police yesterday that he shot his sweetheart, Mrs. Dorothy McBride, 26, a hostess in the Doghouse tavern at 649 West State street, Calumet City, for threatening to leave him. The shooting occurred Tuesday night. Mrs. McBride was reported in a serious condition in St. Margaret hospital in Hammond. One of McGrath's bullets also slightly wounded Miss Betty Dunlop, 24, another hostess in the tavern.

BROCKELHURST AND GIRL, CUFFED, REACH ARKANSAS

Little Rock, Ark., May 19.—(AP)—Lester Brockelhurst, midwestern "crime tourist," and his girl companion, Bernice Felton, were brought back to Arkansas tonight to stand trial for the slaying of Victor Gates, Little Rock landowner.

Shackled wrist-to-wrist, the couple was taken under heavy guard to Lonoke, 24 miles east of here, where they will be held for arraignment Tuesday. It was near there Gates' body was found in a roadside ditch on May 6.

Brockelhurst betrayed no emotion. Hatless and with a two day growth of beard, he took in the crowd with quick glances from wide staring eyes. The girl, head half tucked, looked straight ahead. With her left hand she clutched the lapels of the gray cloth suit she wore.

ILLINOIS SENATE KILLS EFFORT TO CODDLE SEDITION

Spurns Softer Penalties for Concealing Treason.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—[Special.]—The Illinois state senate today decisively rejected the bill backed by the Chicago Civil Liberties committee to draw the teeth of the state statute against sedition. The vote was 8 to 28.

The bill, which was introduced by James O. Monroe [D., Collinsville], sought to remove from the law the present provision that a person convicted of misprision of treason must be sentenced to at least one year of imprisonment.

Misprision of treason consists in the knowledge and concealment of treason, without otherwise assenting to or participating in the crime.

More Pay Voted Again.

Another biennial effort to raise the biennial salaries of state senators and representatives from $3,500 to $5,000 was started on its way when the upper chamber passed the Benson-Fribley bill by a vote of 30 to 6 with two members voting present.

By a vote of 38 to 0 the senate passed bills amending the criminal code and the practice act requiring that libel suits against Illinois newspapers be brought in the county of publication. Similar bills are pending in the house on third reading but the senate bills, introduced by Senator Searcy, probably will be pressed in the lower chamber.

Amend Social Security Measure.

In the final hearing of a long series held both here and in Chicago, the senate committee on public welfare attached a dozen amendments to the bill designed to fit Illinois into the unemployment insurance provisions of the federal social security program and recommended it for passage.

With one exception the major amendments sought by the Illinois Manufacturers' association and similar organizations were adopted. The one rejected proposed that the administration of the bill be placed in the hands of a special committee to be created for that purpose. The bill places administration in the state department of labor.

HEIR TO FURNITURE FORTUNE DISMISSES SUIT AGAINST WIFE

C. Frank Williams, 37 years old, son of Oliver L. Williams, a wealthy South Carolina furniture manufacturer, yesterday dropped his divorce suit against Mrs. Thelma Williams of Memphis, Tenn. Mrs. Williams came here two weeks ago to defend the suit, but did not file a cross bill. She charged that neither she nor her husband was a Chicago resident, although she formerly lived in Winnetka. They were married in Wilmette on Dec. 19, 1934. Judge Joseph B. David previously had allowed her $25 a week temporary support. Attorney James C. Smith, counsel for Williams, said they were unable to agree on a property settlement.

2 Brothers and Woman Get U.S. Prison Terms for Theft

James Begaenis, 19 years old, was sentenced to four years in Leavenworth prison and his brother, George, 20, to two years by Judge Charles E. Woodward in federal court yesterday for the theft of $5,000 in merchandise from interstate truck shipments. Mrs. Josephine Triebetta, 44 years old, 936 South Marshfield avenue, mother of seven children, was sentenced to 18 months in the federal prison at Alderson, W. Va., for receiving the stolen property from the brothers, who were truck drivers.

Wife of Packing Concern Head Wins $75 a Week

Judge John C. Lewe yesterday awarded Mrs. Florence Krusbe, 8116 Champlain avenue, $75 a week from Charles Krusbe, president of the Ottawa Packing company, who failed to appear in court. Two weeks ago Mrs. Krusbe, represented by Attorney Norman Becker, won separate maintenance. The Krusbes were married in 1917 and separated June 17, 1931, when Mrs. Krusbe charged desertion. Twice Krusbe sought divorce but each time his suits were dismissed.

HORNER BEATEN IN FIGHT TO RULE DRIVER LICENSE

House Test Vote Favors Control by Hughes.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—[Special.] —Gov. Henry Horner lost today his fight for political advantage from the enactment of a drivers' license law, notwithstanding the activity of a lobby controling 8,000 jobs and $17,000,000 road construction this year.

Defeated, 72 to 58, in a test roll call in the house, the administration gaveled an adjournment that was virtually a bolt. Catcalls, boos, recriminations, and threats of reprisal were shouted at the departing heels of the Hornerites.

The governor's tactics blocked the drivers' bill from being advanced toward passage. It also scrapped the day's calendar of other important business. All those who voted contrary to Horner's ambitions can be "talked to" over the week-end. A motion for reconsideration is set for next Monday night.

Conference Report Submitted.

The drivers' bill was brought before the house by Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski [D., Chicago], majority floor leader. He reported the recommendations of a joint senate and house committee for five amendments to the Horner license proposal.

One of these amendments would place the administration of the drivers' license with the automobile licenses in the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes. Representative Thomas A. Bolger [D., McHenry], a Horner wheel horse, made a motion to table, that is, to kill this amendment.

As the bill now reads, the revenue and new pay rolls from the passage of a drivers' bill would be given to the highway department, which is under F. Lynden Smith, who was Horner's campaign manager.

Potential Political Coercion.

The fight was on this motion to table. Mr. Smith, after spending a morning calling representatives to the speaker's office for whispered conferences, was sitting on the rostrum—a reminder that the state's road building program can be shifted to award the faithful and to penalize the independents.

Chief Engineer Ernst Lieberman of the highway department, who hears road requests from the legislators, was circulating among them. Arthur O'Brien, the governor's secretary, stood beside the clerk's desk, keeping his own tally.

Representative Richard J. Lyons [R., Libertyville] moved to clear the floor of the lobbyists. He pointed out that Secretary Hughes' men were in the gallery where they belonged. His motion was ignored by Speaker Louie E. Lewis [D., Christopher], who was whispering with Mr. Smith.

A Nip and Tuck Contest.

The roll call proceeded with Horner and Hughes running neck and neck in the patronage race. The members were actuated by opinions on law enforcement, on patronage, and on the old feud between the governor and Mayor Kelly of Chicago.

After verification, the clerk announced the vote as 72 for Hughes administration [against tabling the amendment] and 58 for Horner administration [for tabling]. Representative Nicholas L. Hubbard [D., Mount Pulaski], a Horner mouthpiece, was ready on his feet with a motion for reconsideration [based on a change of his vote on the tabling motion] at the next legislative day, accompanied by a motion to adjourn for the week. The Hornerites were ready with a shout of yeas. Speaker Lewis' gavel drowned the yell of nays and he fled from his dais to his private office.

Adamowski Assails Tactics.

"The most unfair tactics I have ever witnessed in the legislature," said Mr. Adamowski. "If they want to fight like that I'll give it to them. The governor won't be able to move a single appropriation bill until the drivers' license bill is advanced."

"Such a patronage fight blocking passage of a life saving measure is positively ghoulish," said Representative Elmer J. Schnackenburg [R., Chicago], minority floor leader.

DRIVERS' LICENSE ROLL CALL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—[Special.] —Director F. Lynden Smith of the department of public works, former campaign manager for Gov. Henry Horner, was heard to remark today that he hoped to change some of the votes that defeated the governor's plan for administration of the drivers' license law.

F. Lynden Smith.

Smith is in charge of the number of appointments to highway department jobs and the number of miles of road to be built in the respective legislative districts.

As the motion was presented, the yeas favor administration of the drivers' license by the governor's highway department and the nays favor administration of the life saving measure by Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes.

PRETTY BLONDE'S THREE IDENTITIES BEWILDER POLICE

Boston, Mass., May 19.—(AP)—A pretty blonde girl, arrested in a Boston hotel, had police headquarters bewildered tonight after giving detectives here three different names.

Admittedly in the dark as to her true identification, police finally booked her under the last name she gave, that of Virginia Maher, 21 years old, of New York. She was held as a suspicious person.

Taken to police headquarters, the girl first said she was Ruth Baumgardner, who vanished from Ohio Wesleyan university. But Inspector W. J. Crowley said she did not possess dental fillings described on the telephone by a Mrs. Ora Hardwick, who he said is a sister of Miss Baumgardner.

Then, while they were checking her first story, the girl said she was not Ruth Baumgardner and gave the name of Catherine Gartner of Cleveland, O. Still later she changed her story again to say her name is Virginia Maher.

When the girl was taken into custody in her hotel, after hotel authorities reported she was acting strangely, police said she offered a card which read "Dr. V. K. Maher, M. D. Psych."

DRAFT PROGRAM FOR STATE-WIDE FIGHT ON WEEDS

Early Start on Campaign in Illinois Assured.

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—[Special.]—Definite steps were taken here today to make an early start in the state-wide weed control campaign recently authorized by the general assembly. Practical plans for eradication of ragweed, Canada thistle, bindweed, sow thistle, and other undesirable plants were discussed by agronomists, botanists, seed experts, and farm organization representatives in a meeting called by J. H. Lloyd, director of agriculture, head of the state's weed control program.

Mr. Lloyd announced at the close of the meeting that within a few days he would appoint members of the state weed control council, suggested at today's conference. He then will work with the council members in the development of a clean up plan that will fit into good farming practices in Illinois.

Emphasize Health Angle.

Good health and community pride will be other angles emphasized in the development of a practical way to get rid of weeds.

L. A. Moore, who is in immediate charge of the program, said that state officials and the college of agriculture would not wait for the final adoption of a weed control plan but would start next week with demonstration meetings in northern Illinois.

Three meetings have been scheduled for next week. The first will be held in the farm bureau office in Kankakee on Wednesday, May 26; the second in the Boone county courthouse at Belvidere on Thursday, May 27, and the third in the farm bureau building at Ottawa on Friday, May 28. In each place the morning meetings will begin at 10 o'clock.

Demonstrations Planned.

Weed eradication methods will be demonstrated on farms near these towns in the afternoons. Mr. Hackleman will emphasize methods of getting rid of bindweed and Canada thistle.

Those attending today's meeting in Mr. Lloyd's office were: L. A. Moore, bureau of plant industry; J. C. Spitler, state leader of farm advisers, Urbana; J. C. Hackleman, and John J. Peiper, agronomy department, University of Illinois, Urbana; L. R. Tehon, botanist, state natural history survey, Urbana; K. T. Smith, Illinois Agricultural association, Greenfield; Eugene Eckert, state Grange, Mascoutah; Paul Funk, state seed council, Bloomington.

BROKER IN COURT

Mrs. Forrest G. Shaw. Forrest G. Shaw.

Charged with embezzling $21,000 in securities from a woman customer, Forrest G. Shaw, salesman for an investment brokerage company, asserted yesterday that the securities were given him as a gift for services. The embezzlement warant was issued yesterday in the Felony court and Shaw was released on $7,500 bond after the hearing was set for June 3.

The complainant in the case is Miss Mayme McKenney, an invalid spinster, 74 years old, who lives at 1055 Sheridan road. She charged that after she gave Shaw control of securities valued at $250,000 he switched her holdings to stocks and bonds of a lesser value and a speculative nature, resulting in a loss of $94,000.

Shaw, who lives with his wife, Pearl, at 1500 Lunt avenue, is employed by the brokerage firm of Matthews, Lynch & Co., 120 South La Salle street. Sacretary of State Edward J. Hughes yesterday issued a rule on the company to show cause why its brokerage license should not be revoked. Fred Matthews, a member of the firm, was questioned by prosecutors on the firm's affairs last night.

UNIVERSITY ASKS 15 MILLIONS FOR NEXT TWO YEARS

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—(AP)—The University of Illinois asked today for appropriations $804,568 in excess of Gov. Horner's revised budget, as conflicting bills were introduced in the house in behalf of the university trustees and the administration.

The university's bill, sponsored by the three representatives from the Champaign-Urbana district, would appropriate a total of $15,149,632 for the next biennium, including $350,000 already voted for equipping a medical and dental building on the Chicago campus.

The university trustees, after pressure from the administration, cut their original requests by $1,250,000, but the governor's revised budget made another slash of approximately $800,000. As submitted to the legislature, the budget is some $3,500,000 out of balance, on the basis of today's requests.

GIRL BLAMES BOY IN COURT VERSION OF AX SLAYING

Detectives Testify to Her Charge When Seized.

Jersey City, N. J., May 19.—(AP)—Detectives testified today that Gladys MacKnight, 17, pointed at her red haired sweetheart and said "he did it" when they were arrested after the hatchet slaying of the girl's mother.

With this testimony the state rested its case against the slim young high school graduate and Donald Wightman, 18, a former choir singer.

There was a possibility that Gladys and Donald, who were expected to blame each other for the slaying, would take the witness stand tomorrow in their own defense. The state has asked the death penalty.

Chum Tells of Weeping.

In rapid sequence, 14 witnesses took the stand today. One was Gladys' high school chum, dark haired Doris French, 18, who with other members of her family told how the weeping Gladys and Donald came to their home immediately after they are alleged to have hacked Mrs. Helen MacKnight to death with a hatchet.

"She buried her face in her hands," Doris said, "and was crying very hard. I don't remember ever having seen her cry before."

The state charges the slaying resulted from a quarrel between Gladys and her mother because the latter "wouldn't hurry" the evening meal so the young couple could play tennis.

Officers Tell of Arrest.

Sergt. Joseph Maglone and Detectives John Higgins and Oscar Treger, who were in the squad car that stopped the pair in Jersey City in their flight on the night of the slaying, testified Gladys blamed Donald when they asked "Who did it?"

"He did it," they quoted her as replying. "He did it with an ax."

Detective Treger said he heard Wightman say: "Yes, I did it—I hit her on the head with an ax; she didn't like me."

Statements which police said the couple made later and which were admitted in evidence yesterday quoted them as saying Donald held Mrs. MacKnight's arms while Gladys hit her with the hatchet.

HUNT ESCAPED WOMAN PRISONER.

Chicago police were notified yesterday to watch for Henrietta Jamison, 28 years old, formerly of Chicago, who escaped early Tuesday from the women's reformatory at Dwight. She was serving a larceny sentence and was due to be released in September.

Stray Cat Bites Boy, 7; Examine It for Rabies

Edmund Gardner, 3 years old, 6401 South Carpenter street, was bitten on his left arm yesterday by a stray cat which crept into his home. Police captured the cat, which will be examined for rabies.

FAIR FUND VETO BRINGS THREATS OF RELIEF CUTS

Roosevelt Rebuke Vexes House Leaders.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 19.—[Special.]—A veto message from President Roosevelt, nullifying a $5,000,000 appropriation, provoked a noisy combat in the house today between the spending and saving groups and led to threats from Democratic leaders that Mr. Roosevelt's billion and a half dollar relief bill may undergo a pruning tomorrow.

The same leaders were further enraged by a phrase in the President's message in which he rebuked congress for "an unconstitutional invasion of the province of the executive" in setting up a commission to direct the expenditure of the $5,000,000. The fund was to be spent by the New York World's Fair commission.

A peal of laughter from the Republican minority was followed by angry whistles and boos from the Democrats when the clerk read this portion of the message. There followed immediately bold expressions of resentment from two of the Democratic leaders, both chairmen of important committees.

Believes in Slashing.

Moving that the message be referred to his committee on foreign affairs for future action, Chairman Sam D. McReynolds [D., Tenn.], his face pink with anger, shouted to his colleagues:

"I am thoroughly in accord with the President's intention of economy and I think the house will do something about that when the relief bill comes in here tomorrow. I am glad to say that I believe in cutting down, not only on this, but on other and much larger amounts."

McReynolds added that he believed the house would "let the world know that we are not assuming executive power but are doing what we think best for the country."

Immediately, Chairman John J. O'Connor [D., N. Y.] of the rules committee, who has had difficulty throughout this session in suppressing his dislike of White House domination, jumped to his feet.

Calls Suggestion "Novel."

"The suggestion in the President's veto message that the make-up of this commission is an infringement by the legislative branch of the government upon the prerogatives of the executive is rather novel—in these days," he remarked.

"This is a very courageous act on the part of the President."

Democrats were popping up all over the chamber with demands to be heard, but Speaker Bankhead, fearful of more insubordinate comments, quickly called for the next number on the legislative program.

The 45 New York representatives were disgruntled to a man.

"Fifteen hundred millions asked for relief one day and 'economy' in a 5 million bill the next," commented one, bitterly.

[The government appropriated a total of $2,150,000 for Chicago's Century of Progress.]

House in Peevish Humor.

The house, increasingly rebellious these last few weeks, conducted business throughout the day in a most unruly mood.

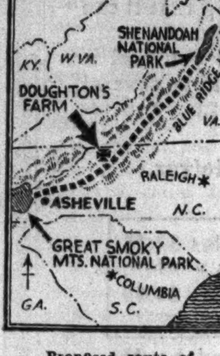
Two more Democratic leaders found themselves staging a noisy quarrel over a $1,250,000 appropriation for a new naval air base on the Columbia river in Oregon. Chairman William B. Umstead, of the naval appropriations subcommittee [D., N. C.], led the economy bloc in an attack upon the appropriation which was sponsored by Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the naval affairs committee.

"The President wants economy; let's start here," argued Umstead. After the house had enjoyed two hours of acrimonious debate, the appropriation was defeated, 101 to 68.

The 115 million dollar appropriation for the department of the interior was next subjected to the onslaughts of the advocates of economy. Here, however, they ran into the opposition of Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] of the ways and means committee.

$3,000,000 for Highway.

The bill provided an appropriation of $3,000,000 for the construction of a national highway through the Blue Ridge mountains in Virginia and North Carolina. Mr. Doughton, affectionately known as "Papa Doughton," took the floor to demand an increase to $5,000,000. With this increase the highway would be extended to run close to a large farm which Papa Doughton owns in North Carolina.



Proposed route of Doughton's highway.

"Increase it?" exclaimed Representative John Taber [R., N. Y.]. "Let's economize and knock out the entire amount."

But Doughton had a crushing reply.

"I have it on the highest possible authority that the President favors this increase," he declared.

Since the "highest possible authority" means, in Washington, the President himself, the economy group, who had been citing the President as their authority for wishing decreased expenditures, were baffled. Papa Doughton won his $2,000,000 increase by a vote of 141 to 59.

Sentimental Divorcees

Mrs. Letta M. Walsh and her daughter, Mrs. Velma Bright.

Mrs. Letta M. Walsh, 651 Roscoe street, and her daughter, Mrs. Velma Bright, were granted uncontested divorces yesterday by Judge Donald S. McKinlay. Mrs. Walsh, who is 48 years old, accused her husband, Arthur, of cruelty and drunkeness. Her daughter, who is 28, charged Ted R. Bright with desertion. Attorneys Paul Pomeroy, for the mother, and E. E. Bruckner, for the daughter, told the court their clients wished to have their divorces heard on the same day for sentimental reasons.

Conviction of Attorney in Will Forgery Upheld

The Illinois Appellate court yesterday affirmed the conviction of Attorney Julius P. Waitches, who was sentenced to 1 to 5 years in prison on Dec. 31, 1935, for conspiracy to forge a will dividing the $140,000 estate of James Thomas Kelly, flophouse miser.

R. O. T. C. AWARDS WON BY ST. MEL'S AND LAKE VIEW

R. O. T. C. units at the Lake View and St. Mel's High schools were announced yesterday as the winners of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S annual award of two sets of colors for the most outstanding work during the last school year. The Lake View unit was named winner among schools where the R. O. T. C. training has been given for many years, St. Mel's among schools where it has been given more recently.

Lieut. Col. George R. Hicks, 6th Infantry, Jefferson Barracks, Mo., the federal inspecting officer, disclosed the winners in a report to Col. William F. Morrison, head of the R. O. T. C. in the public schools. Lieut. Col. Hicks had inspected the units in 27 public high schools and one parochial school. Last year's winners were Tilden and Von Steuben.

Make Presentation at Review.

The standards, national and school colors, will be presented to the victorious units for THE TRIBUNE tomorrow afternoon in Soldiers' field by Brig. Gen. Dana T. Merrill, commandant at Fort Sheridan, at the second all-Chicago R. O. T. C. review. More than 100,000 are expected to attend the review of 8,000 marching, uniformed cadets, which begins at 2 o'clock.

The victorious Lake View regiment of 345 cadets is instructed by Staf Sergeant A. D. Lee, who has been stationed there for 17 years. It is one of the oldest units in the city.

"We always have treated the R. O. T. C. as an important part of the curriculum," Olice Winter, Lake View principal, said. "I am mighty proud of these lads and congratulate Sergt. Lee and his cadets."

Compulsory at St. Mel's.

The R. O. T. C. training is given to 650 students at St. Mel's, where it is compulsory. The unit is instructed by Capt. George W. Busbey, a West Point graduate, assisted by Staf Sergeant Edmund T. McCann.

"It is a decided pleasure to hear of this honor coming to our school," said Brother James, director at St. Mel's. "It will be an inspiration to our student body for harder work in the future."

BEG YOUR PARDON

An item on the death of Mrs. Mary Carlson Niestadt said interment would be in Graceland cemetery. It will be in Rosehill cemetery tomorrow.

The headline of an item yesterday said that Robert J. Fleming was killed by a fall. Mr. Fleming was seriously injured.

Richman Brothers Clothes . . .

Every New Style in Business and Sport Suits $24.50

The Clothes That Give You Most for Your Money

• There never was a time when true value was as much in demand by clothes buyers as it is today. And now, as always, the best possible investment for the man who wants true value is Richman Brothers Clothes.

Why? Because Richman Brothers Clothes are low in price and high in sound merit. They are made of fine, full-bodied, long-wearing woolens and worsteds. They are carefully, expertly tailored. They are correctly styled. They are truthfully advertised. They are perfectly fitted and honestly sold.

Such materials and workmanship cost more, but Richman customers expect their clothes to wear well and look well, and we can't afford to disappoint them.

We spare no expense on fabrics, designing, styling or making our clothes. We do save by buying and selling for cash, by specializing and by selling direct from our factory to you, without middleman's profit. These are the savings that make it possible for you to buy expensive clothes at an inexpensive price.

Yes, it's good sense, and good value, too

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

THE OBSCURITY OF THE OBVIOUS

By CALEB

AN important radio studio some time ago was attempting desperately to find a way of reproducing over the radio the sound of water being poured into a glass.

You know, of course, that most of the sounds you hear over the radio are produced artificially. A clever fellow with some crisp paper, a sheet of cellophane, a penny whistle, a couple of clothes pins, some sandpaper, and a comb or doorknob, can imitate almost anything from a forest fire to a man eating soup.

The radio people tried unsuccessfully perhaps fifty different methods of imitating a water-into-a-glass sound. At last a layman said, "Have you tried actually pouring water into a glass?"

The technicians, with some embarrassment, admitted they had not. It worked! And a baffling problem was solved.

Most of us become so accustomed to certain routines and modes of living and acting that what should be obvious to us is obscure. We fail to see the forest for the trees.

A woman told us of having thrown away the pieces of an expensive and beautiful vase she had purchased here some years ago. It had been broken "into a thousand pieces." Shortly after throwing it away she learned that we could have outdone "all the king's horses and all the king's men," for we could have put it together again.

Many Chicagoans have learned to turn to us with almost any kind of problem in connection with their apparel, their home furnishings, or their objets d'art. They know we have a remarkably varied and well-rounded group of services, without necessarily knowing what they are. Yet, some people trade here every day, unaware of the obvious way of relieving themselves of annoying responsibilities or worries.

A man recently said to his friends at an evening party, "Our family has found that no matter what we want, the most direct way to get it is to go to Field's. If we want our house painted, if we want our furniture reupholstered, our broken floor lamp repaired, a club trophy designed, a beautiful anniversary ring created, or a good mixture of grass seed, we go to Field's!"

That, we submit, is the proper spirit.

RATE ROBINSON LIKELY CHOICE FOR HIGH COURT

Reveal Pledge Given Him by Roosevelt.

with his colleagues, sought to clear up today. He was assured by representatives of all factions that the matter would not be raised if the question of his confirmation came before the senate. Such an eminent constitutional authority as Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] held that there was no question as to the eligibility of a senator who voted for the retirement bill.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings at his press conference today declined to express an opinion as to the eligibility of a senator for the Supreme court vacancy. Cummings told reporters that they can "assume that no reactionary judges will be appointed."

Against these possible considerations which might prevent Robinson's appointment are others working in its favor. From the standpoint of faithful service to the President, no man is more deserving than Senator Robinson, who has had to eat his words and swallow his pride on more than one occasion. The 1935 "soak the rich" tax bill and the Supreme court packing bill, as opposed to a constitutional amendment, are two cases in point.

Confirmation Held Certain.

Senator Robinson, also, would be confirmed without a murmur, as a matter of senatorial courtesy, whereas, any nominee coming from outside the senate would be dissected and subjected to a scrutiny more intense than Chief Justice Hughes received in 1930. The court packing foes are just waiting to see what manner of men the President wants to appoint, and any nominee coming from the outside world would become a laboratory guinea pig in the senate.

The opponents of the court packing bill are eager to see Senator Robinson nominated, because it would demolish the President's argument about infusing "new blood" into the court. He will be 65 years of age next August and, under the President's theory of retirement, he would be eligible for only five years of service. On the other hand, he could not retire at 70, because he would lack the required ten years of service.

The President, at his press conference yesterday, may have anticipated Robinson's appointment when he reminded newspaper men that he sometimes deviated from his announced rule of appointing no judges over 60 years of age.

Two Eliminate Themselves.

With the boom for Senator Robinson's elevation to the Supreme bench at full tide, two other frequently mentioned possibilities eliminated themselves today. These were Senator Robert F. Wagner [D., N. Y.] and Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, another New Yorker.

Besides saying that he was not a candidate for the Supreme bench, Senator Wagner pointed out that the President could hardly appoint another New Yorker when that state already has three men on the court—Chief Justice Hughes, and Justices Stone and Cardozo.

Mr. Jackson, who appeared before the judiciary committee to urge passage of the court packing bill, declared at his Jamestown, N. Y., home today:

"I do not wish to have my name considered. I am not a candidate for the appointment and would not accept the post."

Diplomats Moved

Sumner Welles, assistant secretary of state, has been nominated by President Roosevelt for the post of undersecretary of state. With him is his wife.

Alvin M. Owsley (left), minister to the Irish Free State, was nominated for similar post in Denmark, and John Cudahy (right) to replace him at Dublin.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 19.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today shook up the country's diplomatic service, shifting two high ranking state department officials and naming three ministers.

Assistant Secretary of State Sumner Welles was nominated for the post of undersecretary of state.

Assistant Secretary R. Walton Moore, who vied with Welles for the post of undersecretary, was nominated by way of consolation for the newly created office of counsellor of the department of state.

Mr. Roosevelt nominated John Cudahy of Wisconsin, former ambassador to Poland, to be minister to the Irish Free State. Alvin Mansfield Owsley of Texas, present minister at Dublin, was nominated for the post vacated at Denmark by Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde following her marriage to a Danish captain. Edwin L. Neville of Ohio was nominated for the ministry at Siam.

Fined $100 for Practicing Medicine Without License

Judge Albert E. Isley of Newton, sitting in the County court here, yesterday fined Michael Koltunski, 64 years old, 1032 North Ashland avenue, $100 for practicing medicine without a license and placed him on six months' probation. Trial of Erick Frankowski, 4010 Madison street, on similar charges, was continued until June 7. Assistant State's Attorney Jacob Sheer said that Philip Smith, 52 years old, 5309 Berenice avenue, died on May 2 after an operation performed by Frankowski.

GERMANS VEXED BY SNOOPERS AND BUROCRAT ARMY

pressed for information about her employer and the office boy who is taken in hand by dectectives seeking to know everything that happens in his office at first may be indignant. Then they start feeling important. The result is that they usually become thorough snoopers. Many have said:

"It is not what these employés of ours learn, but what they misunderstand and cook up when trying to make themselves interesting that is terrifying. It has meant prison terms and defamation to thousands."

Germans are well disciplined to keep silent. Only very little transpires about efforts to strike and obtain sufficient pay to keep pace with the increased cost of living.

Trouble Makers Arersted.

That the workers occasionally rise and protest is a definitly established fact. Several methods are adopted to calm the workers. "Trouble makers" are arrested and disappear. Those left behind confer with the factory council or the Nazi council of their organization. The employer is summoned and warned he must take better care of his workers.

The workers may not get anything out of this except a certain feeling of elation that their employer was called on the carpet. If the employer happens to be unpopular with party authorities, Labor Front men occasionally compel him to pay overtime and thus increase the income of the workers. Sometimes the workers are taken on a "Strength Through Joy" junket and are pacified for a little while.

Radical Nazi groups are trying to make use of the difficult economic position of Nazi Germany to accelerate the gradual leveling of all incomes. The workers realize that and it helps keep a number of them more quiet than they would be without the secret hope of nationalization of all plants.

Employers realize that all their actions are being watched, with the radicals just waiting for an opportunity to "show them up as lacking Nazi Weltanschauung [world outlook]. The systematic snooping by servants, employés, janitors, house wardens, mailmen, and telephone guards helps in these drives.

These few points show that many points of friction exist. This friction probably would be reduced if the perfectly drilled nation were facing a big national issue.

Countries bordering on Germany, where, due to democratic constitutions, quarrels and differences of the citizens are aired openly, wonder whether this general concentration of national strength may not be used for expansion purposes.

"Thomas Re-grew My Hair"

Says Mr. Donald McClelland

• • These photographs show three views of Mr. McClelland before he started Thomas treatment, and three views taken 5½ months later. Note that all of the bald spots have been completely filled in with new, vigorous, growing hair. Mr. McClelland's baldness was of the type known as "alopecia areata".

All of the 14 local causes of baldness (responsible for almost 90% of all baldness) respond to the Thomas method of treatment. Dandruff disappears; abnormal hair-fall stops; and hair growth is promoted on the thin and bald spots. Guess work is banished when you place your scalp problem in the hands of a Thomas expert. He first determines the exact cause of your hair loss, and then adapts the reliable, proved Thomas treatment to overcome that cause. Your scalp is soon restored to a normal healthy condition, conducive to the natural growth of hair.

More than 1600 other persons are benefiting each day from Thomas treatment. You, too, can have a good head of hair. No charge is ever made for consultation or a complete scalp examination (always in private). Call today and learn the truth about your hair and scalp.

Sound taps for moths!

FIELD'S STORAGE HAS PUT GUARDITE IN!

We smile, ghoulishly, when they curl up their toes and die. And die they do, in the Guardite process.

This scientific and costly Guardite equipment is in addition to our Frigid Cold Storage. Available only at Field's in Chicago, it gives complete safety for your fur coats, cloth coats or coats with fur trim. No form of insect life can survive the 90-minute Guardite treatment we give every coat we store.

Government research shows that cold is not enough. Moths may become dormant, to wake very hungry later. We use cold storage as an aftermath for Guardite, because cold is good for fur's life and lustre.

Guardite is extra service without extra charge. Storage rates remain the same—3% for the first $400 valuation, 2% above $400. Call State 1000 for Fur Storage, or leave your order in the Fur Salon on the Sixth Floor.

CARDINAL BASES NAZI ATTACK ON DIRECT EVIDENCE

Reveal Stand Not Inspired by Vatican.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Cardinal Mundelein's attack on Nazi Germany delivered here Tuesday in a diocesan address at Quigley seminary was prompted by independent reports of indignities suffered by German Catholics. This was learned from sources close to the chancery of the archdiocese yesterday, upholding reports from Rome that the cardinal was not inspired by the Vatican in making the attack.

One of these independent sources cited was the Franciscan sisters at St. Mary of the Lake seminary, 95 per cent of whom were described as being of German birth or parentage. Cardinal Mundelein is also of German descent. In addition to their religious duties, these Franciscan sisters prepare and serve meals to seminarians and faculty and also care for Cardinal Mundelein's seminary residence where he spends a considerable part of his time.

Evidence Piles Up.

It was pointed out that in many instances these sisters have close relatives who are members of the order in Germany and who now are in prison or detention camps. Through these intimate contacts with affairs in Germany, together with all other reliable channels of information, a mass of evidence had been built up which the cardinal, it was said, could no longer disregard. Thus, it was explained, any prompting by the Vatican was entirely unnecessary.

Cardinal Mundelein's attack has already elicited widespread approval of both Jew and Protestant. Dr. George Fox of South Shore temple, who is president of the Chicago Rabbinical association, praised the cardinal's indictment of Nazi Germany.

All Religious Forces Periled.

"Every statement Cardinal Mundelein made was perfectly justified," said Dr. Fox. "He was right in saying that this thing in Germany must be stopped right now. I hope that all religious forces, both Christian and Jewish, will unite in upholding Cardinal Mundelein's hand because all religious forces are in imminent danger."

Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago said last night that Cardinal Mundelein voiced the protest of all enlightened religion against "the present recrudescence of Cæsarism" in Nazi Germany. Religious freedom, tolerance, and freedom of conscience, he said, have been won at great cost and all enlightened religion must stand together to preserve those ideals.

Finds Her "Baby"

Mrs. Anna Corbett, age 68, after reunion with her daughter, now Mrs. Rachel McKibbon, in Redwood City, Cal. They had been separated for 30 years. [Acme Photo.]

Redwood City, Cal., May 19.—[Special.]—Mrs. Anna Corbett, 68 years old, has found her daughter after a separation of thirty years. The girl's parents were divorced in Kansas City in 1907. The mother was awarded custody of the child, but the father took the girl to England, later returning to Canada.

The girl married in Rochester, N. Y. The mother kept up the search through the years, enlisting the aid of police departments in many cities.

While living in Los Angeles she learned that her daughter was married and living in San Francisco. Police there traced the daughter to Redwood City. The daughter, now Mrs. Rachel McKibbon, mother of four, wired for the mother she had not seen since she was 6 years old.

STRIP BROKER'S HOME OF $15,000 IN FURNISHINGS

A thorough gang of burglars ransacked the home of Daniel Swanson, 6234 North Francisco avenue, last night, carrying away loot valued at more than $15,000. The thieves took three oriental rugs, one worth $1,700; jewelry valued at $1,750, a $1,200 mink coat, valuable lamps, paintings, statuary, and nearly everything movable. Even blankets and spreads were stripped from the beds.

Every room in the seven room apartment was turned upside down, every desk and bureau drawer was searched. Piles of furnishings were left on the floor, apparently ready to be hauled away on a second trip. Swanson, an insurance broker and real estate dealer, and his wife discovered their loss when they returned home at 10 p. m. from a visit to a hospital where their two children are patients.

The burglars gained entrance by forcing open a rear transom. Although the amount of the loot indicated they probably used a truck, neighbors said they had seen nothing unusual during the evening.

NAZIS ANGERED BY MUNDELEIN'S BLOW AT HITLER

Demand Vatican Rebuke Chicago Prelate.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 19.—The entire German press today opened its guns on Cardinal Mundelein, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, for what the official Nazi news agency termed his "insults to the German nation and the Fuehrer [Adolf Hitler]."

The Nazis' ire was aroused by the cardinal's speech yesterday to more than 500 prelates and priests at the quarterly diocesan conference held at the Quigley Preparatory seminary in Chicago in which he attacked Nazi propaganda, the German government, and its highest leaders. The cardinal said "the fight is to take the children away from us," by proceeding against the church schools and Catholic Youth organization.

Goebbels' Paper Replies.

The newspaper Der Angriff, personal organ of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi minister of propaganda, charged the cardinal "spoke in a tone heretofore reserved for the lowest brand of agitators."

In his speech the cardinal referred to the "propaganda against the Catholic church the German government is giving out through its crooked minister of propaganda"; referred to Hitler as "an Austrian paperhanger, and a poor one at that, I am told," and to Hitler's lieutenant, Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, as a dictator over people's lives.

"The cardinal," Der Angriff said, "insulted not only the head of the German state and its ministers but the entire German nation. We make the Catholic church responsible if the speech evokes a new wave of anti-German agitation, and we ask the Vatican if it intends to tolerate this speech without protest."

Complain of Agitation.

The report of the official news agency was reprinted in the bulk of the German press with such headlines and commentaries as: "Unparalleled Agitation by Chicago Bishop," "Cardinal Uses Street Jargon," "Malicious, Unbridled Speech of High Church Dignitary."

The Berliner Nachtausgabe and the Berliner Tageblatt demanded that the Vatican publicly rebuke Cardinal Mundelein. The Nachtausgabe depicted the cardinal as a "victim of an i-Fascist Jewish propaganda."

Referring to the cardinal's attack on "propaganda stories of wholesale immorality in German religious institutions," the official news agency alleged that "Mundelein defended the crimes of Catholic priests and laymen" on trial in German courts and called on Catholic bishops in Germany to make a reply.

The agency cited a statement made in court by the Catholic bishop, Bornewasser of Trier, in which he admitted that he excluded thirty brothers from the diocese for immorality and that he obtained the permission of Pope Pius XI. to act against immoral elements in his different religious organizations.

Committee Investigating.

There is already a committee of the Catholic church which is investigating Nazi charges of immorality in monasteries and other Catholic centers. The committee includes Count Conrad von Preysing-Lichtenegg-Moos, Catholic bishop of Berlin; the prelate, Heinrich Wienkens, newly appointed bishop of Meiseen, and Bishop Count Galen of Muenster. Persons found guilty by the committee will be punished according to church law, even if the cases are not taken up by authorities.

Nazi papers today carried advertisments for an issue of the Schwarze Korps, official organ of the Schutz Staffel [Hitler guards], which specializes in denunciations of the Catholic church. The issue, it is learned, devotes nearly three and a half of its first ten pages to attacks on the church.

VATICAN BACKS CARDINAL

VATICAN CITY, May 19.—(AP)—Vatican churchmen said tonight that Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago had every right to speak his mind in his address Tuesday which aroused a storm of protest today in Germany.

They said the Vatican would not concern itself with the cardinal's speech, either to defend or repudiate it. The cardinal had every right to voice his opinions as head of an archdiocese without consulting the holy see, churchmen asserted.

The Vatican attitude toward Germany and Hitler, they added, was set forth fully in the Pope Pius' March 20 encyclical which charged Nazi violation of the German-Vatican concordat and held that German Catholics were being deprived of the right to control religious education of their youth.

TODAY THE WORLD AGAIN HONORS

COLONEL Charles A. Lindbergh

10 years ago today, a gallant young man . . . with a single beat of his wings . . . spanned the Atlantic . . . won undying fame, made America "air conscious" and thereby helped bring into being the world's finest network of commercial airlines.

In the forefront of these is Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., whose route this young man charted, whose technical adviser he became, and to whom he gave the name this airline proudly bears: "The Lindbergh Line."

Today, the same painstaking care and foresight which made Lindbergh's flight a success is the watchword of TWA. Double the required flying aids and instruments and three hours ministration by a corps of skilled mechanics for every hour in the air is the rule for TWA planes.

On your next journey, fly TWA. Enjoy the comfort, luxury, and sheer pleasure that only the Lindbergh Line provides. Non-stop service New York-Chicago; overnight Coast-to-Coast. Skyclubs by day. Skysleepers by night.

JUSTICE VAN DEVANTER'S RETIREMENT.

The retirement of Mr. Justice Van Devanter in the midst of the controversy over the President's court packing proposals will not, of course, be interpreted by the public as the unforced and routine retirement of an honored and faithful public servant who has elected to lay down the burden of active service as intended by our law and policy. Whatever personal considerations may properly have entered into Justice Van Devanter's decision, the circumstances in which it was made or brought about are too apparent to the American people to be ignored. In this light the decision will be, and rightly, viewed as a personal sacrifice in defense of the great tribunal to which Justice Van Devanter has devoted so many years and in defense of the principles of American government now threatened by executive ambition.

Whatever the immediate effect upon the fate of the court Justice Van Devanter's retirement may have, the action will be recognized by thinking citizens throughout the nation as one of patriotic devotion. It closes Justice Van Devanter's long and honorable career on the highest note of citizenship.

On the same day the senate judiciary committee by a vote of ten to eight reported the court packing bill with the recommendation that it do not pass. Whether this decision was affected in any degree by the retirement of Justice Van Devanter cannot now be known outside that body and the inner precincts of political action. But the pressure on the senators opposing the court packing bill to overrule their convictions is no secret and it may be hoped that, stanch as they have shown themselves to be, their position has been strengthened in the practical terms of politics and that the court and nation will be saved from the full consequences of the President's proposals.

Meanwhile upon the people of Illinois, historically and we believe still devoted to the federal constitution, is imposed the humiliating reflection that one of its senators voted to approve a proposition which strikes at the foundation of the constitutional order of which the people of this state have from the settlement of the Northwest territory been among the most devoted upholders. The motives of Senator Dieterich have been plain enough and on a plane as low as self-seeking politics ever descends to. That his course does not represent the conviction of the great majority of the people of Illinois, much less the political tradition of which they have had good reason to be proud, is small consolation for his betrayal.

SHARING THE WAGES OF SIN.

The giving of advice to gamblers is sufficiently profitable in this jurisdiction to lead Judge Bristow, sitting in the Superior court, to award $80,000 in alimony to Mrs. Cathryne Hall. Mr. Hall publishes a number of journals devoted to the art and science of horse racing with special emphasis upon tomorrow's winners.

"This man," said the judge in summing up, "was not only dishonest and faithless toward his wife; he was also dishonest with the government in his income tax returns."

Here is a welcome reminder that two such reputable institutions as the monogamous family and the United States government are getting their cut, their full share of the wages of sin.

FARMERS OPPOSE CHAIN TAX.

Sympathy for the Wisconsin dairymen, who are protesting that an oppressive tax on chain stores will deprive them of an annual $35,000,000 market for their butter and cheese, is tempered by the memory that the first of the artificial trade barrier laws was enacted in the guise of helping the Wisconsin farmer.

This was the law that imposed a 15 cents a pound tax on oleomargarine in the hope that it would make Wisconsin people eat more butter. It is not demonstrable that the law ever sold any butter, but as a revenue producer it has produced only $100 in tax in almost a year. As a precedent it has started a flood of retaliatory and discriminatory laws that threaten the unity of commerce in the United States.

Milwaukee's famous beer faces taxes in other states and the salesmen of its agricultural implements and other machinery find they are less welcome in the southern territory, whose producers of vegetable oils feel they were discriminated against in the oleomargarine tax law.

Wisconsin's dairymen have been appearing before the legislature complaining that oppressive laws under the guise of taxation will cause the big grocery chains to buy their butter and cheese elsewhere.

We do not believe that the farmers anywhere have demanded much of the legislation that has been enacted in their name. Most of it has been conceived in the minds of politicians eager to do something so they can tell the farmers what good friends of them they are.

Most of it is unsound and much of it acts as a boomerang, just as the oleo tax has and as the dairymen fear the chain store tax will.

It is a misuse of the legislative power to try to buy good will from any class by imposing special hardships on any industry. We can find some sympathy for the dairymen, who feel that they may lose one of their best customers, but if they had been as articulate in opposing the equally unfair oleo tax principle they probably never would have been faced with their present problem.

EDWARD THE OUTCAST.

In the language of the English formula for such an occasion "a marriage has been arranged" and the announcement is made by the duke of Windsor, the former king of Great Britain. He will marry Mrs. Wallis Warfield June 3. That is the date of the birthday anniversary of George V. which will have official commemoration in England.

"There will be no members of the royal family present," Edward wrote in his announcement. The selection of the date for the wedding seemingly was intended to make the break with the family final and conclusive.

Edward VIII. is the victim of his government and the prelates and apparently the royal institution is so sick it cannot save him. He is to be made a royal outcast, although less vindictiveness would have found many avenues of conciliation and face saving.

Windsor made every concession to domestic politics, imperial requirements and social conventions except one. He would not give up Mrs. Warfield. In everything else he submitted to Baldwin, to the church and to the conventions of his fellow countrymen.

He buried himself in Austria. He avoided giving occasion for publicity. He deferred to the coronation. He postponed his wedding until it would come after the crowning of his brother. Then virtually all that was asked of the government was to permit a recognition of his marriage by the members of his family. Apparently that may not be given.

The members are controled. If they have any consideration for the real king of England it must be suppressed. Edward and the wife he is legally and morally free to marry are to become pariahs. The episode if it finally rests that way will do the record of the Windsor family no good and instead of reëstablishing the shaky royal institution will make it even more pitiful.

The government which has tricked Edward was in large part responsible for his plight. For twenty-five years he was used as the show boy of the empire. He was its traveling salesman. He was forever traveling to the dominions and colonies. He was on the jump to other countries. He was told that he must lead such a life for the good of the empire. It was both tiresome and exciting. Its effect upon his temperament must have been considerable.

He was not cloistered, disciplined and trained as a prince and the heir to the throne. He was thrown to the British lion. He knew that irregularities would be excused provided they remained irregularities. He met people more interesting than the indulged set he would find at home. He was restless, often bored and, it may be believed, still oftener unhappy.

Then he proposed to settle down. For the privilege of exercising the right to choose his own wife he gives up the crown. When almost every mistake which could be made had been made the government and the church decided to commit the final one. Edward and his wife must be branded with the mark of the untouchables.

Probably the British have been too long in India.

ZONING AT THE AIRPORT.

As suggested by THE TRIBUNE, the city council committee on building and zoning is preparing a draft of a new ordinance which would restrict the construction of tall buildings in the vicinity of the municipal airport. A correspondent writing to the Voice of the People has taken exception to the plan thus to create a saucer in Chicago's skyline at the southwest corner of the city. There is this to be said for his arguments—if the lake front airport had been given wholehearted support no zoning would have been necessary. Chicago would have a landing field second to none in the world, befitting the air center of America. It is to be devoutly hoped that the lake front plan has not been definitly abandoned.

However, the zoning ordinance will not work a hardship on the area surrounding the present port because the field brings value to the neighborhood. The land will be utilized by industries affiliated with aviation, in addition to which there is the possibility of restaurants, neighborhood stores, and residence sites for persons employed by the aviation companies. One large air line has already approved plans for an extensive building that will be erected as soon as the question of property exchange following track removal is settled.

Airplane transportation has passed the experimental stage to become a necessary fixture in city planning. Without gilt edged air service Chicago would be "off the main line." The necessity of perquisites to aviation must, therefore, be recognized, as are the perquisites of other forms of transportation. Some handicaps must be accepted in consideration of greater benefits.

ANTIDOTE FOR THE SILVER THREADS?
[Cedar Rapids Gazette.]

Scientific news of the week contained at least one item of interest to those who are beginning to pluck out gray hairs in ever-increasing numbers. Dr. Agnes Fay Morgan, one of the world's leading authorities on nutrition, told the American Institute of Nutrition at Memphis of a new vitamin, lack of which in the diet causes the hair of black rats to turn gray.

That in itself doesn't sound very encouraging, perhaps. The encouraging part is that restoration of this newly discovered food factor to the diet of the unfortunate rats makes their hair turn black again. As yet there is no proof one way or the other, but that may mean that prematurely gray human hair can be restored to its original color by increasing the consumption of this new vitamin, which is believed to be part of the vitamin B complex. Or maybe the graying of hair can be retarded by it. The dietitians will try to find out, while members of the not-as-young-as-they-were set wait with bated breath.

One of the best places to find the various B vitamins is in unpolished rice. We often have wondered where would be a likely place to find unpolished rice, to which the nutritionists refer as if it were as common as head lettuce, but we never found out.

I didn't care to mention it at first, but now that Dorothy A. has brought it up, albeit adversely, my soul cries for utterance. Chicago is a grand place and I am fond of it. But—O lady, lady! How could you NOT want to go to Massachusetts? This sound and fury anent small towns with personality has but one logical answer—any town in Massachusetts. OLD PAL.

Of all my earthly brothers there is one, above all others,
Who ever bears the burden of my sempiternal curse.
He's the philosophic lout who, when you're down and out,
So blandly blates, "Old man, it could be worse."
You may have lost your wife and be torn with grief and strife;
You may starve and walk the streets with empty purse;
Or you may have had a wreck, and sustained a broken neck,
But he'll still opine, "Old pal, it could be worse."
Now, if I should see the day whereupon he's borne away
In that somber, solemn thing we call a hearse,
And am much in mind distraught, I'll take solace in the thought
That, although he's gone for good, it could be worse.

CHEWING PAPER WADS.

Our pine knot lighted theories of education, desultorily expressed here, seem to achieve small favor with those who trouble to write in reply. We are not more set in our opinions than a member of the Supreme court, but we maintain that education is successful only when it has persuaded the subject to weigh evidence; and more particularly that presented in black on white. So much is printed these days, and thinking is such hard work, that it's almost as difficult to resist ready belief in whatever we read as it is to keep from putting dimes in slot machines because we know the iron man pays back only 42 per cent of the intake. McCutcheon's recent cartoon on "Class Reunion of Old Timers" brought to mind one I attended in New England. At the class dinner the usual eloquent outpourings (no double entendre) were on when a member who had traveled far remarked feelingly: "I didn't expect to be with you, but our secretary wrote so persuasively that here I am. Boys, a plea from Billy would draw a cork out of a bottle." . . . Another classmate sprang to his feet. "Such a slander is unparalleled, unconscionable and unforgivable," he cried. Then Billy came to life. "Aw, show me a bottle," he gurgled happily. H. M. H.

TEMPERING THE INSULT.

Sir: The lady vox popper who recently voiced a protest against free showers donated to pedestrians by motorists on rainy days stated that she was splashed with water so muddy she was ashamed to board a street car. It is a valid complaint and there is no reason why the matter cannot be speedily remedied. We have air cleaners and oil filters on our cars and we could easily attach a device to the running board that would catch, filter, and purify all water before it was applied to the pedestrian. In cool weather a heater attachment would temper the water to avoid giving colds; and, where lady walkers are involved, a separate gadget would add just a touch of rosewater. M. T. Noodle.

A SAGA OF CORNS AND CALLUSES.

CORNS and calluses occasion no end of suffering. In the main they are brought about by pressure, perhaps not continuous but the type that comes and goes, which compels one to wiggle the toes more or less persistently in an effort to avoid it. An overgrowth of the outer layer of the skin ensues—nature's way of erecting a barrier between the source of the pressure and the soft parts beneath. If the situation operates over a fairly extensive area we call the result a callus; if over a limited space, a corn.

The typical hard corn is as a rule triangular in shape, with the base on top of the skin, the apex boring deeply into the more sensitive structures. It may be compared to a round-headed nail, the point of which lies within the tissues. The center consists of a white core which, when taken out, will sometimes leave a small hole. Because of the constant irritation pus will form occasionally, but it cannot be drained away until the hornlike cap has been removed.

There are numerous instances in which the process is associated with general conditions such as gout, rheumatism, and arthritis, as it is well known that these diseases are likely to be accompanied by thickening of the skin areas wherever there is friction.

Where do these formations appear? For the most part corns occur on the upper portions of the toes where the skin is thin, with but little fat padding. Calluses, on the other hand, select the bottom of the feet, where the epidermis is much thicker, overlying a considerable amount of both fibrous and fatty tissue. As a rule the former become more frequent as age advances, but even in childhood they may come on, in which event the cause should be investigated carefully, as one such affair may be followed by another, even though the initial overgrowth is taken out.

Pain is the chief symptom, particularly where there is inflammation and pus, but all types are attended with discomfort. Curiously enough, the degree of sensitivity is dependent somewhat upon the weather. When the air is dry and of even temperature these patients have very little to complain about, but on damp days, either very hot or very cold, sharp, shooting pains or steady aches assert themselves. This is because the skin layers absorb moisture and therefore swell.

Soft corns are quite different in character. They are likely to arise where two surfaces rub against one another. They are usually moist and often present a whitish or "cooked" appearance. Although seed corns are not common, they may form in crops and affect the heel or the bottom of the foot in those who have an abnormally dry skin.

Prevention consists in the use of a suitable type of foot covering. Almost every one can secure a well fitting shoe. But many will insist upon style in preference to comfort. Furthermore, one point which patients are likely to forget is that the stockings must fit smoothly inside the shoe and be free from wrinkles and ridges.

If a corn has developed fully, home treatment is rarely advised. Now and then the so-called corn plaster will prove helpful, but the wise thing to do is to consult a skilled chiropodist. Various chemicals are used to remove the horny layer, such as salicylic acid, acetic acid, lactic acid, even ordinary washing soda. If salicylic acid is combined with cannabis indica [Indian hemp] the action of the acid will be painless.

Most chiropodists will dissect the corn free, care being taken not to injure the healthy skin beneath. In case this cannot be accomplished the paring method is pursued. Antiseptic precautions must be observed. Surgery is rarely indicated, as pressure on the resulting scar may be as painful as the corn itself.

Better posture and well fitting shoes and hose will obviate the difficulty in most instances. In addition, it may mean muscle reëducation of the foot, in which the toes are trained to grasp objects, and the exercise in which a lead pencil is lifted from the floor with the bare toes is of value.

It is far wiser and cheaper to visit a chiropodist once a month than to endure the temper rasping protests of the lowly corn.

CRACKED LIP.

W. R. D. writes:

1. I have a friend who has had a cracked lip for a year or more. It never heals. Do you think it might become serious?

2. What is the purpose of steaming the face in the treatment of acne?

REPLY.

1. Yes. Have a careful examination and a complete excision of the lesion if the physician regards the procedure as necessary.

2. Local treatment for acne consists of ridding the skin of blackheads. To do this it is necessary to cleanse and disinfect the skin as much as possible. Bathing the face in hot water, or steaming it, makes it possible to remove the blackheads without undue pressure.

TRY VACCINE.

Mrs. M. writes: I am an expectant mother and also a hay fever victim beginning in mid-August and ending with the first frost. While I do not become very sick I am afraid that my violent sneezing may cause a premature birth. I have been told by some I should take the serum treatments and by others that it would be bad for the baby.

REPLY.

Vaccine treatments will not injure the baby. Begin them now.

SHORT OF BREATH.

J. A. R. writes: What is the cause of a girl 5 years old getting short of breath when she runs? She is not bothered at any other time. When she runs she wheezes. She is slightly overweight and seems perfectly well.

REPLY.

The cause is probably due merely to overweight, but if you are in doubt have her heart and lungs examined. I would suggest, also, skin tests for allergy [asthma].

BE SURE.

O. S. writes: At the age of 30 I discovered I had inherited syphilis. After a year of treatment one Wassermann test is negative and the other 1 plus. Would a spinal test be advisable before stopping treatments?

REPLY.

Yes, by all means.

SYDNEY, Australia.—The Australian government is taking steps to develop the antarctic empire, control of which it recently assumed.

First move in this plan will be the visit of a British expedition on the research ship Discovery II. to make a photographic chart of the territory over a period of two years at a cost of $100,000. The proposal is to explore 3,500 miles of coast line between Banzare Land and Princess Elizabeth Land.

The commonwealth government also has proclaimed the whaling act in operation over the territory. This is aimed to stop indiscriminate killing of whales.

Debate continues as to the value of the antarctic territory, as the area has become officially known. The area, almost as large as Australia itself, was accepted from Britain nearly three years ago and is declared by some to contain immense wealth. They assert the 3,000,000 square miles is rich in mineral deposits, bird life, fur bearing animals and whale and is capable of large economic development.

Arrangements have been concluded for a limited census of animals to be made over the area visited by the British and for examination of the territory by geologists in the hope of discovering a lead in the matter of mineral deposits. Pelagic fishing, fox farming, and the collection of penguins' eggs are also to be seriously considered.

Sir Douglas Mawson, whose rôle in exploring a portion of the territory led to Australia taking over administration of the land, always has believed in the possibilities of commercial development of the region. Two years ago he forecast summer cruises along the pack ice as a form of revenue for shipping lines, snow sports for tourists, fur farming, and the generation of almost unlimited electrical power from the winds.

Mawson pointed to the fact that since 1905 more than 300,000 whales had been taken from waters of the region, yielding products of $350,000,000 value. One of the richest whaling fields in the south seas is only 1,300 miles from Tasmania, the smallest Australian state. Mawson visualized exploitation of the antarctic continent by a sort of new Hudson's Bay company, which would operate under charter and establish isolated trading posts.

The whalers were also viewed as acting as the system of transportation of the new products to northern markets and thus control of this field becomes doubly important. The government here looks to the survey now in hand to provide information on which to base its plans.

LOST GOODS.

Chicago, May 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Does the Illinois law require that articles found on the street be advertised by the finder or turned in to the sherif or police, or does it allow the finder to hold such articles until the loser advertises for them? M. L.

Section 27 of the statute relating to lost goods makes it the duty of finders of goods worth more than $5.00 to inform the owner, if known, and make restoration without compensation, or if the owner is unknown to take the goods within five days before a justice of the peace and make affidavit of which an entry shall be made on the justice's book and a certified copy on the county clerk's book.

Section 28 provides that in all cases where such goods shall not exceed $15.00 it shall be the duty of the finder to advertise on the door of the courthouse and in three other public places and if no person appears within twelve months the ownership shall vest in the finder, but if the value exceeds $15.00 the county clerk shall within twenty days from receipt of the justice's certificate, place notice on the courthouse door and in three other public places and publish notice for three successive weeks, and if the goods are not reclaimed within six months the finder shall deliver the money to the county treasurer, other securities to the county clerk, to hold for the owner, or goods to the sherif, who shall sell at auction and pay the proceeds into the county treasury.

A thing voluntarily laid down or forgotten is not "lost" and should be held for the owner. 19 Cyc. 539.

THE AIRPORT.

Chicago, May 17.—In reply to "V. P. Robertson's" plan of airport expansion, let me state that I think he is merely trying to streamline the old horse and buggy and make it pass for a substantial modern improvement. Why not face the fact that the location of the present airport is a mistake, instead of spending large sums of money to expand into an area that is logically an industrial zone? True enough, there is a small amount of room for expansion to accommodate a present necessity, entailing, of course, the moving of a railroad, burying power lines, and limiting building construction, plus the cost of expansion. But will this take care of all future needs?

In place of pouring our funds into this blind alley of expansion, now is the time to put them into the construction of a lake front airport that will be able to take care of all present as well as future needs. A lake front airport would certainly dispense all the legal troubles and restrictions that now hinder the present airport. Now is the time for Chicago to build an airport that would be within walking distance of the loop district and would be one of the finest in the country, one that could always keep pace with air transportation, and not be a constant drain on public funds every few years for necessary improvements.

NO.

Chicago, May 11.—Can you imagine a European sending his daughter to America to be presented to our President? And why should our representatives at the coronation have to dress like a jack in the box instead of in honest to goodness American clothes? We didn't mind listening over our radios to the coronation program, but why were we punished by being compelled to listen to all the cheering and band playing when we should much rather have heard Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, Just Plain Bill and David Harum?

MRS. C. R. LEWIS.

DOGS.

Wheaton, Ill., May 16.—I can't help but reply to the column in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE regarding dogs.

It is true that there is supposed to be a quarantine on dogs here in Wheaton, but it is not being enforced nor was it last summer, regardless of what has been said heretofore. I made my complaint to the city council about two weeks ago, but nothing has been done about it and the dogs run day and night.

CARL M. VINING.

INTERFERING WITH THE MAILS.

Chicago, May 14.—The picture you published this morning of interference with the United States mails by strikers in Pennsylvania arouses me.

What has the Hon. James A. Farley, postmaster general, to say about it?

Do you have to be associated with the C. I. O.'s powers that be to be immune from prosecution? I recall that only recently the United States marines were called out to protect the United States mails from bandits. A WORKER.

FOR VOTING MACHINES.

Chicago, May 15.—We were all so happy when the bill was passed for permanent registration, but without the voting machine we are only half way on the road to honest elections with frauds at the minimum.

ZAIDEE E. MITCHELL.

MEDICAL EXAMINATION BEFORE MARRIAGE.

Chicago, May 17.—The hygienic marriage bill passed by the house, requiring the contracting parties to obtain a physician's certificate setting forth that the applicants are free from venereal disease as a prerequisite to the issuance of a marriage license, is a good bill, aiming to protect the public from spreading the disease. But the bill is class legislation, oppressive, and cannot be successfully enforced, because [1] it exempts imbeciles, idiots, insane persons, etc., and [2] the legislature has no right to regulate professional fees. The idea of limiting the fee to $2 for such an important test examination, which requires time, skill, and the services of a physician of high standing, cannot be successfully accomplished. It will create a big business for a great many quacks, irresponsible doctors who will issue as many liberal and numerous $2 certificates as was done during prohibition when it was required that one have a doctor's certificate before he could have a prescription filled.

Another feature to be considered: should one examining physician be in error as to his finding, or if one of the contracting parties should feel himself or herself aggrieved by the examination and the refusal of the certificate, who can and who will review such examinations, and how can it be done? The matter will then have to be brought into court and tried on expert medical testimony. It will create a great deal of confusion, expense, and the public will not get the benefit of such a law.

And then, why should an imbecile, idiot, or insane person be exempt from the provisions of the statute?

If the legislature desires to protect the public from such marriages, it should create, in connection with the bill, a state board of examiners, consisting of three physicians to be appointed by the governor and all such examinations be had by the board free of charge to the applicants, the members of said board to receive a reasonable compensation for the services, the same to be paid by the state. That is the only way a law of this character can be successfully and constitutionally passed.

WILLIAM CHONES.

MONUMENTAL IDEA.

Lancaster, Wis., May 15.—There is a proposal to erect in Washington a monument to honor the memory of Jefferson Davis. Certainly Davis' only claim to fame was the fact that he tried his best to destroy the government of the United States. Southern sentimentality cannot change that fact. Should a government erect monuments to the memory of those who proved traitorous to it?

But the south says, "Forgive and forget."

Very well, then. The proper time for a monument to Jefferson Davis to be erected in Washington is the same day that a monument to Gen. Sherman is erected in Atlanta, Ga.

U. S. STANDS FIRM AGAINST RACE BY PLANES TO PARIS

Would Refuse Permits to Ocean Aviators.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 19.—[Special.]—Officials of the bureau of aeronautics of the department of commerce today explained that this government will carry out its decision to halt the proposed trans-Atlantic air race to commemorate the tenth anniversary of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's solo flight to Paris by withholding flight permits from aviators who might wish to attempt the flight in the face of governmental disapproval.

The state department informed the French embassy Monday of this government's intention to stop the flight after weeks of agitation. The flight was to have afforded a dramatic opening for the international exposition in Paris. The winning flyer in the proposed Derby was to have received a $50,000 prize.

Passes on Airworthiness.

At the air bureau today an official explained that while the government does not license such flights it does issue permits of airworthiness for planes making foreign flights. Refusal of such permits in the case of the air Derby would effectually ground participating planes.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson, head of the air bureau, has said he would refuse to certify as to the seaworthiness of Derby planes, because planes embarking on trans-Atlantic flights necessarily carry such heavy gas loads their airworthiness can easily be questioned, it was said.

Able to Halt Derbies.

Department officials explained they are powerless to stop individuals from taking off on oceanic hops in much the same way as a policeman is powerless against a bridge suicide. But the department can through its permit power halt air Derbies on challenging airworthiness of the craft and challenging the flight's service to the advancement of aviation.

American pilots who take part in the race may lose their flying licenses if they manage to take off for the ocean flight in planes which do not have airworthiness certificates. One of the air commerce bureau regulations provides that an airman's license may be revoked if he flies an unapproved, unidentified airplane.

Woman Flyer Protests.

New York, May 19.—[Special.]—Amy Johnson Mollison, British aviatrix, thinks the department of commerce is an old fogy and a fraidy cat to boot for objecting to the proposed New York-to-Paris race which was to commemorate Lindbergh's flight across the Atlantic which started 10 years ago tomorrow.

She hopes the race will be staged anyway, she said, before sailing for England on the Normandie today. If it is, she's going to fly back to America to participate.

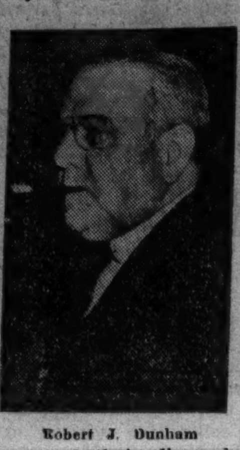
"Certainly Dick Merrill proved that the ocean could be flown in the worst possible weather," she said.

FIND NEIGHBOR SLAIN.

Lincoln, Ill., May 19.—[Special.]—Edward Shyer, 50 years old, of Latham, was found dead, apparently a suicide, in his bachelor home today. F. C. Pease and Edward Buehler found Shyer's body at the bottom of a stairway, with a rope around his neck and a fragment of rope trailing from the stair railing.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE MEETS TO LAUNCH ITS INQUIRY IN PARK LEVY

The citizens' committee named recently to study the merits of the $9,000,000 pegged levy asked for the Park district's 1937 needs met yesterday in the park administration office. The committee was appointed by Robert J. Dunham, park head, who told the members that all the books and records were at their disposal.



Robert J. Dunham

Max Murdock, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Union League club, was elected temporary chairman.

It was estimated that cost of the survey would be from $15,000 to $20,000. This expense, Dunham told the committee, would be paid from the park fund, inasmuch as the taxpayers were entitled to know if the parks were being administered properly.

"I hope this inquiry can be kept free of all political considerations," he said. "It's scope, aims, and recommendations rest with the committee. I hope it may outline a program looking forward fifty years."

A DOUGH TOSSER? MOTHER RESENTS DEPUTY'S CHARGE

Silvery haired little Mrs. Julia Reilly yesterday minimized accounts of how she had deluged Deputy Sherif Joseph Ryan with bread dough when he called to arrest her son, William Carroll, for not paying his alimony. But Mr. Ryan told Judge Donald S. McKinlay that the minimizing was being carried too far when her attorney suggested that she merely sprinkled salt from a salt shaker upon the deputy.

The judge said he didn't know which version was the more accurate and told Mrs. Reilly she might go back home to 4451 Jackson boulevard. But he held her other son, Edward Carroll, as a hostage, in the hope William would surrender today. Edward is said to have helped with the dough throwing, if you like that story, or the salt shaking, if you prefer the other.

TAVERN SLAYER HELD GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Harold Rambert, 26 years old, who shot and killed Francis Parker, a piano player in the Monte Carlo café, 2370 Clybourn avenue, last Jan. 10, was found guilty of manslaughter yesterday by Judge Robert J. Dunne in the Criminal court.

Judge Dunne, who heard the case without a jury, overruled a motion for a new trial but set a hearing on probation for May 28. Rambert faces a mandatory sentence of 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary.

Rambert was accused of killing Parker while intoxicated because he objected to Parker's piano playing. He contended the shooting was accidental. Assistant State's Attorney Morris G. Meyers had asked for a 25 year sentence.

BRITISH BUILDING 60 TON PLANES TO FLY ATLANTIC

Combat U. S. Challenge for Air Supremacy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 19.—The British secretly are building two sixty ton flying boats as an answer to the reported challenge of the United States for trans-Atlantic supremacy in the form of six giant Boeing seaplanes, it was reported today.

Interest in trans-Atlantic service is keen in England, and the British long have been afraid Americans would beat them with better planes despite coöperation on bases and routes.

Calls Plane Impracticable.

A member of parliament recently asked in the house of commons whether it was true, as he had heard, that the Boeing firm was building six planes of forty to fifty tons each and capable of carrying seventy-two passengers each with eight in the crew. Sir Philip Sassoon, undersecretary for air, said such a plane was "impracticable."

Now it is understood that planes which Short Brothers are building for Great Britain will be on the same order and bigger. They will be three times as big as the "Empire" twenty ton flying boats now in use and under construction. Those carry twenty-four passengers and crews of four and cruise at 150 to 160 miles an hour. The new mystery craft are said to have a cruising speed of some 180 miles an hour, but the air ministry has not revealed details.

Test Flying Boats.

Up to the present the British have been experimenting with two Empire flying boats to get data for trans-Atlantic flights. The new craft will succeed them.

Other craft with which the British are experimenting with an eye on ocean service include a strange Mayo "composite" plane—a big flying boat with a smaller fast land plane clamped to its back. The land plane will be able to continue alone after the seaplane has lifted it into the air.

Another is a fast long range land plane. It will be lighter than a seaplane of the same size and therefore able to fly farther.

FALL ON STAIRS KILLS WOMAN.

ONE LUXURY EVERY CAR OWNER CAN AFFORD!

THE CHEAPEST THING ON YOUR CAR IS THE BEST TIRES YOU CAN BUY!

Charted here are average maintenance costs obtained from fleet owners operating hundreds of cars on Goodyear Tires. Note that a full set of Goodyears costs only about one-fifth as much as gas—from one-quarter to one-half as much as other routine expenses. Ratios may vary somewhat in your case depending upon roads, climate and how fast you drive, but these nation-wide records prove Goodyears cost least under any conditions.

EXPERIENCE SAYS—"THE BEST TIRE"

Driving is the only test of tire quality and value—and out of long experience in driving all makes of tires the public has voted Goodyear Tires best by buying more Goodyears than any other kind for 22 consecutive years!

THINGS have changed a lot since the days when tires were the No. 1 expense in running a car.

Now every man can afford the luxury of good tires because today the cheapest thing on your car is the best tires you can buy—and that means Goodyear Tires!

You don't have to take our word for that. Great fleet operators who track down every expense to the last decimal will tell you their gasoline expense alone averages FIVE times as much per 100 miles as the cost of a full set of Goodyear Tires and tubes. Other routine expenses two to four times as much!

The reason is that Goodyear Tires today give you the biggest value and mileage for the money in tire history.

A Goodyear in every price class

Goodyears not only cost you less to run, but they are made in several different price classes—every one built to protect our good name! The difference in price between various Goodyear Tires of the same size is simply a question of how much long, safe mileage you need to buy.

Any Goodyear you select is the top-quality tire at its price, for all Goodyears give you the extra safety and protection of road-holding center traction—quick-stopping, skid-resisting All-Weather type grip—and patented Supertwist Cord blowout-protection in every ply!

Remember when you buy tires, get the best and you'll spend the least—get Goodyears, the cheapest thing on your car!

REBEL AVIATORS UNLEASH BOMBS ON BILBAO AREA

Nearby Town of Munguia Suffers Heavily.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, May 19.—(AP)—Basque defenders of refugee packed Bilbao retreated from the smoking ruins of Amorebieta today as black rebel bombers flew to renewed attacks on the harassed Basque militiamen.

Clearing skies enabled the rebel airmen again to join the offensive battering toward the last iron ring of fortifications about Bilbao. Rebel aircraft bombed the village of Munguia, ten miles northeast of Bilbao, for an hour. Devastation centered about the village church.

The bombers also scouted above Bilbao and dropped projectiles on the city's suburbs while the Spanish liner Habana prepared to sail soon for Southampton, England, with 4,000 refugee children.

Rear guard government troops were hastily erecting barriers across the Amorebieta highway.

Order German Flyers Tried.

The government front was about eight miles east and slightly south of the capital while the main body of troops fell back to Galdacano, pivot of the fortification line.

Within Bilbao two captured German airmen, Capt. Walter Keinzel and Lieut. Gunther Schulze, were ordered to appear before a popular tribunal for trial tomorrow on charges of murder and rebellion.

The semi-autonomous Basque government sent a note to the 27 nation nonintervention committee in London protesting "the Germans' criminal action" in the Basque offensive. It cited the bombings of Durango, Guernica, Bolivar, Eibar, El Gueta, Munguia, Larrauri, Maruri, Larrabezua, and Plencia.

The city's defenders described the eastern retreat as an orderly movement dictated by the necessity of strengthening the defenses of Galdacano and other points south of the Biscargi mountains. At the same time Basque troops gave up a four mile stretch of muddy road on the central eastern front, but in the north the rebel advance was halted seven miles from the capital.

Advise British Ships to Leave.

BILBAO, Spain, May 19.—(AP)—The British government today notified British shipping in Bilbao harbor to leave as soon as possible, as otherwise, in view of the rebel advance, it would be impossible to guarantee British naval protection.

The British consul visited two freighters, the Joyce Llewelyn and the Alice Maria, and showed their skippers telegrams to that effect signed by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

French freighters on errands of mercy to Bilbao, carrying food to the besieged city and evacuating its women and children on the return voyages, will be guarded by French fighting ships, it was announced by Premier Leon Blum's office in Paris today.

Madrid Shelves War Council.

MADRID, May 19.—(AP)—Madrid's defense chieftain, Gen. José Miaja, resumed control of public order tonight after less than a month of government by a newly organized city council.

Miaja had directed both civil and military activities with the Madrid area since beginning of the rebel siege last fall. He relinquished civil powers April 23. His return to supreme command to replace the council apparently was part of the new Premier Juan Negrin's program to consolidate authority despite criticism by anarcho-syndicalists who refused to coöperate with his government.

At Valencia Julio Alvarez del Vayo, foreign minister in the resigned cabinet of Premier Francisco Largo Caballero, was appointed to head a delegation representing Spain's republic at the league of nations assembly next week. The cortes [parliament] will meet in Valencia early in June to approve the new cabinet.

Children Found Sleeping in Outhouse; Couple Held

Justice of the Peace Charles F. W. Forberg of Morton Grove yesterday held Henry Littlejohn and his second wife, Mildred, to the grand jury in bonds of $5,000 each on charges of cruelty to two of his five children by his first marriage. Deputy sherifs arrested them yesterday at their home in Spaulding, a hamlet three miles southeast of Elgin, after neighbors found Lauretta, 9 years old, and Lawrence, 8, sleeping without covering in an outhouse.

OBITUARY.

THE REV. DR. SAMEUL SALE, rabbi of Temple Shaare Emeth in St. Louis, Mo., for more than 50 years, died yesterday after an illness of several weeks. He was 82 years old. Dr. Sale came to St. Louis in 1887 after serving Jewish congregations in Baltimore and Chicago. He was a native of Louisville, Ky., and had studied in Berlin.

LEONARD LEOPOLD MAC KALL, 58 years old, editor of notes for bibliophiles, died in Mary Washington hospital at Fredericksburg, Va., yesterday. Mr. MacKall was educated at Johns Hopkins university, the Harvard Law school, and the University of Berlin. He was president of the American Bibliographical society. He was unmarried.

SOLON B. LILIENSTERN, New York lawyer and banker, died yesterday of heart disease at his residence 1130 Park avenue. He was 50 years old. He was a director in several concerns and was general counsel of the Trade bank of New York.

FIND EDISON CO. OWNS 28 PER CENT OF 'L' SECURITIES

Control Surrendered to Bondholders.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

The Commonwealth Edison company, dominant factor in the elevated lines for many years, still holds a large proportion of the total securities of the transportation company. According to the latest annual report the Edison company owns approximately 28 per cent of the $91,349,000 elevated company securities outstanding.

Prior to 1932, when the rapid transit company went into receivership, the Edison company through an affiliate, Commonwealth Subsidiary corporation, controlled the elevated lines by virtue of 61 per cent ownership of the common stock.

Bondholders Ruling Group.

With the receivership, however, control has changed hands. Mortgage bondholders, because of their prior lien on the assets of the elevated properties, are now the dominant group.

In the current transit negotiations, in which Mayor Kelly has set unification of all Chicago's transit systems as the city's goal, the bond group is the dominating interest for the elevated.

The Edison company's position in the elevated lines is a heritage of the Insull régime. The elevated securities were acquired by Edison during the period that Samuel Insull controled the power system. The elevated was long recognized as an Insull enterprise.

Holds Much Common Stock.

Issue [par]	Total Outstanding.	Owned by Edison.
Common stock	$19,862,900	$12,150,000
Pref. stock A......	4,995,800	101,000
Pref. stock B	1,500,000	137,000
1st & ref. bonds...	8,033,400	1,638,000
Other mortg. bonds.	38,396,000	25,000
Debentures	18,561,800	11,243,000
Total	$91,349,900	$25,294,000

The common stock owned by Edison was obtained chiefly in settlement of unpaid claims for sale of power to the elevated. The $1,638,000 mortgage bonds were obtained in 1933 in settlement of cash advances to the elevated three years previous. The company was unable to pay the loan and the collateral, including these bonds, was taken over by Edison.

Insull Scheme Recalled.

The large holdings of debentures resulted in part from Insull's efforts to acquire a majority of the issue to insure consent of all elevated securities groups to the discarded 1930 ordinance. Large blocks of these debentures were purchased seven years ago in the open market at prices ranging from 25 to 40 cents on the dollar.

Besides its elevated securities holdings Edison has additional claims for unpaid power bills. The last Edison annual report shows total elevated securities and power claims prior to the receivership with a face value of $27,840,457.

These securities and power claims are carried on Edison's books at $7,204,623. The present market value of the securities, however, is only a small fraction of the figure at which they are carried on the company's books. The market value of the common and preferred stocks, mortgage bonds, and debentures is less than $500,000.

Hold Funeral Rites for Henry Bossi Tomorrow

Funeral services for Henry Bossi, 84 years old, who died Tuesday in his home at 9514 South Leavitt street, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in St. Paul's Union church. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery. Mr. Bossi was born in Galena and had lived in Chicago for the last seventy-five years. He was in the general contracting business, and worked on many buildings in the World's Fair of 1893. Surviving are his widow, Minnie; two sons, Frederick W. and Arthur G., and four grandchildren.

PEGGY RAE TURNS OUT IN COURT AS AT LEAST SEXTUPLETS

If Frances Fox could change her name to Peggy Rae and earn $100 a week selling furniture, Policeman William Fox said yesterday, he did not see why he should go on paying her alimony. He had seen her pay check, he told Judge John C. Lewe.

Mrs. Fox's attorney, Frank Cantwell, smiled. He asked Peggy Rae to stand up. Mrs. Fox, who lives at 17 West 72d street, arose. So did five other girls. Mrs. Fox's employer, Harold Nelson, explained. Peggy Rae, he said, is the business name he gives his sales girls. To encourage his staf, he wrote out a check to Peggy Rae and handed it to Mrs. Fox at a sales meeting. It was just a gag. She gave it back—but not until she'd shown it to her ex-husband.

As Mrs. Fox testified that she earns only $4 or $5 a week, the judge said her ex-husband would have to go on paying $9 a week alimony.

Two Woman Teachers Seize Purse Snatcher

A colored youth tried to snatch a purse yesterday from Miss Viola McLean, 35 years old, 4163 Ellis avenue, a school teacher, as she walked at 43d street and Cottage Grove avenue with another teacher, Miss Alice Larson, 34 years old, 1004 East 42d street. The two women grabbed the thief and held him until Wabash avenue police arrived. He identified himself as Samuel Smith, 19 years old.

Woman Fatally Burned; Dress Ignited in Kitchen

Mrs. Marie Pierson, 49 years old, died early today in the Holy Cross hospital from burns suffered last evening when her dress caught fire in the kitchen of her home at 6644 South Artesian avenue. Neighbors found her unconscious on the floor. Mrs. Pierson's husband, John, who was at work when the accident occurred, told police he believed she was burned while lighting the gas stove.

$95,000 ORDERED PAID TO ESTATES OF 97 WAR VETS

Central Republic Trust to Make Up Losses.

Judge Cornelius J. Harrington yesterday ordered the Central Republic Trust company to pay $95,000 in claims to the estates of 97 world war veterans for losses sustained through mismanagement by the company before it was removed as administrator when it went into receivership in 1934. Before the losses occurred the total value of the estates was about $350,000.

The trust company was the trust affiliate of the old Central Republic Bank and Trust company, formerly headed by Charles Gates Dawes, and is now the liquidating agent for the bank which was taken over by the newly formed City National Bank and Trust company Oct. 6, 1932.

The Court's Holding.

Judge Harrington's order held that the administration of the estates was a breach of fiduciary relationship to the veterans because their estate portfolios in many instances contained self-dealing securities from the trustee itself rather than unbiased purchases from other sources.

In all except a few cases, however, this condition was inherited from the old Greenbaum bank through consolidation, according to Attorney Harry R. Pool, counsel for the veterans' bureau, which is engaged in protecting the estates of incompetent veterans and the widows and orphans of veterans.

These were the last cases involving the Central Republic and the last of any sizable amount for veterans' estates in this area, Pool said. Others have been settled in recent years with very little loss to the estates, he declared, through the coöperation of Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court. Among these was a $500,000 liability of the old Foreman State Trust and Savings bank, settled in 1935. Three years before the defunct Northwestern Trust and Savings bank was ordered to pay $250,000 to the estates of 100 veterans.

No Appeal to Be Taken.

The Central Republic will not appeal from Judge Harrington's order, having agreed during earlier hearings to accept the amount of liability set by him. These hearings were also attended by representatives of the American National Bank and Trust company and the Metropolitan Trust company, which were appointed fiduciary successors.

At a congressional investigation in 1934 of the control of veterans' estates Judge O'Connell pointed out that the estates of 6,000 veterans, with an aggregate value of more than $5,000,000, were pending in his court.

The congressional committee suggested a plan of governmental administration to conserve the estate assets, but this has been abandoned in favor of a constant audit of the administrators by the veterans' bureau.

Warant Out for Manitoba Social Credit Party Head

WINNIPEG, Man., May 19.—(AP)—Royal Canadian mounted police received a warant tonight for the arrest of Dr. S. W. Fox, leader of the small Social Credit group in the Manitoba legislature, on a charge of performing an illegal operation.

Poslam penetrates the outer layers of the skin and thus secures deeper action. Don't delay your relief. Get a box of Poslam right away at your druggist, 50¢.

MOTHER, BACK FROM FUNERAL, FINDS HER BABY IS SMOTHERED

Indianapolis, Ind., May 19.—[Special.]—Philip Will III., eight month old grandson of Robert S. Sinclair, chairman of the board of directors of Kingan & Co., who died Friday night, was found smothered to death under blankets in his crib today at the Sinclair home in Golden Hill.

The child's death was disclosed when his mother, Mrs. Philip Will II. of Chicago, went to the crib. The family had just returned from Cedar Rapids, Ia. Mr. Sinclair was buried on Monday.

Dr. Frank B. Ramsey, deputy coroner, said the infant had reached the foot of the crib and was lying crosswise. His head was wrapped in blankets, indicating that he had tried to free himself only to cover himself more tightly.

BORED STUDENT JUST STEPS OUT FOR A SMOKE!

At the moment Miss Leonore Fitzgerald was sitting in the living room of her home yesterday doing her reading, a student in Calumet High school was sitting in the study room neglecting his, and—the kitchen of Miss Fitzgerald's home at 8119 South Elizabeth street was burning. But don't get excited. This is going to come out all right.

Gazing out the school room window, a block away, the student saw the fire. He hurried out and called the fire department. The firemen got there just as the smoke billowed into the living room and drove Miss Fitzgerald, who's 19, to the street. They put out the fire and said thank goodness that was their job instead of trying to decide whether you should or you shouldn't neglect your work.

Naperville Delays Hospital Work, So It Loses $27,000

Because Naperville officials have for 13 years delayed building the municipal hospital for which Frederick Long left them $27,000, Judge Charles E. Woodward of the Federal court yesterday ordered the money turned over to ten of Mr. Long's relatives. Mr. Long, a former Naperville village president, died in 1912. His will left his wife the use of the estate during her lifetime, with the provision for the hospital after her death. She died in 1922 and the money was turned over to the municipal authorities the next year. Relatives recently demanded the money when the hospital was still unbuilt.

Bad Breath

That Comes from Constipation

Don't try to cover up bad breath with pleasant-smelling preparations, for it often comes from a deeper-lying cause—constipation. In such cases conquer the constipation and your breath will become fresh and sweet and your health and spirits will improve also.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so gentle and so natural in its action.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if you don't feel better than you ever suspected you could.

ECKENER PRAISES ROOSEVELT FOR STAND ON HELIUM

Lakehurst, N. J., May 19.—[Special.]—Dr. Hugo Eckener, famous Zeppelin designer, who is taking part in the investigation of the Hindenburg disaster which cost 36 lives, today praised President Roosevelt for appointing a committee to confer with him next week about making fireproof helium gas available to German airships.

"I am very happy over the noble step taken by the President," Dr. Eckener said. "I knew he was interested in lighter-than-air transport. Now I learn that he is interested in making lighter-than-air craft as safe as possible."

The United States is the only nation which produces helium in other than negligible quantities, but forbids its export except for experimental purposes. The President's committee will consider procedure with respect to releasing the gas to other countries for commercial purposes.

BABY IS KILLED, 3 INJURED IN AN AUTO COLLISION

Mother Badly Hurt in River Forest Accident.

Hurled to the pavement from a car in which he was riding in his mother's arms, James Wendt, 5 months old, was killed in an automobile collision yesterday at Oak and Keystone avenues in River Forest.

The mother, Mrs. Eileen Wendt, 18 years old, of 2236 West Campbell avenue, was taken to the Oak Park hospital unconscious and critically injured. Also severely injured was Tony Cherone, 24 years old, of 22 South Paulina street, driver of the car in which the mother and child were riding.

Telephone Pole Snapped.

Cherone was driving north in Keystone avenue. Mrs. Walter Lawrence of 743 Thatcher avenue, River Forest, was driving east in Oak avenue. The cars collided with such force that Cherone's was hurled against a telephone post, which was snapped off at a height of ten feet.

Mrs. Lawrence, the wife of a physician, was treated at the hospital and then taken home.

407 Dead in County.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 407 persons were killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 317 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 7,651 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

BOY, 11, IS SEIZED AFTER COLLISION IN STOLEN TRUCK

"Sure, I'm the driver," the boy told police after identifying himself as Kenneth Fleming, 11 years old, 10131 Irving Park boulevard, Schiller Park, one of eight children of a scissors grinder.

Questioned at the state's attorney's office yesterday the boy admitted taking the truck from Harlem and Grand avenues and said he intended to visit his brother at the Glenwood Manual Training school but had gotten lost. He had no stockings and was wearing women's shoes, which he said he had picked out of a dump. The boy was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Woman Admits Beating Stepdaughter to Death

Roseburg, Ore., May 19.—(AP)—Cordella Hopkins, 22, pleaded guilty today to beating her 4 year old stepdaughter to death. Judge Carl Wimberly postponed sentencing her on an involuntary manslaughter charge.

Boy, Age 4, Saves Girl, 3, fromDrowning inPark Lake

Denver, Colo., May 19.—(AP)—Barry Thorp, 4, saved Joyce Thompson, 3, from drowning in Washington park lake today. John C. Price, park officer, said the girl, trying to retrieve a ball, fell off a pier. Barry threw himself down on the pier, grabbed Joyce's arm, and held on until a fisherman pulled her out.

Barry told his mother: "Joyce fell in. I held her. I held her hard. She got her dress all wet." Joyce told her mother: "Barry hurt my arm."

U. S. FUNDS SOUGHT TO BUILD SPAN OVER DRAINAGE CANAL

John B. Hittell, chief engineer for the board of local improvements, was in Washington yesterday seeking a Public Works administration grant for part of the cost of building a fixed bridge across the drainage canal at South Western avenue. The cost of the bridge is estimated at $1,062,000.

The fixed bridge will have a clearance at high water of 21 feet. Objections have been raised to this on the ground that it will interfere with commerce on the lakes to the Gulf waterway, but J. A. Moore, Hittell's assistant, said the clearance is ample for barges and that there haven't been any masted ships that far down the canal in years.

Moore declared there were no immediate plans to build the bridge, but that money from unused bond issues for other projects could be used for the city's share of the cost if federal aid is obtained.

Dry Ice Explodes Bottle; May Cost Boy, 14, an Eye

George Putica, 14 years old, 2026 North Normandy avenue, was playing with a piece of dry ice Tuesday and dropped it into a water filled milk bottle. The rapid expansion of gas from the thawing ice burst the bottle and a sliver of glass cut the boy's left eye. At the County hospital yesterday physicians said he is in danger of losing the eye.

READY TO SERVE EVICTION WRIT ON O'BRIEN EX-BRIDE

Miss Marguerite Eustice, whose shotgun marriage to Quin O'Brien, assistant corporation counsel, recently was annulled, will be evicted from her apartment at 3202 Sheridan road today unless she moves her belongings before the arrival of deputy sherifs.

Last evening Deputy Charles F. Tomsovic rang the doorbell and knocked for fifteen minutes at the entrance of her apartment. No one came to the door to accept the eviction writ, which the deputy said he was trying to present as a matter of courtesy before a forcible eviction.

STANDARD SERVICE

IS SAFETY SERVICE

. . . Let your Standard Oil Dealer keep your tires at proper pressure.

He knows exactly how many pounds you should carry to suit the type of and condition of your tires . . . for the season of the year and the kind of roads you are traveling.

It's a simple service that takes but a few seconds, yet it may lengthen the life of your tires by as much as 40%, and it greatly lessens the danger of punctures and blow-outs.

Yes, and typical, too, of the many services rendered by your Standard Oil Dealer to make your motoring miles not only safer, but also pleasanter and more economical.

MORE THAN 23,000 STANDARD OIL DEALERS WITH A PERSONAL STAKE IN SERVING YOU

FACTS IN $10,000 "SERVICE SURVEY" ARE POURING IN Car Drivers Contributing Many Valuable Service Suggestions

SURVEY CLOSES JUNE 15

CHICAGO, May 18—Reports are pouring in from motorists throughout the middle-west who are taking part in the huge survey of service being conducted by the Standard Oil Company for the benefit of more than 7,000,000 motor car drivers.

Daily, many valuable suggestions are being received as a result of this effort to determine what services the motoring public most desires at Standard Oil Dealers' stations.

If you, too, have suggestions, or even criticisms, here is an opportunity to present your views—and perhaps win one of the 122 prizes, which range from $1,000 to $10 in cash.

DEALERS TO RECEIVE PRIZES

Naturally, the Standard Oil Dealers themselves have an important part to play in carrying out this survey successfully. Therefore every dealer who assists by distributing validated entry cards is considered eligible for special "Dealer Awards." On the completion of the survey, Standard Oil Company will award prizes as follows:

Prizes for Motorists Submitting Most Valuable Reports

1st Prize	$1,000
2nd Prize	500
10 Prizes of	100 each
20 Prizes of	50 each
40 Prizes of	25 each
50 Prizes of	10 each
Total of $5,000

Prizes for Dealers Who Assist Winning Motorists

1st Prize	$1,000
2nd Prize	500
10 Prizes of	100 each
20 Prizes of	50 each
40 Prizes of	25 each
50 Prizes of	10 each

SURVEY CLOSES JUNE 15TH

To take part in this symposium of public preference and compete for prizes, it merely is necessary to drive to the nearest Standard Oil Dealer and ask him to help you begin your survey. He will hand you your entry card and demonstrate "Standard Service" with at least three typical examples, and upon request will assist in the preparation of your entry.

Any automobile driver may take part, and none will be under any obligation to make a purchase.

While you may conduct your survey during your spare time or while motoring for pleasure or business, your report, to make you eligible for a cash prize, must be mailed to the Service Survey Judges, Standard Oil Company (Indiana), Room 1223, 910 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, before midnight of June 15, 1937.

All reports will be judged by a committee of three members composed of Prof. Lloyd D. Herrold, Northwestern University; George W. Barton, Safety Director, Chicago Motor Club; and Roger B. Stafford, Managing Editor, "Super Service Station," Chicago, who will select the winning reports.

Stop in at any Standard Oil Dealer's station today and learn the details of this survey of service. It may mean money in your pocket as well as giving you an opportunity to air your views.

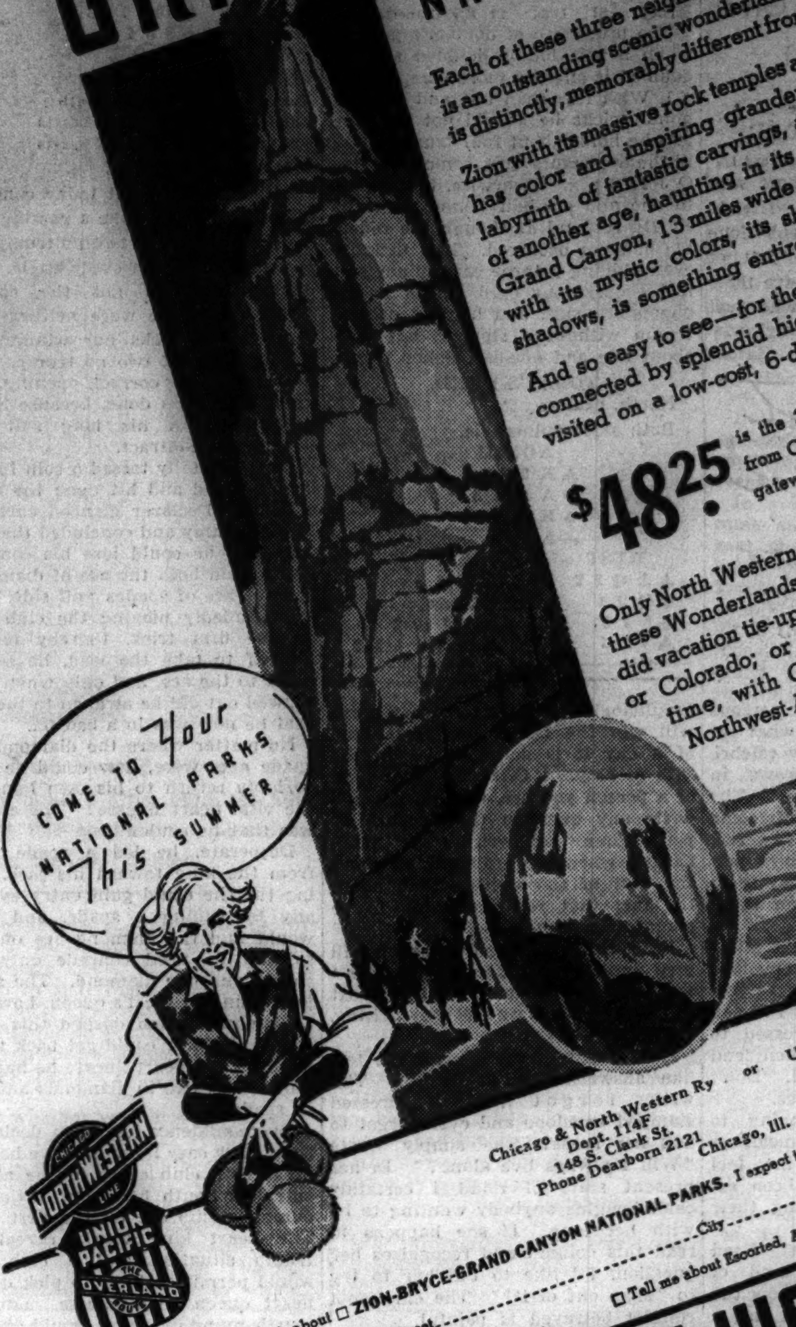
Know the Thrills of

ZION · BRYCE · GRAND CANYON ·

COLORFUL NATIONAL PARKS



Each of these three neighboring National Parks is an outstanding scenic wonderland . . . yet each is distinctly, memorably different from the others.

Zion with its massive rock temples and monoliths, has color and inspiring grandeur. Bryce is a labyrinth of fantastic carvings, a "dream city" of another age, haunting in its loveliness. And Grand Canyon, 13 miles wide and a mile deep, with its mystic colors, its shifting lights and shadows, is something entirely beyond words.

And so easy to see—for they're all in a group, connected by splendid highways, and can be visited on a low-cost, 6-day motor coach tour.

$48.25 is the 21-day round trip rail fare from Chicago to Lund, Utah, the rail gateway. (Berth extra.)

Only North Western-Union Pacific serves these Wonderlands. They make a splendid vacation tie-up, too, with Yellowstone or Colorado; or if you can spare the time, with California, the Pacific Northwest-Alaska.

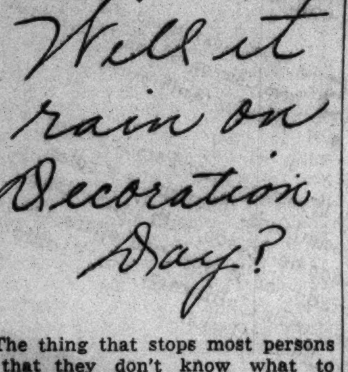
Here's the Way to Get Expert Pen Analysis

Just Follow Rules Given by Graphologist.

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

From all the persons I meet who say, "I've been going to write to you for months and I haven't done it yet!" the town must be full of persons who would like to have their handwriting analyzed but who just don't take the time.



The thing that stops most persons is that they don't know what to write! Even when I interview celebrities they wrinkle their brows in thinking of something to say. The answer is simple. Think of some question you would like answered. Never mind how trivial or how personal or how ridiculous it may seem to be. Write it. If you can think of another, write that as well.

Are you ready for the next step? Write your name on one envelope and mine on another. Be sure you have the addresses correct. Put ten cents in the envelope addressed to yourself and fold it once. Then send me that and your question. Don't forget to stamp both envelopes.

Simple, isn't it? I'm hoping to stop the deluge of I've-been-meaning-to-do-it people who make me feel absolutely guilty as if I'd been deliberately avoiding reading their handwritings.

Will I answer the question? Read today's illustration of the kind of question I mean and you'll know the answer to that. After all, I'm only a graphologist. I can't tell what horse will win the Derby nor what kind of a day it is going to be on the 30th of May. I CAN tell what kind of a person you are, though, if you'll write any question that occurs to you. Your handwriting is more natural when you are thinking about the text of the writing than about the fact that you are going to be diagnosed.

Don't think that your question will give away your character, because I won't even be able to read the text until I've analyzed the writing. Graphologists get like that.

One recent question made me feel like answering it at length. The writer forgot her self-addressed stamped envelope and even forgot to add her name! She simply wrote "Will I always live alone?" In her present state of mind I certainly can't imagine anybody wanting to be with her long. If she happens to read this column and recognizes her question, I'd like to tell her to try to "snap out of it!" The emotional conflict betrayed is painful.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

WHEN THE REDOUBLED CONTRACT IS IN A SUIT.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

The procedure of doubler's partner when a suit bid is doubled and redoubled is slightly more complicated.

1. With less than one and one-half honor tricks he should not pass unless he holds about four trump tricks in the opponents' suit, something like Q J 10 9 x x. Otherwise, holding up to one and one-half honor tricks he should respond as though the redouble had not occurred. This includes even bidding a three card minor suit if his only four card length is the opponents' suit, and bidding one no trump without a stopper, but with about one and one-half honor tricks.

TODAY'S HAND.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
2 no trump	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

Although the point today concerns play, I had better take a passing shot at North's opening two no trump bid. It was wrong from every angle. The distribution was not the correct 4-3-3-3, and there were neither sufficient honor tricks nor winners for the huge bid of two no trump. One heart was the correct opening. No great harm was done, because South persisted with his long suit and landed the contract.

West mentally tossed a coin for his opening lead and hit upon the eight of clubs. Declarer glanced cursorily at the dummy and concluded that the only way he could lose his contract was to find both the ace of diamonds and the ace of spades "off side." Absent-mindedly playing the club jack on the first trick, thereby forcing himself to take the lead, he sent a heart to the ace, and only when East showed out did he awaken to the fact that he now was in a bad fix.

No matter where the diamond and spade aces were, how could he comfortably return to his own hand for the vital heart finesse? The answer was that he couldn't.

Desperate, he led a spade away from the king toward his jack, hoping that he could gain entry eventually by ruffing a spade, and later would find the diamond ace on side so that he need concede only two spades and one diamond. The spade jack losing to West's queen, however, a diamond switch dashed this hope. Before declarer could get back to his hand for the heart finesse he had lost four tricks, two in diamonds and two in spades.

Overconfidence had been declarer's ruin. How easy it would have been to preserve a club entry in the almost entryless South hand by putting up dummy's club ace on the first play! The heart king would reveal the trump situation and a club lead would permit declarer to pick up the heart queen on a finesse. Later, a fourth round of hearts would give declarer another entry for the necessary lead toward, instead of away from, the spade king.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Dealer opened the bidding with one heart. I, second hand, held:

Here's a Sane Preventive of In-Law Rifts

Pre-Marital Discussions of Great Value.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

A mother writes saying she's in a dilemma because her son, who is her sole support, has just announced to her that he wishes to marry. He says he wants her to live with them, and the girl is perfectly willing she should. However, before they take the step he suggests that there be a meeting of the three to talk over their plans. His idea is to avoid, if possible, any of the mother-in-law, daughter-in-law trouble which very often is the outcome of a situation similar to theirs. He feels an amicable arrangement can be reached if every one will be reasonable, each willing to consider and respect the rights of the other.

A wise young man, indeed, is that son. His desire for peace negotiations beforehand is a commendable one. If more young men, who found themselves in his position, were as thoughtful, there would be less quarreling and fewer heartaches afterwards.

One mother-in-law, on being complimented on the friendly feeling existing between her and her daughters-in-law, said that she cultivated her daughters-in-law so she would not lose her sons. And if you will accept the situation in that spirit I am sure there will be as pleasant an arrangement in your home.

It is for you older women to win over your daughter-in-law by your kindness and thoughtfulness. Share your affection for your son with her. Do all the nice things you possibly can do for her. Praise her whenever the opportunity presents itself, and be sparing in your criticisms. It's when a mother-in-law attempts to boss the situation, feeling she is older and more experienced, and knows better how things should be done, failing to consult with the young bride, that trouble is bound to occur. She's irritated and says to herself she's going to fight for her rights, or what she considers to be her rights. She'll show who is boss around there. And then warfare has started.

By winning over the daughter-in-law, you may be sure you have a valuable ally, and she will see that your son shows you every attention and kindness that is your due.

Howard Gould, Third Son of Financier, Marries in Germany

New York, May 19.—[Special.]—Howard Gould, the third son of the late Jay Gould, railroad pioneer and financier, was married on Sunday in the Protestant church at Kalgenfurt, Germany, to Miss Margaret Mosheim, the daughter of Dr. Marcus and Mrs. Mosheim of Berlin. Mr. Gould, who is 67, has lived abroad for 20 years. Before settling in France on the Riviera he was a director in many corporations and a member of the New York Stock exchange.

In October, 1898, Mr. Gould married Miss Katharine Clemmons, an actress. They lived together for nine years, most of the time on Mr. Gould's yacht, Niagara, in foreign waters. Among other notables they entertained were the former Kaiser Wilhelm, the late Czar Nicholas, and the late King Oscar of Sweden. Mrs. Gould sued for a separation in 1907. She died in 1930.

Some Children Glory in Being 'Big Problem'

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

It is boring to be a repeater on good stories, but perhaps you haven't heard one of my favorites. Anyway, I'll take a chance:

A mother who had a little daughter of 12 thought she would begin to break the news about the new baby to her. She had thought it all out most carefully and decided she would start by being vague and indirect.

"Don't you think it would be nice to have a little baby sister or brother, Julie?"

There was a silence, as if the idea were sinking in, then the astonished mother heard:

"Well, mother, I really don't know. You see, I'm getting into adolescence and when you think of what a problem I'm going to be then don't you think having a baby to take care of, too, will be too much for you?"

I still chuckle over it. But I am glad my child didn't say it. If she had I would have suspected that I had been talking too much.

Yet lots of grownups do discuss children and analyze them withoin their hearing.

We also do a lot of thinking about our children having to use a lot of judgment in steering a middle course. Open analysis and dissection of the children's inner workings before them obviously is unwise—that is one extreme. But never discussing any point of behavior or ethics or why you do this or that, even at 12, is another extreme. We need to avoid both and steer a middle course.

But let us err preferably in the direction of the latter extreme rather than make our sons and daughters self-important and priggish, or too introspective. This is a kind of "modern" child training that should be disregarded. The child who can say and think "I'm a problem" has had an ill advised upbringing. It is an unwholesome sort of importance for a girl or boy to attain.

And just for fun let me tell you another old favorite of mine — a mother's joke. A woman who has a large family was listening to one of her older boys complaining about one of the younger ones.

"Mother," he said, "it's sickening how silly Al is. I tell you I'll be glad when he gets over this adulcent period!"

With which I leave you.

For suggestions on early sex education write in for my booklet by that name. It will be sent on receipt of a 3 cent, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in The Sunday Tribune.

Canadians Demand "O Canada" as Iturbi Leads British Anthem

MONTREAL, Que., May 19.—Special.]—One hundred American musicians playing in the Philadelphia orchestra, headed by José Iturbi as conductor, received something of a shock last evening when they opened their concert with "God Save the King." Shouts of protest came from various parts of the amphitheater, calling for the playing of "O Canada."

"This isn't England," shouted one man. "Give us 'O Canada,'" yelled another, both demands being made in French.

Conductor Iturbi could not oblige at that moment, not having the music. A hurried call was made and the orchestra started the second half of the concert with "O Canada," bringing thunderous applause.

Leg o' Lamb Is Traditionally a Spring Dish

It May Be Prepared in Variety of Ways.

"Modern Meat Lore," a 52-page booklet of interesting recipes and instructive meat charts giving directions for cooking the various meat cuts, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 20 cents. By mail, 23 cents in stamps. Address requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

Leg o' lamb, tender, pink, and juicy, with a garnish of currant jelly or mint sauce, is traditionally associated with springtime foods. Nowadays it's possible to buy fresh lamb the year around, but even so, roast lamb is one of the choicest delights to come tumbling from the May menu basket.

Slightly "underdone," lamb is at its best, for, as with beef, there is loss both in flavor and volume if the meat is cooked to the "well done" stage. Since meat proteins are cooked before the flesh actually changes color, pinkness of the roast does not indicate rawness. When the meat thermometer registers 175 degrees, a roast of lamb is cooked to the greatest palatability. If, however, there is a psychological aversion to a rosy hue on the part of any member of the family, leg of lamb or any other lamb roast may be cooked to 180 degrees. About 35 minutes per pound is allowed for roasting, and the oven temperature should range between 300 and 325 degrees, low oven heat.

Any cut of lamb is tender enough for broiling or roasting, and this means that there should be no cover on the roasting pan. Neither should water be added.

If the bone in a lamb leg is removed at the market, there are several interesting methods of treating the roast to give it distinction.

French Style Leg of Lamb.

1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 shallot, chopped finely
1 clove bruised garlic
1 onion, sliced
1 carrot, sliced
Salt, pepper

Leave the "fell" or thin, paperlike covering of the lamb in place. Mix parsley, shallot, and garlic, season with salt and pepper, and rub the mixture on the inner surface of the cavity. Place the lamb in a roaster, season well with salt and pepper, and roast uncovered at 325 degrees for 35 minutes per pound. Add onion and carrot as soon as the meat has started to cook and there are drippings in the pan. Make gravy from drippings and onion and carrot left in the roasting pan.

Stuffed Leg of Lamb.

7 or 8 pound leg of lamb, boned
1½ cups cooked ham, chopped finely
½ cup bread crums
¼ cup melted butter
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 tablespoon minced celery
1 egg
½ clove minced garlic

Combine ingredients for stuffing, adding a little pepper and salt if necessary. Stuff the leg and sew or skewer the opening. Place the roast on a rack in an open pan and cook at 325 degrees, allowing 35 minutes per pound.

The vegetables which blend well with the delicate individual flavor of lamb, and which therefore should have first consideration when a lamb dinner is being planned, are peas, tomatoes, beats, new carrots, turnips, string beans, asparagus, squash, salsify, new onions, and artichokes.

Currant-Mint Sauce for Lamb.

1 glass currant jelly
3 tablespoons chopped fresh mint
Rind ½ orange, shredded

Beat jelly with a silver fork and add finely chopped mint and shredded orange rind. Beat all together and serve as an accompaniment for lamb.

Bori to Sing at Opening of Ravinia Park

Season Will Start July 1 with Opera Concert.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MEMORIES of those golden days when Lucrezia Bori was the reigning opera queen of Ravinia Park will be revived with the announcement by the Ravinia Park Festival association that the opening performance this season, Thursday evening, July 1, will be a gala one in honor of Louis Eckstein, who started and in large part supported Ravinia for many years, and that Bori will be one of the singers that night.

"You will not be able to get her," said every one in the know when the program committee, of which Howard Will is chairman, began making advances toward this charming soprano who has retired from the Metropolitan and is singing very little these days.

But get her the committee did, and, because she graciously is waiving her usual fee, there will be very little advance in prices for this gala operatic concert with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Mario Chamlee, Tenor, and Leon Rothier, bass, will be the other singers that night, and Gennaro Papi will be the conductor.

Plans for Season Revealed at Luncheon.

The announcement was made at a luncheon given yesterday at the Arts club for the ticket committee, of which Charles Z. Henkle and Gordon Lang are co-chairmen. Howell Murray, chairman of the guarantee committee, presided in the absence of the chairman of the association, Willoughby G. Walling, who is ill. Mr. Murray made the gratifying statement that a guarantee fund of $42,000 has been raised, and he put it up to the ticket committee to see that the guarantors received as large, or larger, a percentage of their guarantee back this year than they did last. Seventy-five per cent of what they subscribed was returned at the end of last season.

Renslow Sherer, vice chairman of the festival association, told of the increase in creature comforts there will be at the park this summer, including better acoustics and more ample parking accommodations. There will be places in every north shore town where tickets can be purchased, which will greatly facilitate matters for those wishing to attend the concerts.

Ticket Chairman for Each Suburb.

Mr. Will, who told of the program arranged for the six week season; Mr. Henkle, and Mrs. Hazel Moore, who is Ray Schaeffer's "right hand man" in the public relations department of the association, completed the list of speakers at the luncheon. "Will there be beer?" asked some one when the matter of the refreshment pavilion was under discussion. "No," emphatically replied Mr. Murray, "but if we were not in a dry area we might be able to return the entire guarantee fund."

Mrs. Keith Carpenter is in charge of ticket sales for Lake Forest; Robert S. Adler for Highland Park; Mrs. James M. Murphey for Ravinia; John E. Davis for Glencoe; Mrs. Ernst Von Ammon for Winnetka; Mrs. Elmer D. Becker for Wilmette; Mrs. T. Weller Kimball for Kenilworth, and Arthur W. Rogers for Evanston.

On Friday, Saturday, and Sunday night and Sunday afternoon, July 2, 3, and 4, the Chicago Symphony orchestra will perform under the direction of Sir Ernest MacMillan, conductor of the Toronto Symphony orchestra.

Following Sir Ernest's four concerts, the following conductors will take the baton for four concerts each: Ernest Ansermet, Hans Kindler, Hans Lange, Vladimir Golschmann, and Fritz Reiner.

The festival is to consist of six weeks of four Chicago Symphony orchestra programs each, on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon. The first week has an extra program on Sunday night.

The soloists will be José Iturbi, pianist, on July 2, 3, 4 [two performances], and Mischa Mischakoff, violinist, on July 17.

THIS morning we give you:

—The colored tailor who has a small pressing and repair shop in a corner of the old Temple Bar building who has paid his rent in cash every day for twenty years.

Individualists and Oddments.

—The investment banker who lists his hobbies on his letterhead along with his address and telephone number as follows: "Hobbies: Fishing, Hunting, Hiking, Vacationing, Good Roads."

—The busy woman, a speaker at the Junior League conference told about, who never had neglected her duties, social or charitable. She was indefatigable and when she died her husband had engraved on her tombstone, "The Only Stone She Left Unturned."

—The woman [Mrs. G. F. Stephenson of East 80th street], whose TRIBUNE has been tied to a heavy piece of string weighted with a disc from her food chopper and hauled up to her third floor apartment every morning for years.

—The elevator starter in a South La Salle street building whose quarter million pile has been made operating on the street. He has a telephone in the lobby over which he transacts his business between signals to the car operators.

—Little Lambert, in the first grade at the Miller school in Evanston, who reported excitedly to his mother, after listening to the British coronation ceremonies over the radio, "Mamma, the queen had a train five yards long and it was held up by six trained bears."

—The gas station attendant who does his mathematical additions on his thumbnail.

—The bon voyage present a north shore woman received—a tube of what appear to be the kind of lozenges that dissolve in water to be drunk for your health, that unfold, like Japanese water flowers into individual wash cloths, soaped and fragrant.

Good Art Show Closes Season for Hoosiers

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

An unusually satisfactory group of paintings has been brought together as the last exhibition of the season at the Hoosier gallery, 211 West Wacker drive. In September a new season will open with an exhibit of etchings. This final show of the current season consists of oils and water colors. The paintings are by artist members of the association.

There are interesting landscapes and decorative flower still lifes on the walls. A man who handles water color as brilliantly as any American painter today is Edgar Forkner; his "Daisies and Delphiniums" stands out in this exhibit as one of the most vigorous and beautiful pictures displayed. It is stunning.

One of our most popular painters is Frank V. Dudley; Mr. Dudley contributes three dune landscapes, the most interesting being, perhaps, "The Conquest," trees slowly giving up their struggle with the encroaching sand.

Marques Reitzel is represented by "The River Road," which will be remembered from the Hoosier salon held last winter. It is a fine piece of painting, dramatic in its suggestion of hovering storm. Clay Kelly shows the loveliest landscape in the show, "Cathedral Spires," cloud formations towering above a foreground of trees and river whose beauty is doubled in the reflections shadowed in the clear water.

A decorative still life built upon an Indian theme is the contribution of Sadie Lowes, who is making an enviable reputation for herself in her exquisite still life painting. She handles her compositions with the meticulous precision of a miniature painter and her choice of colors is fascinating.

Lillian Alt shows a decorative arrangement of flowers. Joe Spurgeon, who usually paints in oils, gives us a charming glimpse of New Orleans, "The Doorway," done in water color. "An Arrangement," by Jane K. Yung, flowers—fresh and delicate—is lovely.

"Snow of Harden Hollow" by Curry Bohm is a gorgeous winter landscape. Lucie Hartrath shows "Misty Morning," painted with feeling, and Esther Ruble Richardson offers a striking still life, tulips in a bowl.

The exhibition will continue to June 20.

MOVIE CLOSEUP

American movie fans can have "front row seats" at the coronation of King George of Great Britain.

All Balaban & Katz theaters in Chicago are showing a ten minute Paramount news reel devoted entirely to the coronation. It was the first time that motion picture cameramen were permitted inside Westminster abbey, and all the highlights of England's impressive pageant were covered. The actual placing of the crown is shown and the king is heard speaking.

ENGAGEMENTS

From St. Louis, Mo., comes the announcement of the engagement of Miss Helen Elizabeth Meek, daughter of Mrs. Mildred McNair Meek to Earl V. Kesinger of the Edgewater Beach hotel. Miss Meek, who is the granddaughter of Federal Judge and Mrs. E. R. Meek of Dallas, Tex., is a graduate of the Holland Hall school in Tulsa, Okla., and made her debut three seasons ago in St. Louis. The wedding will take place early this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Millard, 9554 South Damen avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Alyce Louise, to Albert E. Wilson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Wilson, 9802 South Seeley avenue. Miss Mildred studied at the University of Illinois, and her fiancé attended the University of Kansas.

WEDDING

Mrs. Henry John Koll of Wilmette announces the marriage on May 1 at the Wilmette Methodist church of her daughter, Hazel, to Arthur Jackson Moss. Mr. and Mrs. Moss have returned from a honeymoon in Denver, Estes Park, and Cheyenne.

Dixiana Showboat to Tour Great Lakes with 'Tobacco Road'

The showboat Dixiana, a picturesque feature of Chicago's theatrical life for several years, was dedicated yesterday to a cruise of the Great Lakes with "Tobacco Road" aboard. Its first location will be near Chicago.

Sam H. Grisman and Jack Kirkland, impresarios of "Tobacco Road," and the Dixiana owners will operate on a percentage basis. The play has been banned in Chicago and other cities. Jacob Weller, secretary of the Dixiana group, will be the business manager. He plans to secure docking privileges and theatrical licenses at leading cities on the lakes.

May 28 has been fixed for the opening in the suburban region of Chicago. The location has not been decided. The managers of "Tobacco Road" are now rehersing a cast in New York. The actor for the central rôle of Jeeter has not been chosen, but Calvin Thomas and Blaine Cordner are leading candidates.

The Dixiana is a large barge rebuilt into a commodious theater with a restaurant and dance floor on the upper deck. It was brought to Chicago in the summer of 1934. It went into receivership in December, 1935.

Jackie Searle Wants to Be a Plain Jack

Expert in Meanie Roles Fears Sissy Tag.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., May 19.—[Special.]—Jackie Searle, who has played meanie in films with success, is now in his third year of high school, is approaching his 15th birthday, and has told his agent to notify studios officially that he will be "Jack" and not "Jackie" Searle in the future.

"I'll be a grown up 'heavy' in pictures pretty soon," the boy said, "and I think Jackie sounds sort of sissy for the name of a villain."

Universal studio rented several miles of mountain track and two railway trains from the Southern Pacific railroad to shoot scenes of its "Westbound Limited" on a side road in the Santa Cruz mountains. The picture features Lyle Talbot and Polly Rowles, with Ford Beebe directing.

Twentieth Century-Fox is looking for an actor to double for Kaiser Wilhelm in "Lancer Spy."

According to publicity from Grand National studios, John Barrymore has suggested that the studio film a screen version of the English stage play, "The Royal Box," with himself as the star and his recently divorced wife, Elaine Barrie, as leading woman. Edward L. Alperson, president of the film corporation, held two conferences with Barrymore and Miss Barrie about it, says the announcement.

Gene Raymond designed his own idea of what a lunch box should be and had a studio carpenter build the box for him. He uses it to carry his own noonday viands to the studio. The box is 15x8 inches and 10 inches deep. It carries three thermos bottles, one for hot soup, one for hot coffee or cold milk, and the third for cocoa, which Gene likes to sip when the English actors have tea. There is a special compartment for salads.

All the time her new husband, Manuel Del Campo, was in Cedars of Lebanon hospital for a tonsil operation Mary Astor kept an open telephone line waiting for news about him at United Artists studio. She is playing the wife of the French governor of an island in the Pacific in "Hurricane."

Brig. Gen. Reginald D. Napier-Raikes, British army, retired, at one time was governor of the province of Calabar in Nigeria. Most of his active soldiering was in Africa.

Many studios are going in for "singing cowboy stars." Grand National has Tex Ritter. Warners has Dick Foran. Principal Pictures just signed Smith Ballew from the radio. And now Monogram has signed Addison Randall, who spent two years studying music in Milan.

Francis X. Shields, former American Davis cup tennis star, is playing leading man in "The Hoosier School Boy," his best film rôle to date. Shields was put under a movie contract about 18 months ago and played in Sam Goldwyn's "Come and Get It," Republic studio's "Cappy Ricks," and Goldwyn's "Stella Dallas," which is as yet uncompleted.

Most of the months during which Shields has been on Producer Goldwyn's pay roll he has been paid for learning acting. He has understudied the main male rôles in all of Goldwyn's 1936 and 1937 pictures. "The Hoosier School Boy" stars 15 year old Mickey Rooney.

Because his hobby was collecting ship models, Scenarist Preston Sturges today found himself under contract to C. B. De Mille for the latter's current opus, "The Buccaneer." One of Sturges' miniature ships—an early 19th century pirate craft, was seen by De Mille and used by the latter for the model to which he ordered the film ship built. In the course of talking to Sturges De Mille learned that the writer had a head full of lore about pirates, so De Mille invited the writer to spend the week-end with him aboard the De Mille yacht Seaward, going over the story of "Buccaneer," and signed him on the film pay roll. Sturges' collection of miniature ships is valued at $100,000.

It isn't often that a film writer gets the chance to act her own lines, but Cathryn Turney, who was on the writing staf for Greta Garbo's "Madame Walewska," so impressed Producer Bernie Hymans with her good looks that Hymans will have her enact a bit in the Napoleonic story.

Tex Ritter, singing cowboy, and Death Valley Scotty had a difference at Las Vegas, Nev., last week over which notable should lead the wild west parade featuring the Nevada town's annual "Hell Dorado" celebration. Scotty led the real parade and then Ritter led another which was filmed by movie cameras for Ritter's current film story, "Frontier Town."

Peter Yance is a farm boy in Antelope valley, northeast of Los Angeles. He was very obliging when he came upon a motorist whose car had broken down in Mint canyon. With Peter's help the motorist was able to get out of the canyon, and when he did he introduced himself to the boy as Lee Tracy and invited the boy to come to Los Angeles and spend a day going through the studios and visiting a night club as Tracy's guest.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Here are hair styles that have been created with one of the simplest and most efficient curlers for home use, an ingenius little metal rod used in conjunction with bob pins. Variety is possible with this easy-to-manage aid to hair beauty, and there's even a junior size for would-be Shirley Temples.

With hair styles the way they are, all curled end and little rolls here and there, it's practically a full time job to keep well coifed. Unless you've naturally curly hair which just stays put nicely you either have to duck into the beauty shop every couple of days or do some tall amateur hair dressing at home.

There are remarkably few women deft at curling or waving their own hair. We've read reams of stuff which makes it sound easy, but it never was easy for us until we stumbled on an automatic hair curler last year. Butter fingered as we always are at such things, even we could make elegant little curls with this.

Now there's a junior size in this curler, for training your darling daughter's locks. If there's hint of a curl in that there crowning glory these little curlers will encourage it into full blown beauty. Even if there isn't you can do a good job of giving Shirley Temple competition.

But whether your interest in home-made curls is inspired by your own or your chee-ild's coiffure problem this is a good gadget. It's heatless, we hasten to add, and a 10 year old should be able to operate it.

It's a round little rod used in conjunction with bobby pins. The hair is dampened with water or waving solution; when the dampened hair is curled around the rod the rod is withdrawn, leaving a perfect curl held firmly in place with a bob pin underneath where it doesn't show. The bob pin is removed when the hair is dry. All you need is the one curler and a flock of bobby pins.

This is a great help to hair grooming, we think. It's simple, efficient, speedy—and inexpensive. Two dozen of the necessary bob pins are packaged with each curler.

Here Are Historical Facts on Powder Used as Cosmetic

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

From the research bureau of one of the big cosmetic houses come some interesting oddities about powder [face and hair varieties].

Anne Boleyn, it is reported, on the day before her death remarked to her ladies in waiting: "It is high time that the headsman did his work, for I have not a grain of powder left, and the king doubtless would carry his cruelty to the extent of not allowing me any more." Finely powdered starch and orris root are the reported ingredients in the ill fated Anne's powder.

The origin of hair powdering, the research bureau found, was most unusual in that the nuns in the French convents about the end of the 16th century started the custom, not to add to their beauty, but to make the hair appear gray and to give them a venerable and aged look. They abruptly stopped the practice when it was taken over by the then current sirens who saw in powdered hair a new beauty and youthfulness.

The Empress Eugénie, we learn, set the style in 1860 of using gold powder on the hair.

Certain philosophers of the period wrote bitterly against the extensive use of powders, declaring that "the flour used in Paris every day would easily feed 10,000 people." And one of William Pitt's methods of raising revenue was to tax hair powder. He estimated that the amount of flour consumed annually for this purpose in the United Kingdom represented the incredible sum of $6,000,000.

We could accuse the $6,000,000 annually of being a mere drop in the bucket compared to what is spent for face powder today. Whether a woman has no other single cosmetic, it is said, she has her powder.

Smart Jackets and Caps Sport Bright Colors

Embroidered Motifs to Dominate Styles.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Most of the designers are having such a good time with embroidered motifs that everything you'll wear this summer will be gay with color. The last arrivals are of a roughish crash sort of material, fashioning neat, fitted, short jackets, skull caps to match, and some hand bags. All are positively Victorian with small floral fancies in colored thread all over the costume.

Dull black, carefully but smartly embroidered, fashions inexpensive and effective costume accessories that every one can use.

In a smart shoe shop you'll find some exceptional embroidered footgear, clever snappy sandals of coarse linen embroidered in small patterns. The heels and toes are "out," there's an ankle strap and a good high heel. Again the blacks are the ideal street models. The tiny designs feature green, yellow, and red. There are stunning bags, belts, and gloves to match. You can't buy anything better to wear with dark sheers for downtown shopping or for wear with all-white clothes away from town.

Next in popularity come the dark wine red, also sprinkled with the small embroidered designs. The red is a flattering tone that goes with every street color. It dramatizes all colors as well as the black numbers.

Dead white, a natural linen or beige color and a good blue also are featured in belts, bags, sandals, hats, and gloves. All have low price marks.

SYNOPSIS.

Brave Alida French prepares to open up Avalon, the ancestral home she has inherited on the Massachusetts coast, for paying guests—though the house, according to local gossip, is haunted. Four men have vanished from it. Her guests are to be Vance, a young man with a fatal heart ailment; Dr. Eugene Benedict, struggling young physician, and his wife, Lucy, a nurse. Bing Haven, her family lawyer's nephew, assists Alida. Alida hires Comfort Folger, who used to work at Avalon, also her nephew Nat, and Abram Parsons, whom Comfort refuses to marry because of his drinking. Mary, a servant girl, is scared away by a dancing skeleton. Vance and the Benedicts, driving to Avalon, collide with the car of the rich, neurotic Mrs. Kirkpatrick, and her daughter, Spring. They take them with them to Avalon. At their first dinner Alida looks out the window and sees the skeleton. Bing Haven is attracted by Spring.

INSTALMENT XXII.

AVALON'S WHITE OWL.

Hearing music and laughter and the chatter of youth coming from the living room of the old house, as she worked in her kitchen, Comfort Folger's dark mask softened.

"Folks," she muttered to Abram, who was reading his Gazette at the kitchen table. "Young folks talkin' an' a-laughin'! Strange sounds in the old house."

Abram, man of few words, looked at her over the top of his newspaper.

"'Twunt last," he predicted. "Flyin' in the face o' Providence, I call it." His voice dropped. "They wunt like it," he underlined, and returned to his newspaper.

Any one who knew Comfort Folger, with the single exception of Abram Parsons, would have expected an outbreak after that speech, and would have heard one. Abram neither expected nor received it. Comfort's mask settled over her face again as definitely as if she had adjusted it there. She moved about the kitchen with soft steps unconsciously adapting her usual bustling progress to Abram's presence. It had been a triumph to get Abram into the kitchen of late and to keep him there in the evenings. Abram had been one of those who for fourteen years had ostentatiously boycotted the inside of Avalon.

Propped against her pillows in her comfortable upstairs room, Mrs. Kirkpatrick heard the carefree sounds below and smiled contentedly. She was making out a list of the books she intended to read in the coming month. It held 80 per cent of fiction to twenty of travel and biography.

She was making out a list of the books she intended to read.

The fiction was of a high quality. Lucy, herself a reader, thought well of the list.

"There's a new young man down stairs," she told Mrs. Kirkpatrick. "I recognize his voice. He's the nephew of Miss French's lawyer."

"Spring will be enraptured," the patient said briefly.

At 9 o'clock Lucy took her patient's temperature.

"There's no sense in keeping this chart," she said brusquely as she entered the record. "Your pulse and temperature are perfectly normal. They've been normal ever since you entered the house. When Dr. Benedict took your blood pressure before dinner he found it one hundred and forty. You couldn't ask anything better than that. I don't think one woman in ten thousand could show a finer record at your age."

"Probably not, at my age," the patient agreed. "That's why I take care of myself. I'm in the pink because I've done that. But when fate has been making a football of me, and when careless young men bang their cars into mine, I feel that a halt by the wayside is indicated. That's sound, isn't it?"

"It's very sound," Lucy cheerfully agreed.

"Now that's settled," Mrs. Kirkpatrick suggested, "you'd better run downstairs and amuse yourself with your friends. I shall not need you till I'm ready to turn out the lights. That won't be till eleven. My plan is to sleep nine or ten hours every night. You will surely approve of that. You can be sleeping at the same time."

"It's the best suggestion I've heard yet," Lucy agreed warmly. The two women exchanged a look of smiling understanding. Then Lucy went to the window to draw the faded chintz curtains forward over the window panes. As she looked out into the rain-washed darkness she thought she saw something large and white and motionless perched in a nearby tree, but she was not sure. Neither was she greatly interested. Nat had certainly removed any spectral qualities from the Avalon owl and his habits.

Her patient spoke sharply.

"What are you looking at?"

"An owl, I think," Lucy said indifferently. "He's quite near. I was just hoping he wouldn't be moved to perform and keep you awake."

"I hope not." The other spoke absently. She had returned to her list and was wondering whether to add to it an improving work she had successfully avoided for two years.

Down in the living room Lucy found Bing overworking his social charm. He had, it appeared, the best sailboat on the coast. He kept it in the harbor at Quinnet, and during the normal spring weather which had preceded the present storm he had had it overhauled and put into commission. Also there was at the harbor a local institution known as Capt. Bye's motor boat." Bing suggested a sailing party for the first clear day.

Bing turned on the vocalion again, seized Spring, and swung her into a tango. Benedict joined the dancers with Alida.

"While you and Vance were talking, and our infants were dancing earlier in the evening," he began. "I heard Miss Kirkpatrick telling the story of her life to young Haven. It seems to have been an odyssey of Europe. She had been to half a dozen schools there—several in France, two in Switzerland, one in England. She didn't come home for vacations. If she wasn't invited to pass them with schoolmates—and she usually was—her mother came over and took her on European tours to improve her mind. She has only been in America once before. That was one summer when she was a small girl. Her mother was taking one of her numerous rest cures—it seems she has the habit. The kid spent that summer as a paying guest on a Wyoming ranch. This year, it seems, Spring simply took the bit in her teeth. She was fed up with knowing nothing about her own country. She sailed for home and cabled her mother the first day out that she was on her way. Rather unusual, wasn't it? One gets the impression that her society was not indispensable to mama's happiness."

Alida agreed without great interest.

"Everything is so unusual just now," she pointed out, "that it's only the usual that surprises one. I must admit that with this attitude I haven't had many surprises lately."

"You're going to have one now," Benedict predicted. "Everything is going to run beautifully. Mrs. Kirkpatrick is the type of woman whose jaw line terrifies me; but she's also the type that's perfectly good as long as it is having its own way. You won't have any trouble there. Vance's absorption in you made me think Spring might have a rather dull time of it. But here comes Bing, like young Lochinvar, especially created for the rôle of entertainer to young girls."

Alida smiled at him.

"You're not very observant," she murmured, as she followed his expert lead past the pieces of furniture the young men had not taken the trouble to push out of the way.

"Just what do you mean by that?" He was interested, as any man is when the talk turns on him.

"If you had been observant," Alida explained, "you would have noticed that Mr. Vance, delightful as he is, is really interested in exactly one human being—himself."

Benedict nodded.

"I had noticed it," he admitted. "I thought perhaps you hadn't."

"I had—almost from the first. Much of his self-absorption, of course, is caused by the jolt Dr. Cunningham has given him. He's a young man playing a game. He doesn't care much for the game, but he's got to do something to divert his mind, so he plays it—hard. He flirts and chatters and makes himself agreeable. All the time he hardly knows we're on earth. In a way, he's interested in Avalon and its ghosts. He wants to get to the bottom of the ghost scares. Well, I'm with him there. I want him to. But as to doing it for me, or being absorbed in me, as you said, that's a million miles from the truth. He's too absorbed in his own emotions and his own reactions to give much thought to anybody."

Advance news of styles for the coming season is given in Clotilde's big 32 page Spring and Summer Fashion Book. You can easily follow any of the patterns shown in the 300 sketches and photos it contains. The book tells and shows what movie stars are wearing, their ideas on clothes, beauty and sports, and other information of interest. Get your copy at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 15 cents, or 20 cents for the book and one Clotilde pattern, if ordered at the same time.

nett Frank Buie of Patrick, S. C. The Peirce family lived in Winnetka for ten years before moving to Virginia several years ago. Miss Peirce was graduated from Kemper Hall in Kenosha, Wis., and Vassar college, class of 1936. The last winter she has been teaching near Warrenton.

Mr. Buie was graduated from the University of South Carolina and has spent two years at Lehigh and Harvard universities doing graduate work in geology. He recently has been employed by an oil company for work in foreign fields. No date for the wedding has been set.

Martha Williams to Be Fall Bride.

A romance that has grown out of the wedding last August of Miss Charlotte Robertson to James L. Rose is being climaxed today with the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Williams of Glencoe of the engagement of their daughter, Martha Leigh, to V. William Wallin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Wallin of Oak Park.

Mr. Wallin was best man at the Rose-Robertson wedding, and he and Miss Williams, who is one of Mrs. Rose's close friends, first met at the prenuptial parties given for the former Miss Robertson.

Miss Williams attended Northwestern university. Her fiancé is a graduate of the University of Illinois. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

Thomas Lee Wilson Weds Tacoma Girl.

Announcement is made by Charles Steele of Tacoma, Wash., of the marriage on May 4 of his daughter, Pauline, to Thomas Lee Wilson, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Alfred Lee Wilson of Chicago. Dr. Wilson, rector of the Kenwood church, officiated at the service in the Wilson home.

Miss Betty Lee Wilson was her sister-in-law's only attendant. The bride is a graduate of the University of Washington. The bridegroom was graduated from the University of Wooster, the University of Washington, and received his degree of doctor of philosophy from the University of Chicago. He and his bride will make their home in New York.

The junior Frederick A. Pooles have cards out for a cocktail party tomorrow afternoon in their apartment at 1366 Dearborn parkway. They are entertaining for a recent bride and bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Brien [Emeline Bush].

Dean Dickinson Guest in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt J. Denman entertained at dinner at their home in Wilmette last night for Dean Edwin Dewitt Dickinson of the school of jurisprudence, University of California, and Mrs. Dickinson, who are the guests until tomorrow of the N. W. MacChesneys in Chicago. James F. Oates of Evanston is giving a luncheon at the University club today for Dean Dickinson, who also is professor of international law at the school.

Mr. Dickinson came to Chicago to address the Illinois State Bar association.

Mrs. J. Ogden Armour moved recently from the Lake Shore drive apartment she has occupied for some years to the one at 2450 Lake View avenue she purchased from Noble B. Judah. Mrs. Armour is recuperating nicely from the heart attack she suffered about two months ago and will be moving out to her new Lake Forest home a bit later in the season.

Mrs. Armour's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell, are in California, where recently at their Juan y Lolita rancho in the beautiful Santa Ynez valley the Rancheros Visitadores broke camp after their annual fiesta. The Rancheros Visitadores is a sort of preview of the annual old Spanish days fiesta at Santa Barbara in August, for the ranchowners and cattle men from the whole state gather in Santa Barbara then.

Samuel Insulls to Go to Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull are making plans to go abroad early next month but they will not go together for she is going to France and he to England. Martin Insull will accompany his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull Jr. still retain their apartment at the Pearson hotel, for they occupy their house in Geneva only over week-ends.

Mrs. Bertram Winston and her daughter, Miss Muriel Winston, are stopping in New York for several days on their way home after a winter in Florida. They will reach Chicago next Sunday or Monday.

Mrs. William E. Clow Jr. and Miss Mary Melville Clow, who spent the winter in Honolulu, now are in New York for a spring sojourn. They will return to Lake Forest about June 1.

Mr. and Mrs. George Henry High, who have been at the Drake hotel since returning from a winter in Palm Beach, are planning to go to England near the end of June. Their daughter, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Jr., arrived at home yesterday from a trip to Mexico which she took on her way home from the Bowen ranch at Castle Hot Springs, Ariz., where she and Mr. Bowen spent the winter.

The Highs' other daughter, Lady Burney, lives in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Harney Bassett and the George Senseneys are leaving today for a four or five day fishing expedition in northern Wisconsin.

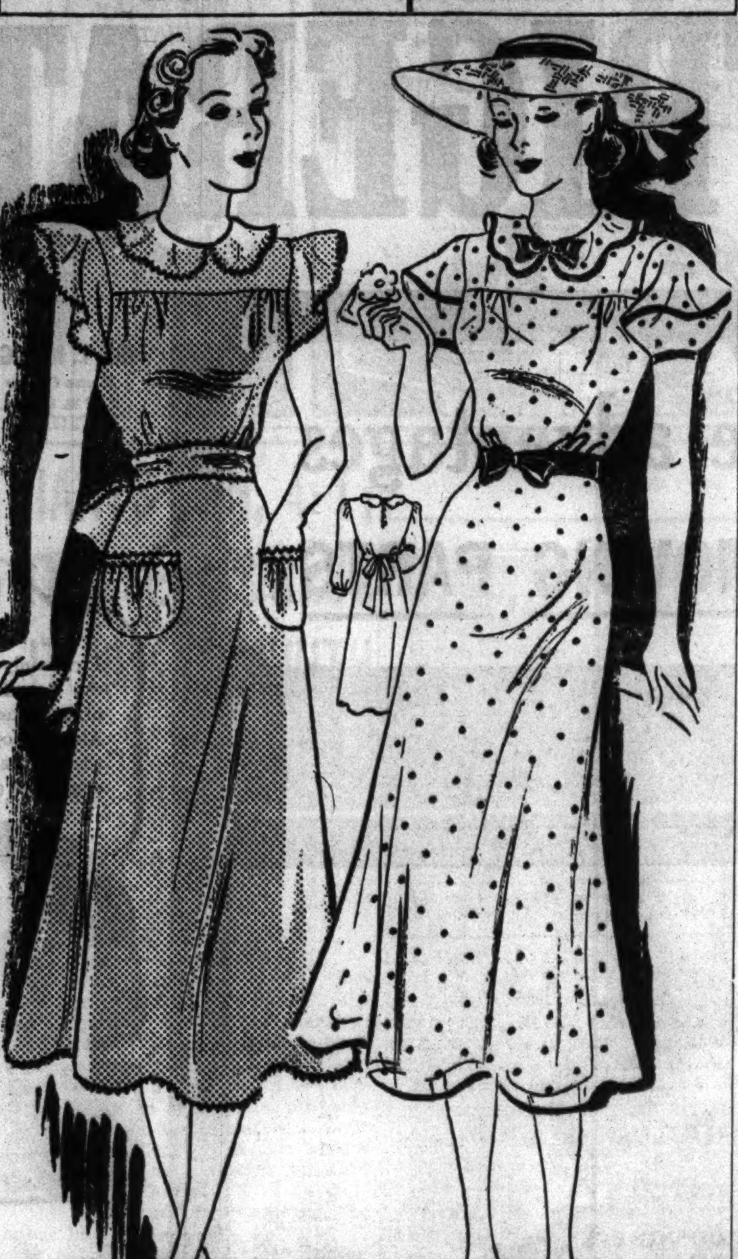
Modish in Crisp Materials



2512

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Crisp fabrics have a way of making one feel cool no matter how hot the weather. All day long most of us are busy with varied activities around the home, and we must appear fresh and dainty all the time. This frock should fill the bill for comfort and for chic, too. It takes beautifully to crisp swiss and organdy. It has a brief collar at the high, round neckline and clever little wing sleeves. The bodice is shirred ever so little under the squared yoke. A tight sash keeps the waistline trim and slim, and ties gracefully in the back. The pockets on the flared skirt take to plenty of gathers. Rickrack braid is called in for trimming honors.

If you want a dressier model for informal afternoon and evening occasions, select the version of the frock illustrated at the right. This model possesses sleeves which perk up for fare-thee-well because of the crispness of the material. Bias binding trims this model, and it is just as easy to use as is rickrack braid. Shiny ribbon may be used for the neckline bow and the belt. It performs the same function as lether, and yet is much cooler.

Style No. 2512 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of 35 inch contrasting and 4 yards of binding.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Offer Flags to Scouts.

A request for an American flag, recently printed in this column, brought in a number of offers, and we now have surplus flags which we will be glad to place with Boy or Girl Scouts or other interested persons. They are 3x5 feet or larger. Letters requesting them will be forwarded to the donors for selection.

Oberlin Alumni.

Seven hundred alumni of Oberlin college will hold a reunion Saturday evening at the Lake Shore Athletic club. Students and faculty members will give a dramatized summary of the school's various functions and departments. Larry Gill, senior student and band leader, will be master of ceremonies. Robert MacFarland, vice president of the Chicago alumni group, will be in charge.

Past Masters Booted About, but Good Show

Writer Catches Up with Them After Chase.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

If you don't mind hare and hounds you might try catching up with NBC's Past Masters program some evening. It has been an exciting chase but we finally overtook them Tuesday evening after a mighty leap over the final barrier—a Junior league broadcast that preceded them. The Past Masters, by the way, are the Philip Manuel-Gavin Williamson harpsichord ensemble.

They have been much booted about on the program schedules—first on Wednesday evenings and latterly on Tuesdays. They last were heard at 9:45 p. m. Tuesday; next week they will be off altogether—so you might try finding them Tuesday, June 1.

These harpsichordists, aided by Dorothy Lane at another such an outmoded instrument, an organist and vocal soloist do an extraordinary job with the 18th century music of Handel, Bach, Stamitz, Scarlatti, Mozart, most of it little known, but very pleasant to the ear. And surprisingly enough, this old-fashioned instrument is startlingly effective over the microphone, much more so than the piano. The Past Masters program is aired from Chicago studios. Every week Manuel and Williamson have their heavy instruments carted from their south side studios down to the Merchandise mart. It is a lot of bother for a sustaining program. But if you once hear it you will say it is worth the trouble. Fine music, skilfully presented.

Wendell Hall, leader of the CBS Community Sing en route from Hollywood to New York, is stopping over for two broadcasts and a little ceremony at Mayor Kelly's office this afternoon. The State street council, which adopted Wendell's song, "Rhythm of State Street," as its official tune recently, has arranged to have him present the autographed manuscript of the song to Mayor Kelly at City hall at 4 p. m. today. Earlier—at 2 p. m.—he will sing the song on Eddie and Fannie Cavanaugh's program on WBBM, and again at 8 a. m. tomorrow on the Musical Clock on same station.

Haven McQuarrie is bringing his "Do You Want to Be An Actor Show" to the State Lake theater Friday. Auditions begin backstage at the theater at 2 p. m. today. Actors voted most talented at end of week gets a trip to Hollywood and Warner Brothers screen test.

The Lawyers' Legislative league is opening a new dramatic series on Chicago's 100 years over WLS at 8 tonight. Mayor Kelly will speak. First episode will deal with the signing of Chicago's charter and election of William B. Ogden as mayor.

"Yellow Cosmos" Quilt Attractive in Rose Shades

Yellow Cosmos.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Yellow Cosmos" is a comparatively new design, since no example has been found among old time patterns. The color need not necessarily be yellow, but of shades varying from pink to deep rose. The block is not difficult to applique, and the patches are simple, enabling the beginning quilt maker to try her hand on one of the easier floral patterns before attempting a more elaborate floral motif. The blocks measure 11½ inches square, and are set together in an alternate arrangement with plain blocks and surrounded by a 4 inch white border and a one-half inch blue bias binding.

Junior League Asks More Articles, Less Fiction, in Magazine

Junior league delegates yesterday voted for less fiction and more articles on real life in their national magazine. Mrs. Faxon Saunders of New York, editor of the magazine, had asked the delegates to the national conference of the Association of Junior Leagues of America, Inc., now being held in Chicago, to choose between the two. The great majority said they would like to read more about national problems and politics.

Dudley Crafts Watson of the Art institute of Chicago spoke at the conference luncheon on "The System of Awards for Art Exhibits." More than 200 entries from Junior league art exhibits were inspected during the day. Last night regional dinners were held.

The conference will be resumed today with a meeting at the Woman's Athletic club, a luncheon for the Canadian leagues, and a dinner at the Arts club.

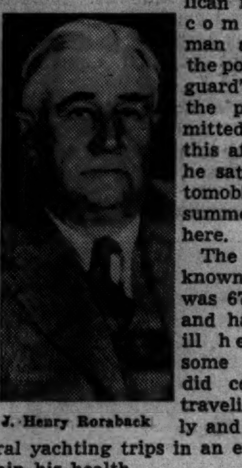
RORABACK, 'OLD GUARD' LEADER, KILLS HIMSELF

Ends Life with Gun in His Car at Summer Home.

South Harwinton, Conn., May 19.—[Special.]—J. Henry Roraback, Republican national committeeman and one of the powerful "old guard" leaders of the party, committed suicide this afternoon as he sat in his automobile at his summer home here.



J. Henry Roraback

The nationally known politician was 67 years old and had been in ill health for some time. He did considerable traveling recently and made several yachting trips in an effort to regain his health.

Dr. Winchfield Wright of Thomaston, the first medical man to arrive on the scene, and Dr. H. B. Hanchett of Torrington agreed the death was a suicide.

Son at Telephone.

Roraback's son, Lewis, and Homer Judd of Bristol reported that the party leader had spent the morning quietly reading and smoking. Lewis said he heard a sharp crack outside as he was telephoning his mother, at Roraback's request, in connection with their proposed trip to Hartford by motor.

A few moments later an employé at the lodge found Roraback lying on the ground at the side of his automobile in the driveway. A revolver lay near by.

Dr. Hanchett said blood on the car seat indicated Roraback had been sitting in the machine when the shot was fired and fell out across the running board to the ground.

Backed Hoover and Landon.

Roraback long had been prominent in politics and for more than a quarter of a century had been active in the formation of public utilities. He was chairman of the Republican state committee, a post he had held since 1912.

As a vice chairman of the Republican national committee, Roraback took an active part in the national compaigns of both Herbert Hoover and Alfred M. Landon. He was the first conservative "old guard" to announce his support of Landon.

Although the Roosevelt landslide last fall put Connecticut in the Democratic column, Roraback's influence was felt in the campaign and in the present legislature.

WIFE OF BILBO CARRIES ROW TO SUPREME COURT

Poplarville, Miss., May 19.—(AP)—The public squabble over their private affairs between United States Senator Theo G. Bilbo and the ex-school teacher he married thirty-four years ago was switched today to the Mississippi Supreme court.

Mrs. Theo Bilbo.

Judge Ben Stevens of Pearl River county Chancery court, after hearing the Bilbos exchange verbal barbs with each other from the witness stand, ruled that his court had jurisdiction to try the case.

Venerable white haired Earl Brewer, Mrs. Bilbo's counsel, who was governor of Mississippi when Bilbo was lieutenant governor, asked for and was granted an appeal to the state Supreme court.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

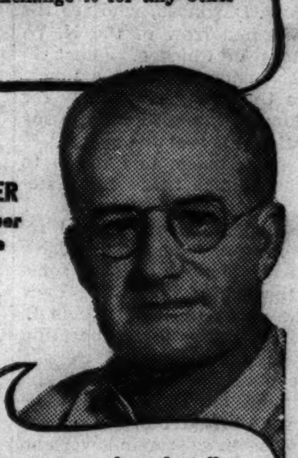
WITH SERVEL ELECTROLUX THE SILENT REFRIGERATOR

MRS. L. MADIGAN
Home Owner
2752 W. 63rd St.

I certainly appreciate the silence of my Servel Electrolux, having used other makes of automatic refrigerators. Also, the operating cost is lower, and the fact that there are no moving parts eliminates costly repair bills.

MRS. E. KANIA
Home Owner
5314 Cornelia Ave.

I purchased our Servel Electrolux refrigerator in September, 1933, and find that the operating expense does not run over one dollar a month. I would not exchange it for any other refrigerator.



MR. J. SHRIVER
Apartment Owner
4523 Ellis Avenue

After seven years, one of my installations of Servel Electrolux is just as efficient, economical and silent as the day I purchased it. When I have occasion to buy additional refrigerators my selection will be Servel Electrolux.

MRS. E. LACOMBE
Home Owner
11614 Lafayette Ave.

After using another type of automatic refrigerator don't know why anyone would buy anything else but Servel Electrolux. I find it costs about a dollar per month to operate.

MOST CHICAGOANS are surprised at the really remarkable savings they get with a Servel Electrolux. We believe you will be, too!

Owners report that this modern refrigerator runs for only a few cents a day . . . and continues to run at this same low cost throughout its long life. They find, too, that it means freedom from expensive repairs—even after years of service.

And there's still another way that Servel Electrolux saves you money! Because it keeps food and leftovers fresh and wholesome for days, Servel Electrolux permits you to buy in quantity and take advantage of all "specials."

The secret of this greater economy is a silent, different, method of producing constant cold and cubes of ice. Servel Electrolux has no moving parts in its entire freezing system! A tiny gas flame circulates the refrigerant—without noise or wear, without loss of efficiency due to moving, wearing parts.

See the beautiful 1937 models on display at any of the neighborhood dealers listed below, or at your gas company. Ask any questions. Discover why more and more Chicagoans are replacing other types of refrigerators with Servel Electrolux. Servel, Inc. Servel Electrolux Sales Division, 549 Randolph Street, Chicago, Ill.

NEW YORK THRONGS CHEER EUROPEAN BOXERS

CUBS WHIP DODGERS, 3-1; HUBBELL BEATS DEAN, 4-1

THE GUMPS—THE MISSING WITNESS

TEX CARLETON YIELDS 6 HITS IN FIRST START

Bruins Move Up to Fourth Place.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Lonnie Frey, former Brooklyn Dodger, who put the Cubs back on the victory trail with a left handed triple in Cincinnati Monday, yesterday found right handed triples just as efficacious. With the score tied at one all in the opening game of the series at Wrigley field, Lonnie launched the sixth inning with a shot off the left field wall, then scored the winning run in a game which ended, Chicago, 3; Brooklyn, 1.

The day's success lifted the Cubs up to the .500 mark and into the first division as they traded ranking with the Dodgers. They remained a half game behind the third place Giants, who won at St. Louis, and gained a game on the first place Pirates. They now trail the Pirates by five and a half games and the Cardinals by two.

Frey was far from a solo hero in his demonstration against his former associates, however. Tex Carleton, making his first start since April 4, was another who wound up with laurel leaves plastered all over his brow. Tex, he of the chipped elbow, held the Dodgers to six hits, two in the first inning, two in the third, one in the seventh, and one in the eighth.

Same Old Dodgers.

The losing pitcher was Harry Eisenstat, a sprightly lefthander, whose rating of three victories and no defeats when he arrived on these shores included a decision over the Cubs. He held the Chicagoans to a half dozen hits, three of which came with none out in the sixth. Frankie Demaree, who does all the hitting for the Cub outfield staf, was the only multiple hit gent in the Chicago cast with two singles. Other smacks in addition to Frey's and Demaree's efforts were a double by Stan Hack, a scratch single by Rip Collins and a scratch single by Bill Jurges. Jurges, incidentally, was back in the lineup after being injured in the New York series more than a week ago.

Fears that the Dodgers, under the gruff and capable Burleigh Grimes, had lost some of their famed flair for the comic were allayed in the eighth inning. In that inning the first two batsmen, Cookie Lavagetto and Jack Winsett got on third and second with none out as a result of a walk and a double. Then the Dodgers went into one of their old time eccentric soft shoe dances. And everybody agreed that the Dodgers still can be the Dodgers when opportunity offers.

One Apiece to Start.

The Brooklyn fellows made more fuss about their offensive in the first inning than did the Cubs, but when the fussing was over each team had only one run. Brack opened with a double to right center, but was speared at third on Cooney's tap to Carleton. Hassett walked, after which Manush singled to left, scoring Cooney, and Lavagetto walked, filling the bases. Stripp forced Hassett at the plate, Carleton to Hartnett and English flied to Galan.

Galan led off the Cub first with a walk and stole second. Frey whiffed and Collins rolled to Lavagetto, but Demaree singled to right, scoring

GIANTS WIN, 4-1; TWO TEAMS SLUG IT OUT IN NINTH

Dizzy's Dusters Lead to Free-for-All.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., May 19.—The Cardinals and the Giants started to play the game of the year this afternoon with Dizzy Dean and Carl Hubbell as rival pitchers, but before the game ended it was the battle of the century. It was a real battle, probably the best free-for-all baseball fight since the inception of the major leagues, with every player on both clubs taking a hand.

The crowd of 26,399 enjoyed the battle immensely.

It happened in the ninth inning and when the smoke of battle cleared the Giants had won the fight and the ball game to give Hubbell his 22d consecutive victory. The score of the game was 4 to 1, but the score of the fight could not be determined until trainers of both clubs patched up all the cuts and bruises.

Dizzy Dean brought about the mêlée by continually dusting off Giant batters. The big right hander acted like a spoiled kid because Umpire George Barr called a balk on him in the sixth inning. To add to Dizzy's injured feelings the Giants scored three runs to put the game on ice.

He Throws It Once Too Often.

Then in the ninth he threw his bean ball once too often. Jimmy Ripple dropped to the ground to avoid it and when he came up he announced he would bunt down the first base line. Dizzy accepted this challenge and ran over to cover first on a play that did not require his assistance. As Ripple reached the bag Diz tried to trip him. Ripple avoided the trip, though he was pushed a little and wheeled, swinging, at the big Cardinal pitcher.

This was a signal for players of both clubs to join in the affair and for a few minutes there were a dozen fights on the field. Dean seemed to get the worst of the mauling and made a good act of the old "let me at him" gag after Ripple was dragged away. Catchers Gus Mancuso and Mickey Owen had the best scrap and they were the only players ejected from the battlefield.

He Hits McCarthy.

Even after the riot Dean continued to throw dusters and hit Johnny McCarthy, Giant first baseman, on the head.

Dean never acted as childishly as he did in the sixth inning when Barr called the balk. The incident occurred after Burgess Whitehead singled and reached second on a sacrifice. While pitching to Dick Bartell, Dean failed to bring his hands to a complete stop before delivering the ball and Whitehead was waved to third. Bartell flied out on the pitch, but as the ball is dead on a balk he was given another turn at bat.

This brought the Cardinals to Barr's throat. Dizzy ranted and threw his glove around and walked off the field in protest. He was called back by Frisch and he continued his raving. When he returned to the mound he held his hands on his chest for a couple of minutes in derision.

Giants Add Insult to Injury.

Then, to add insult to his injured feelings, the Giants went to work for three runs. Bartell sent a liner to right that Pepper Martin dropped, and Whitehead scored. Chiozza singled, sending Bartell to third, and continued to second on the throw in. Both scored on Joe Moore's single.

The fight stole the spotlight from Carl Hubbell, who turned in another excellent pitching performance, holding the Cardinals to six hits. Their only run was the result of a home run by Joe Medwick in the second inning. Only one Cardinal saw third base thereafter, and he was nipped at the plate.

Hubbell finished by pouring strikes over the plate to fan Medwick and Mize for the final outs of the game

SAYING HELLO TO AMERICA

SENATE PASSES BILL PROHIBITING MONDAY RACING

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—[Special.]—The Illinois state senate today passed the bill introduced by William J. Connors [D., Chicago] which would prohibit Monday horse racing in Illinois except when a legal holiday falls on Monday.

The bill also would increase from $2,500 to $3,000 the daily license fee for tracks in Cook county and fix the fee for other tracks in the state at $1,800 a day.

There was no debate, the vote recorded being 38 to 0.

Former Western Golf Champion Takes Own Life

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 19.—(AP)—Keefe Carter, western amateur golf champion in 1925, was found dead in an automobile late today near Twin Hill course, which he operated. Don Stone and Jerry Smith, deputy sheriffs, said a hose had been connected to the exhaust pipe and run inside a window of the car. Acting Coroner Carl Traub said he would return a suicide verdict.

Franklin Just Bangs 'Em and Down They Go!

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Lem Franklin clenched his right fist instinctively as he talked. There was something primeval in that gesture.

"I usually hit with my right hand," he said. "But my left is always ready."

This mighty colored heavyweight from Cleveland, one of the sensations of the recent Golden Gloves tournament, was discussing the tactics he expects to follow in the international matches with the champions of Europe at the Chicago Stadium a week from tomorrow.

"Yes," he said. "I've read a lot about Herbert Runge of Germany. He must be a great fighter. But I'll just go in and bang at him."

He Bangs; They Fall.

That's the way with Franklin. He just goes in and bangs. He socks them, and they fall. Nine fighters were knocked out by his terrific punches during the Golden Gloves tournament. Seven of them fell in the first round.

Franklin has been hailed as the hardest hitter in amateur boxing. He still has to overcome the competition of Elza Thompson, another powerful colored heavyweight, before he gets the assignment to represent Chicago in the international matches. But if he gets it, that bout with Runge should be one of the greatest in the history of amateur boxing.

The German fighter, who won the Olympic championship last year, will have to defend himself from the opening bell. For Franklin is a ferocious attacker. He knows quite a bit about the fine points of boxing, but he uses that knowledge primarily to solve his opponent's style rather than to avoid getting hit himself. He'll take a punch anytime to land one. And all he seeks is one square shot at his foe. Often that has settled everything.

Injury Handicaps Lem.

Franklin was injured badly in the Golden Gloves tournament. His right thumbnail was torn off completely. As a result he was unable to unleash his tremendous punches against Paul Hartnek in the finals and he lost a decision to the clever maneuverer from Creighton university.

Due to scholastic complications, Hartnek has been unable to join the Golden Gloves squad. But Franklin's thumb has healed now, so Chicago is

RHODE ISLAND'S GAMBLERS REAP BIG RACE PROFIT

Narragansett's Bets Soar Toward $40,000,000.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pawtucket, R. I., May 19. — The clicking fingers of the parimutuel machines are counting up to a forty million dollar betting volume record breaker for turf history—at the Narragansett race track this year.

More dollars are passing through the mutuel windows at Narragansett than at any other track in the country. The horse race gambling fever has the people of Rhode Island in its grip and is spreading like a pine woods fire to surrounding states. In this betting ring of a holiday the girl clerk from the Boston department store, the mill hand from Connecticut, and the Providence bellhop may be seen stepping on each other's toes.

One Man Runs Show.

It was planned that way. The track was located on the corner grocery store principle, bringing a population of five million within an hour's ride. It is paradoxical but true that the biggest betting horse track in the country is planted in the smallest state.

Unlike the New York tracks, where an unsavory underworld crowd of 100 bookmakers runs the show, the racing and gambling empire of Narragansett is ruled by one man, a gentleman named Walter E. O'Hara. But there the difference stops. Mr. O'Hara controls the assembly meeting at Providence just as the New York "bookies" have their way with the legislature at Albany.

The Jocky club people, the Whitneys, Wideners, and Vanderbilts won't send their stables to Narragansett "because of conditions," but there are always plenty of prohibition brewers, night club owners, and ward politicians ready to start their bangtails for the glory of the sport and the edification of the public.

Profits Are Large.

Narragansett is a bonanza for O'Hara and his cronies. The track should show a clear profit of more than a million dollars this year, according to experts, and more than half of this sum will find its way into O'Hara's receptive pockets. He and his wife, Cle O'Hara, own 55 per cent of the stock in the enterprise. The largest profit will be garnered from the betting.

From each of those forty million hopeful dollars pushed through the mutuel windows O'Hara will extract 6½ cents for a total of $2,600,000. Admissions will run $900,000 at least for the season. Together the mutuel cut and the gate make a total of $3,500,000 for the track.

From this revenue should be subtracted, roughly, $1,250,000 in purses,

CHAMPIONS OFF TONIGHT FOR CHICAGO BOUTS

Agren Ill; Returns to Sweden.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 19.—Europe's amateur boxing champions reached Manhattan today in intermittent fog which obscured the famous skyline. But this did not quench the enthusiasm of the boys who have come 4,000 miles to prove on May 28 at the Chicago Stadium that amateur boxing in Europe is superior to the best in Chicago.

Europe's boxers were up almost before dawn. By nine it was apparent that the Berengaria could not reach its 50th street pier before 2, an hour after the scheduled arrival, but this made no difference to the boxers.

They had arrived in New York. Tonight they visited Radio City. They eliminated the trip to Empire State building because of the fog and this then was included in the schedule of points to be visited tomorrow. The boxers were particularly pleased with the order from Arthur de Kankovszky to skip training today and promised in return they would work more diligently to prepare for the Stadium matches. The New York stopover ends tomorrow night when the squad entrains for Chicago.

Agren Is Ill.

The Italian boys were pleased with the invitation from the consulate in Chicago to a reception Saturday. The only note which failed to agree with the pleasure of the group was the illness of Eric Agren, Swedish lightweight.

Agren was indisposed on the first night of the trip, and the Berengaria's doctor reported him as suffering from a severe cold with possibility of pneumonia. Agren was taken to the Berengaria hospital and while his condition is not serious, he will not be in condition to compete even in the preliminaries on the 28th.

For this reason Agren chose to return to Sweden and his passage was booked aboard the Berengaria, rather than a later and slower ship. His hope was to fight as the lightweight representative of Europe, but when Herbert Nurnberg of Germany, the lightweight champion of Europe, rejoined the team in Paris, Agren's hopes were blasted.

Crowd at Pier.

Hundreds of enthusiastic fans gathered at the pier. The boxers were unable to pass customs for more than a half hour because of the throngs. The New York News photographers gathered the Italian boxers for special pictures since the Italian championship team will meet the New Yorkers next month. The racial news organs were equally anxious to obtain pictures of the boys as they came down the Berengaria's gangplanks.

Uniforms were distributed late this afternoon. With the exception of Nurnberg's, all fitted perfectly accordingly to the measurements cabled from Paris.

Nurnberg immediately had his coat altered and now is prepared for the visit to Chicago.

The boxers speeded through customs because of the efforts of Charley James and Frank Case who composed, as they thought, the committee of reception. But when the boys passed on to the bus waiting for them, there was Edward Mahlke, long time member of the Tribune Officials' association and his wife and Oscar Johnson, of the skating troupe which performed in the Stadium recently.

Writers Cheer 'Em Up.

With this guard of friends, the boys came to their hotel and there ran into the group of Chicago baseball writers who assured them, with sarcasm, that Chicago would whip them. But tonight was an interlude. They have reached Manhattan. And when they have reached Chicago, they will defeat Chicago's Golden Glovers. Ask any one of them.

Fists Across the Sea

Though they may not speak our language,
When that starting gong has rung,
You will find a kayo wallop
Is the same in any tongue.
When the fighting sons of Europe
Face Chicagoland's elite
You will see a fistic classic—
BUT, my friend, you'll need a seat.

Tickets for the All-Europe-Chicagoland Golden Gloves bouts at the Chicago Stadium May 28 are on sale at the Tribune Public Service Offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, 9 A. M. to 10 P. M. every day.

Prices are $3.30, $2.20, $1.65 and $1.10.

You also may order by mail, making check or money order payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Send them to Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

WEATHER'S BAD, SO SOX, YANKS TAKE IT EASY

When, and If, They Play, Lee Will Pitch.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 19.—The weather man, who has been chasing them all spring, caught up with the White Sox again today. The result was no game with the Yankees as the schedule makers had planned.

Before leaving here tomorrow evening the Sox will go through one more tussle with the world champions. Thornton Lefty Lee was in line to pitch today and he'll be offered the same opportunity tomorrow. Lee is the fellow who trimmed the Yanks, 2 to 1, at Chicago not long ago.

McCarthy May Change Mind.

Joe McCarthy, the champions' boss, who doesn't always like to commit himself on his pitching choices, may go through with today's plan which called for Johnny Broaca and then again might turn to Monte Pearson, who on May 10 used the Sox for victims in a one hit masterpiece.

Tomorrow's Sox lineup, or whenever the weather permits a lineup, will see Rip Radcliff back in his old left field position.

As Radcliff moves back into action, Henry Steinbacher will move out and it may mark the end of the latter's first big league tryout. By Sunday night Dykes must knock off one outfielder to bring his squad down to the 23 player limit and the removal of Steinbacher from regular employment indicates that he is to be the victim.

Recall String Retained.

He will be returned to the St. Paul club whence he was purchased, but a recall string will be retained on his services.

With Steinbacher out of the picture after Sunday the Sox will have to get along for about a week with only one reserve outfielder. The reserve is the aged Mule Haas, who in the event of a mishap to one of the three regulars, would have to get out and prove that his legs are still able to carry him. After about a week, Larry Rosenthal will be back. At least that is what Dykes expects but Larry's charley horse is severe and he may be out indefinitly.

Rhode Island Gamblers Get Rich on Races

$500,000 for the employés' payroll, $300,000 for depreciation and $200,000 for federal taxes, or a total of $2,250,000. Thus, the total net profit will be $1,250,000.

Why depreciation should amount to $300,000 is a mystery because from the looks of things O'Hara didn't pay any more than that for the whole business. He took over the old abandoned What Cheer airport here in Pawtucket in 1935 and built a cream-colored grandstand with green trimmings. The oval inclosed by the track is barely covered by an anemic stand of grass, while in the background is a line of scrubby poplar trees.

Last year, the first full year of operation, the betting volume at Narragansett was $34,097,000 while the wagering at all the tracks in Illinois combined, for example, was only $32,580,798. So far this year Narragansett is 20 per cent ahead of last and there will be six more days of racing. The betting is about $440,000 a day with a big jump on Saturdays and holidays. Last Saturday was a $723,100 day.

Other O'Hara Ventures.

Before he went into the horse racing industry, O'Hara managed to get along by buying up bankrupt textile mill property in New England and peddling the idle machinery to interests in the south, all of which made the Yankees in these parts somewhat peeved. He also unloaded some property in Pawtucket on the WPA for sewing and knitting classes for $56,000, a figure most people thought was a little bit high.

In March of this year O'Hara acquired the afternoon newspaper, the News-Tribune, of Senator Peter G. Gerry, for $300,000, and changed the name to Star-Tribune. The paper has taken on the semblance of a racing sheet. Last week, according to a reliable source, the rack track employés were forced to subscribe to the paper.

Churches Oppose Racing.

During the last week church interests, represented by one Melvin W. Moore of East Providence, a taxpayer and Methodist Sunday School superintendent, filed a suit in the Superior court attacking the constitutionality of the state's horse racing laws on the grounds that parimutuels are lotteries and lotteries are prohibited by the constitution.

Mr. O'Hara promptly started a series in his paper pointing out that in the early days of the state the churches had held lotteries in order to raise funds. The implication was that the lotteries had been crooked and that was why the constitution of 1842 outlawed them. The churches haven't gone so far yet on the way Mr. O'Hara runs his gambling empire.

Chicago Normal Pitcher Hurls No-Hit, No-Run Game

Jack Wallace of Chicago Normal college pitched a no hit, no run game against Williams yesterday, his team winning, 10 to 0. Only three Williams players reached base, one on a walk, another on an error, and the third due to interference by the catcher. Wallace fanned twelve.

Galan. Lavagetto tossed out Hack.

Here's the way Ex-Dodger Frey got things under way in the sixth: Lonnie tripled off the left field wall and scored when Collins' fly popped out of English's hands for a single. Collins reached second on the throw to the plate, Frey having held up on the belief that English would make the catch. Demaree singled to left, Collins stopping at third, whence he scored on Hack's long fly to Cooney. Hartnett and Stainback flied out.

Gabby Steals Signal.

Lavagetto drew Carleton's sixth pass as the eighth got under way. Winsett batted for Stripp and doubled along the right foul line, Lavagetto stopping at third. Bucher batted for English and tapped to Carleton. Tex headed off Lavagetto with a throw to Hartnett and Cookie was run down by Gabby. While Gabby was sprinting down the third base line, Bucher sought to sneak second, but was doubled, Hartnett to Frey, after Gabby tagged Lavagetto. Winsett pulled up at third during the excitement. Gautreaux batted for Spencer and walked, whereupon Hudson ran for Gautreaux. Morgan then batted for Eisenstat.

Hartnett caught Manager Grimes' sign for a double steal, but Winsett didn't. The result was that Hartnett called for a pitch out. Gabby threw to Jurges to wait for Winsett to sense what was going on. Manager Grimes by this time had got word to Winsett that a double steal was on. So Winsett started for the plate. Hartnett walked a dozen feet up the line, took the return from Jurges and waited for Winsett to arrive. After a while Winsett showed up and was tagged by Hartnett to retire the side.

Roy Parmelee to Seek a Cub Victory Today

Roy Parmelee, who did some fine pitching for the Cubs only to be nosed out in his last performance at Cincinnati, will try again today against the Dodgers. He will be opposed by Roy Henshaw, whose major league experience was confined to Cub employment until he moved to Brooklyn last winter in the deal involving Woody English and Lonnie Frey.

Woody English, who had uniform No. 1 while on the Cubs by virtue of being the captain, also wears No. 1 for Brooklyn. There's no captaincy involved, however. In fact, the Dodgers have no captain.

Curt Davis may not be placed on the retired list. He did a lot of throwing yesterday and reported after the game that he felt no ill effect from the exertion.

Notre Dame Wins, 6-1, Over Western State Nine

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 19.—[Special.]—Notre Dame continued its jinx over Western State today, defeating the Teachers, 6 to 1, behind the five hit pitching of Goncher. Preston held Notre Dame hitless until the fifth, but in the next two innings was frisked for seven hits and four runs. Score:

Western	100	000	000—1	5	1

Batteries—Goncher and Kovzelove; Preston and Abel.

Wheaton Baseball Team Beats North Central, 9-7

Wheaton college defeated North Central at Wheaton yesterday, 9 to 7. Douglas Johnston, Wheaton pitcher, struck out twelve Cardinal batters and yielded only five hits. Score:

North Central	000	031	030—7	5	4
Wheaton	220	030	02*—9	12	5

after Jimmy Brown had collected his second hit, a single to center. Carl kept the hits well scattered and in only one inning did the Cards make more than one. That was the second, when Durocher singled after Medwick hit his homer. Durocher was immediately trapped off the bag.

After the sixth there was no further scoring until the Giants pushed across their final run in the ninth after the umpires and special police cleared the field. Ripple was declared safe on his bunt and Dean then hit McCarthy. Danning, who replaced Mancuso, followed with a double to score Ripple.

NAME AMERICAN AND AUSTRALIAN DAVIS CUP TEAMS

New York, May 19.—(AP)—Meeting late this afternoon at the West Side Tennis club in nearby Forest Hills, the heads of the Australian and American Davis cup forces named the four man squads they will use in the North American zone final matches at Forest Hills May 29, 30 and 31.

Clifford Sproule, nonplaying Australian manager, has only four men at his disposal, and named those four—Adrian Quist, likely to carry the No. 1 singles assignment, and Jack Crawford, Vivian McGrath and 18 year old Jack Bromwich, who will battle during the next ten days for the second singles job and the doubles posts.

For Walter L. Pate, nonplaying captain of the Americans, it was more a matter of selection, since he controls a squad of seven, yet even here there was little room for surprise as Pate announced the names of Don Budge, red headed U. S. No. 1; Gene Mako, Budge's California doubles partner, and Frankie Parker and Bryan Grant, candidates for the No. 2 singles berth.

SMITTY—CAUGHT IN A LIE

Camilli Steals Home; Phillies Beat Pirates

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 19.—(AP)—Dolph Camilli, the Phillies' first baseman, stole home today in the ninth inning while Mace Brown, Pirate relief hurler, was winding up, and the Phillies nosed out the Pirates, 5 to 4, in the second game of their Pittsburgh series.

The Phils connected with the deliveries of Ed Brandt and Mace Brown for 11 hits, Morris Arnovich leading the attack with a single, a double, and a home run.

Thiede Pins Demetroff in 31 Minutes at Fronton

Cliff Thiede of California scored his third consecutive victory in Chicago last night when he threw Boris Demetroff in 31 minutes and 5 seconds with a body slam at the Rainbo Fronton.

WELCOME HOME!

Hack Wilson Finds Solace in Past, Future

Hack Wilson, Cub hero in the not so far bygone days when the main business of Cub outfielders was to make base hits and bat in runs, yesterday saw a major league baseball game for the first time since 1935.

Hack is here as a radio guest broadcaster but admitted that his ambition is not to become a silver voiced spieler over the ether waves. Hack, who is only 37, hopes to stage a baseball comeback.

Eyes Are O. K.

"I was looking over the batting averages of some of the outfielders now employed," said Hack. "I don't want to knock anybody now working but I know I could get in shape in a month and hit for an average double what some of the regulars in the National league are hitting.

"My eyes, which some folks said were on the blink, now will pass any test that any doc can devise. I don't use cheaters even for reading the finest print and I have been taking good care of myself. I haven't even gone to visit the boys around the corners since I've been in Chicago. I weigh 220 pounds, which is only about 10 pounds over my playing weight."

Now in Leisure Class.

Though Hack hasn't seen any games of any classification in more than a year, he reads the papers carefully. He says he follows most closely the gents whom he considers to have a chance to equal or surpass his most cherished record, that for runs batted in. Hack's major league record for runs batted in, 190, was made in 1930. His total was exactly double that of Frank Demaree, who led the Cubs in that important tabulation last season.

Wilson, whose top salary was $33,000 in 1931, currently is one of the leisure class, having disposed of a cigar store and refreshment parlor which he conducted for a time in his home town, Martinsburg, W. Va. He found that the business led him into temptation, and retired about the time the comeback bug began to buzz.

Hack's first concrete step in his comeback campaign was to call on Dr. Andy Lotshaw. For old times' sake Dr. Lotshow taped Hack's ankles from the soles of his feet half way to his knees as per his daily practice when the pudgy little man was socking 'em for the Cubs.

In spite of everything the fish could do to stop it, SPALDING'S New Tackle Department opens today. In it, you'll find every type of rod, reel, lure and line—for every kind of fishing—and at every price. Baitcasters can take their agate guides or leave 'em alone. You can pay just what you want to for a reel. And if you cast a dry Quill Gordon 60 feet, here are sweetly-balanced lengths of split bamboo—delicate killers that will make a trout roll belly-up in record time.

We've forgotten nothing that a man needs to catch fish . . . as cheaply or expensively as he likes. We'd like to show you around.

HOW SURE ARE YOU that the cigar you smoke is the best you can buy?

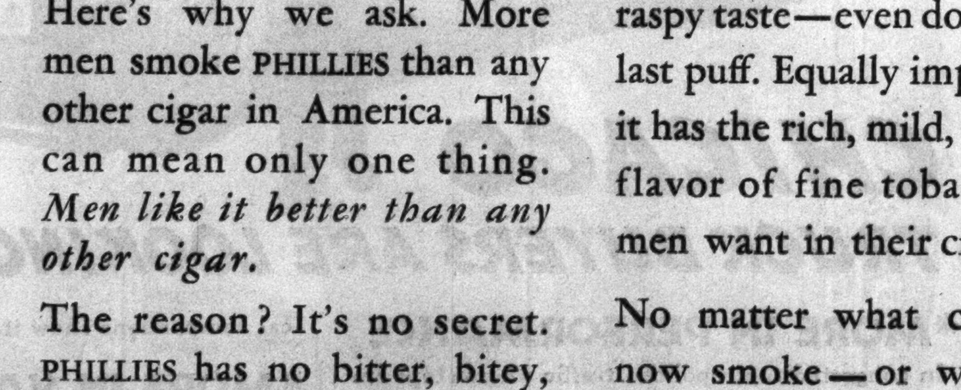
Here's why we ask. More men smoke PHILLIES than any other cigar in America. This can mean only one thing. Men like it better than any other cigar.

The reason? It's no secret. PHILLIES has no bitter, bitey, raspy taste—even down to the last puff. Equally important—it has the rich, mild, satisfying flavor of fine tobaccos that men want in their cigars.

No matter what cigar you now smoke—or what price you pay—give PHILLIES a trial. Then ask yourself whether it isn't milder—smoother—more enjoyable—than your present cigar.

The first PHILLIES you smoke will show you why it is America's largest-selling cigar.

WHY PHILLIES ARE FREE OF BITTER, BITEY, RASPY TASTE



Bayuk selects and buys for PHILLIES the finest and mildest types of Havana, Domestic and Sumatra tobaccos. They are the very pick of the crops.

All PHILLIES tobaccos are aged and mellowed for at least two years—and are cured by the same methods used in making the most expensive cigars . . . BUT BAYUK DOESN'T STOP HERE.

Bayuk owns an exclusive, patented process that removes the bitter oils and harsh elements that ordinary curing methods don't, and can't, get out. No other cigar manufacturer can use this process.

CANDIDATES FOR ILLINOIS DERBY FAIL IN SPRINT

Denbigh Beats Pay Check and Play Pal.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Three of the lightly regarded candidates for the renewal of the $12,000 Illinois Derby to be run at Aurora on Saturday went into action in the Lou Ann purse, decided over a heavy track yesterday afternoon.

They made a sad showing. Pay Check, noted for this sort of going, took the early lead but by the time he reached the stretch turn he was soundly whipped by the Reichert brothers' colt Denbigh, not eligible to the Derby.

Denbigh went on to beat the floundering Pay Check by five lengths. Play Pal, Derby hope of F. J. Grand of New Orleans, never figured in the running and finished fifth, beaten a half dozen lengths by Denbigh.

Tryanhurry Also Fails.

Tryanhurry, the filly with which J. T. Withers III. of San Antonio, Tex., expected to capture the $12,000 prize, finished sixth, beaten by some nine lengths. Neither Play Pal or Tryanhurry appeared to like the heavy going.

Denbigh, under 107 pounds, ran the six furlongs in 1:14 4-5, much the best time made over the Aurora track during the afternoon. He was made the favorite despite the presence of the Derby eligibles in the race. He paid off at $6.40 in the two dollar betting.

A warm sun beat down on a heavy track while yesterday's program was run off. The track should not be worse than slow today, and if there is no additional rain it will be fast by the time the Derby is run on Saturday. Track Superintendent Placide Figgerio had a crew of workmen trying out the top surface throughout the night.

Here Is the Field.

A fast track will be favorable to such speedsters as the Three D farm's Heelfly and Milky Way stable's Reaping Reward, the pair that is expected to get the most backing in the $12,000 race.

Military, a noted mud runner in the Milky Way stable, will be at home in the going should more rain drench the course. So will Dellor and Grey Count.

The probable field for the Derby follows:

Horse.	Owner.	Jocky.
R. Reward	Milky Way Farms	A. Robertson

Daily Double Pay 3 Aurora Fans $1,663

Three customers at the Aurora race course yesterday put in a profitable afternoon. They hooked up Polante Seth and Canusee in the daily double. Each ticket was worth $1,663.60. One of the men, C. V. Joseph of Legonier, Ind., collected in the big ring in the grandstand. A fellow in the clubhouse who cashed his ticket told reporters he was Buffalo Bill as he hurried away from the window. The third ticket holder was Joe Wagner, 105 Waverly place, Joliet.

Many of the leading jockeys in America will be assembled at Washington Park for the opening of the racing season there on Monday. Among those present will be Alfred Robertson, Lester Balaski, Chuck Parke, Charley Kurtsinger, Paul Keester, Irving Anderson, Charley Corbett, Paul Ryan, leading apprentice rider at Aurora; Jimmy McCoy, Joe Renick, Jack Westrope, George Woolf, Buddy Haas, Bobby Dotter, Basil James, Earl Porter, George South and Porter Roberts.

The first disqualification of the Aurora season came in the second race yesterday. Beryl King, after finishing second, was set back out of the money. He had given Polante Seth a bad bumping all the way down the stretch. The disqualification moved Little Peggy into second place and Take Down into third position.

CYCLISTS MEET AT HUMBOLDT PARK TOMORROW

Carl Stockholm, western representative of the National Cycling association and a member of the Olympic cycling committee, has called a meeting for tomorrow night at the Humbolt park refectory of all riders and other persons interested in cycling. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

The N. C. A., which is affiliated with the Amateur Athletic union, has severed all connection with the Amateur Bicycle League of America, and the meeting Friday night will discuss the possible suspension of amateurs who participate in meets not sanctioned by the N. C. A.

The first sanction granted by the N. C. A. will be the C. Y. O. state championship meet at the Humboldt park bowl, Sunday, June 20.

MILLING RULED OUT AS RODAK FOE TOMORROW

Bruno and Misko to Top Fronton Show.

Promoter Leonard Harris' bill for an injunction restraining the Illinois athletic body from interfering with a proposed ten round bout between Leo Rodak and Varias Milling at Rainbo Fronton tomorrow was denied yesterday in the Superior court of Judge Francis Allegretti.

Harris ordered his attorney to go after an injunction following the suspension of Milling, a ban levied after Varias had filed serious charges against his manager, Tommy O'Loughlin, May 10.

As a result of the court's action tomorrow night's show at the Fronton will be headed by an eight round bout between Tony Bruno, Milwaukee middleweight, and Mickey Misko of Detroit. Supporting bouts follow:

Andy Scrivani vs. Vince McCoy [5], 133. Jack Fargo vs. Harold Ulimer [4], heavy. Ed Helstrom vs. Billy Gladstone [4], 145. Johnny Helstrom vs. Steve Souris [4], 142.

Robert Brooks vs. Les Morris [4], 147.

Ten amateur contests will be offered tonight at Wicker Park hall, 2044 West North avenue, featured by representatives of the Inland Steel Athletic club, coached by Mickey Patrick. . . Mique Malloy, veteran Chicago promoter, received word yesterday from Ballina in County Mayo, Ireland, that his father, John Michael Malloy Sr., died May 1. The passing of the elder Malloy, said to have been 80 years old, has caused the impresario to cancel a show scheduled at White City next Wednesday. . . John Henry Lewis left last night for Kansas City, Mo., where he boxes Jack Kranz tomorrow despite reports to the contrary. . . Harold Ulimer, Milwaukee heavyweight, and Alex Kettles, former South Bend, Ind., sectional Golden Gloves champion, have been signed to meet in a four round preliminary to the ten round headliner involving Frankie Saglio and Milt Aron at Marigold Gardens Monday.

James J. Braddock will inaugurate public workouts at Grand Beach, Mich., today in preparation for his heavyweight title match with Challenger Joe Louis at Comiskey Park, June 22. A special train will leave the Twelfth street station for the training base this morning carrying newspaper and radio reporters, members of the state boxing board and other invited guests. Mike Jacobs, who is co-promoter with Joe Foley of the bout, and Soldier Mickey Farr, Foley's matchmaker, will be in the party. Joe Gould, manager of the champion, left for Grand Beach yesterday to take charge of Jim's conditioning program. It also was learned that Lionel Levy, architect, and Ed Coronati, arena builder, will arrive from New York to check up on plans which will change the White Sox ball park into a fight arena. Meanwhile, ticket reservations are being accepted at loop fight headquarters pending the receipt of tickets from the printers.

Time, :24 1-5, :51 2-5, :58. Two dollar mutuels paid: Oddesa Nancy, $11.60 straight, $4.20 place, $3.80 show; Fredricka R., $4.20 place, $3.00 show; Mr. Mickey, $6.00 show. Winner trained by R. Freeman. Went to post at 2:20½.

ODDESA NANCY, away well and saving ground throughout and drawing into a safe lead in the final quarter, won with something in reserve. FREDRICKA R. made up ground gradually, finished gamely, but could not menace the winner. MR. MICKEY closed strongly under hard urging.

SECOND RACE—Three-fourths mile. Purse $600. Net value to winner, $450; second, $90; third, $40; fourth, $20.

*Field. †Disqualified. Time, :24 1-5, :49 4-5, 1:18. Two dollar mutuels paid: Polante Seth, $25.00 straight, $9.80 place, $5.80 show; Little Peggy, $6.40 place, $5.20 show; Take Down, $9.00 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 2:50.

POLANTE SETH, away in motion and close up from the start, responded well to vigorous shaking up in the stretch and wore down BERYL KING in the last few strides. The latter was rushed into a good lead soon after the start, set a fast pace, and was disqualified for fouling LITTLE PEGGY in the stretch racing. LITTLE PEGGY saved ground all of the way and held on with good courage.

APPAREL MEN TO HOLD FIRST GOLF TOURNEY TODAY

Registration Begins for State Amateur Meet.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Two hundred Chicago men's wear executives will gather at Olympia Fields today for the first 1937 tournament of the Midwest Men's Apparel Golf association. Not only will the ablest golfer in the organization be decided, but the best dressed golfer as well. Another tournament will be held later in the season.

At the dinner following the golf event election of a new group of officers will be held to replace the present slate, which includes Fred Fischl, president; George Goldie, Ernest Gluck, and Mike Daugherty, vice presidents; Max Kuttner, treasurer, and Elmer Reibold, secretary.

Jim Frisina of Taylorville, one of the leading golfers of southern Illinois, is the first player to send in his entry for the Illinois amateur championship, to be conducted by the Chicago District Golf association from June 16 to 19 at the Mount Hawley Country club of Peoria. Gus Moreland, former Walker cup star and western amateur winner, also has indicated he will play. Entry blanks may be secured from Alfred Anderson, chairman of the tournament commitee, Mount Hawley Country club, Peoria, or at C. D. G. A. headquarters, La Salle hotel. Entries close June 10.

The thirty-third annual Midlothian Derby will provide the highlight of the Chicago district week-end. The tournament is recognized as one of the oldest competitive events in the country. A number of leading district amateurs will compete Saturday and Sunday, according to J. Edward McMahon, Derby chairman.

The Gleneagles' Golf club, 123d street and Bell road in Lemont, is now open for play. The clubhouse has been redecorated, a new 56 foot bar has been installed, and two new water holes have been built. Ralph Wymer is manager and Bill Rauworth is professional.

Hanley Wins Low Net at Bob o' Link

Bob o'Link held its reception for new members yesterday. Dick Hanley, former Northwestern football coach, won low net with 81—12—69. Paul Curtis scored 41—38—79 for low gross.

Other prize winners were: Low net guests, Eugene Carroll and Joe Tennes tied at 86—13—73; low net new members, Earl Jager, 81—9—72.

ARMOUR SCORES 107 POINTS TO WIN TRACK MEET

Armour Tech's track squad defeated La Grange college and Wright City college yesterday at Ogden field. Armour scored 107 points, La Grange 30, and Wright 26.

The visitors managed to take but one first place, that in the 100 yard dash, as Moore of La Grange beat Dunbar of Armour. Moore ran a dead heat with Dunbar in the 220 yard sprint.

Armour took thirteen of the fifteen first places, winning all but one pulled up. Vandekieft of Tech took high point honors for the day with three first places, winning the shot put, the high jump, and the discus.

Set June 6 for Next Auto Race at Fair Grounds

Automobile racing will be resumed at the Fair Grounds on June 6, Promoter Carl Stockholm announced yesterday.

Bob Sall of Paterson, N. J., who won the inaugural event last Sunday; Chet Gardner, who finished second; Ken Fowler, third, have filed entries for the race and will return to Chicago immediately after the Indianapolis 500 mile event May 31.

Stockholm also announced he will install more seats, increasing the capacity of the Fair Grounds to 10,000. New parking arrangements and another automobile entrance also are planned.

Stockholm expects practically the entire field of drivers at Indianapolis to enter the next Fair Grounds race.

Michigan Fans Scent Title in Big 10 Track

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 19.—[Special.]—Ann Arbor today was the most track-minded city in the country as fans looked forward to the 37th annual Western conference track meet which will be held at the University of Michigan Friday and Saturday.

Interest is even greater than it was in 1935 when the meet was last held here, as Michigan's team is favorite as well as host. If it wins the title it will be the 15th in the conference for the Wolverines since 1901.

While each of the 15 events on the card will produce stiff competition, track experts are finding the quarter mile the most difficult race to predict. There are 40 entries in the event with Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Ohio State each entering five.

Stan Birleson of Michigan, conference indoor champion, Squire and Howells of Ohio State, Halcrow of Chicago, Keitel of Northwestern, Hicks of Indiana, and Billig and Teufel of Iowa are rated as the best of the field of 440 men.

Every other event has its favorite, although no competitor seems likely to repeat Jesse Owens' feat of the last two years of taking four firsts.

Owens' two hurdles titles are expected to pass to Capt. Bob Osgood of the Wolverines who has the Big Ten's best time of the year in both the highs and lows. The Buckeye star's broad jump title apparently will be the object of a scramble, with Brunton of Illinois, Hubbard of Minnesota, and Stoller, Watson, and Smith, all of Michigan, as the likely candidates. Brunton seems to have a slight edge.

McElligott Defends Police Handball Title Tonight

Golf Chats with Thomson

[This is the fourth of a series of golf conversations between Jimmy Thomson, the game's longest hitter, and Elmer Dubb, perennial duffer.]

DUBB: Good morning, Jim. That drill you gave me on the swing yesterday was mighty interesting, but today I'd like to find out about chipping and putting.

THOMSON: Well, Elmer, I'll make a confession. That's one part of the game that I sadly neglected until the last few years, when I finally realized how important a sound short game is. Those little ones are the ones that count, not only for the tournament golfers, but also for the week-end lads. Most consistent low scoring is the result of sound play around the greens.

DUBB: Who are the great putters today?

THOMSON: I'll give you two, Elmer, both of them as effective as any two putters who ever lived, even though their methods apparently are different. One is Horton Smith, and the other is Paul Runyan. Horton's putting stroke is a smooth, well controled sweeping motion. Runyan, on the other hand, uses a considerably shorter backswing, and taps or punches the ball at the hole. Don't misunderstand me there, because he does not stab at the ball, a common fault among many golfers. In Paul's putting stroke, the hands, which are tucked in close on his left thigh, play the most important part. This position assures him of a feeling of steadiness and leaves only the hands to do the work. The blade of the putter is kept square to the line of the putt, both on the backswing and through the ball. This last is the basic fundamental of all putting, regardless of what style you may use.

Sweeping Motion Is Feature of Smith's Putting.

DUBB: But what about Smith's stroke? Tell me more about it.

THOMSON: The feature of Horton's putting, as I said, is that sweeping motion. He has a square stance, in which the feet are about 14 inches apart. The blade is square, the stance is square, and his body is square. He takes the blade back with a combination hand and arm motion, with a considerably longer back stroke than Runyan. His body is as steady as a rock throughout. He uses nothing but hands and arms. In other words, Horton's stroke on the greens is a picture of smoothness and grace.

THOMSON: For one thing, Elmer, both Runyan and Smith use the same style of chipping as they do in putting. The only difference to be noted in chipping by this pair is that backswing lengthens in proportion to the distance from the hole.

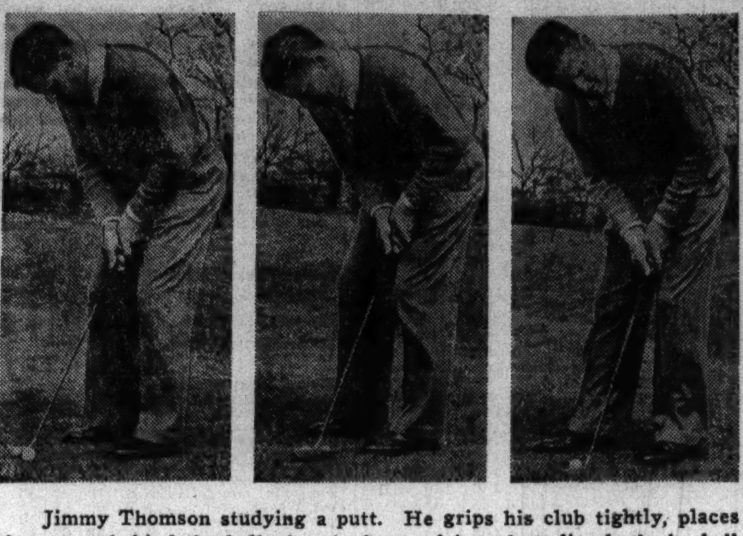
Some Putts That Are Still Remembered.

DUBB: Even I know that Horton and Paul are standout chippers, but who are some of the others.

THOMSON: Elmer, I give you Henry Picard, whose entire game is fundamentally consistent. Pic's style sharply resembles Smith's in that his position at addressing the ball is quite square. Only difference is that Pic uses a little body turn on shots of this type. There is no fault here, however, because of his excellent timing. Byron Nelson and Ed Dudley also are expert chippers.

DUBB: Going back to putting, what are some of the great shots on the green that have remained in your mind?

THOMSON: Well, Elmer, there was Tommy Armour's 15 footer over a double roll on the 72d green at Oakmont in 1927. He followed a grand iron shot by holing that one and tying Harry Cooper for the national open. Another 72d hole shot for the books was Bobby Jones' putt at Winged Foot in 1929. It was a mean, left to right, 12 footer over a slight mound in the green, but Bobby dropped it to tie Al Espinosa, whom he beat in the title playoff the next day. And it will be a long time before any one who saw them forgets those two putts Johnny Fischer dropped in winning the national amateur from Jock McLean at Garden City last September. One was a 12 footer at the 36th, squaring the match, and the one that won for him at the extra hole was 20 feet shy of the cup.



Jimmy Thomson studying a putt. He grips his club tightly, places the putter behind the ball, then in front of it and studies both the ball and the distance to the hole.

The Golden Gloves squad made thoroughly satisfactory progress yesterday at the Illinois Athletic club. Coach Johnny Behr and his assistant, Fred Caserio, sent the boys through two rounds of sparring and four rounds of floor work. The fighters will increase their efforts day by day until the climax of their preparation, Saturday and Monday, when they will spar at least four rounds and possibly five.

The Enemy Arrives.

Meanwhile word was received of the landing of the European boxing champions in New York and preparations were pushed to give the visitors a reception such as Chicago has always extended to European squads in the past.

On the west side, half a dozen committees were at work, planning a gigantic outdoor reception Sunday evening in Garfield park. Although the European fighters are due in Chicago tomorrow, Sunday's event will be their only public appearance before the night of the fights. The German, Italian and Polish nations are represented on Europe's squad, but the Garfield park event will not be limited to Chicagoans of those extractions. The affair will be an expression of the entire city's hospitality.

STRIKE THREATS ONLY CLOUD IN STEEL OUTLOOK

Operating Rate Again at 92% of Capacity.

Steel ingot production this week was estimated yesterday by the magazine Iron Age at 92 per cent of capacity. The Pittsburgh rate rose to 95 per cent from a revised figure of 85 per cent for last week with the resumption of operations at the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation's plants following last week's two-day shutdown due to labor troubles.

The figure is unchanged from last week's estimate which was made before the Jones & Laughlin strike brought a decline in actual operations.

"Except for threats of strikes that might tie up some independent steel plants, the steel outlook is viewed more hopefully than was possible a few weeks ago," the magazine asserted. "The drop in new business has not been precipitate and sales of most major producers having been around 75 per cent of shipments so far this month.

Fears Depress Scrap Prices.

"While the closing of any steel plant for more than a few days would tighten up the steel delivery situation the mere possibility of such strikes has tended to depress steel scrap prices still further."

A large sale of scrap metal was made at Pittsburgh at a price $1 below the last previous sale, and the price at Philadelphia was quoted $1 lower. The Chicago scrap market eased 50 cents. Iron Age's composite steel scrap price declined 83 cents this week to $17.92, equal to the low point of this year on Jan. 4.

Railroad equipment buying continues in substantial volume.

Large Contract Awarded.

The A. O. Smith corporation, Milwaukee, has awarded 24,000 tons of plates for a pipe line contract, and an inquiry has been made for 11,000 tons of plates for a water pipe line in New Mexico. Proposals for a new gas pipe line from Texas to Chicago have been revived. The project would require 225,000 tons of steel.

Structural steel awards totaled 17,000 tons, Iron Age said, of which 3,500 tons is for a bridge in Massachusetts and 1,000 tons for a chemical manufacturing plant in Cincinnati. New projects of about 27,500 tons include 4,500 tons for a courthouse in Philadelphia, 3,000 tons for a rayon manufacturing plant at Painsville, O., 2,800 tons for a railway terminal in San Francisco, 2,600 tons for a bridge in Oklahoma, and 2,000 tons for an automobile manufacturing plant at Rochester, N. Y. A bridge at Baton Rouge, La., which calls for 32,800 tons of steel, may be awarded soon.

Midwest Oil.

Investors' Guide: I should be pleased to have information in regard to stock of Midwest Oil.—M. C. G.

Answer: Although incorporated in Arizona in 1911, Midwest Oil company had been comparatively unknown to the investing public until late last year because 99 per cent of its common stock was owned by the Salt Creek Producers' association.

On Oct. 27, 1936, however, stockholders of Salt Creek Producers voted to dissolve their company, mainly because the 1936 revenue act taxes profits received in the form of dividends from subsidiaries. The Midwest stock was the principal asset and source of income of Salt Creek, and 69-100ths share of Midwest was given for each Salt Creek share in dissolution of the latter company.

Midwest owns all stock of the Wyoming Oil Field company and Natrona Pipe Line and Refining company, plus a substantial interest in other western oil properties.

Net operating income of Midwest rose from $769,000 in 1935 to $887,000 in 1936, but net income was only $334,000, or 33 cents a share, in 1936 after a charge of $617,000 for loss on storage oil contracts, compared with net income of $798,000, or 80 cents a share, in 1935, when the corresponding charge was only $2,500.

Capitalization of Midwest consists of 998,444 shares of $10 par common stock and 15,558 shares of 8 per cent $1 par preferred stock.

A semi-annual dividend of 50 cents a share was paid on the common May 15, 1937. An extra of 7 cents was paid Dec. 15, 1936. The stock is somewhat speculative at present.

Ohio Power.

Investors' Guide: Kindly favor me with information on the Ohio Power company preferred stock.—D. A.

Answer: This company is a part of the interconnected system of the American Gas and Electric company in Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, and Ohio. It supplies electricity to about 450 manufacturing and mining communities in Ohio with combined population of 900,000.

The company has been a consistent money maker. It has covered fixed charges by not less than 2.3 times in any of the last ten years. The smallest net income during that period was $4,347,000 in 1934, and that was equal to $21.95 per share on the 198,065 shares of 6 per cent $100 par preferred stock outstanding. The preferred is callable at $110 a share. It is rather high grade.

WESTERN WHEAT BELT GETS LITTLE RAIN LAST WEEK

Many Sections in Need of Moisture.

Practically no rain fell in western sections of the winter and spring wheat areas during the week ending May 18, according to the weekly crop and weather summary of the department of agriculture issued yesterday. Precipitation in western North and South Dakota and Nebraska, central and western Kansas, and all of Montana were confined to scattered and inconsequential showers.

Adequate rainfall was received in eastern and southeastern Kansas, but the western portion of the state, especially the southwestern counties, are badly in need of heavy rains. The winter wheat crop was reported by the bureau as having been badly damaged. Temperatures in Kansas averaged somewhat above normal during the last week.

Improvement in Nebraska.

Improvement was shown in most sections of Nebraska, although subsoil moisture is still deficient. Occasional dust storms occurred in the western sections of the Dakotas and rain is needed.

Precipitation ranged from one to more than four inches over considerable areas in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kentucky, Ohio, and Oklahoma and limited areas in Missouri, Michigan, and Indiana.

Condition of winter wheat ranges from fair to very good, said the report, although some wheat is very poor in parts of the driest great plains area. In most sections growth was good during last week. Much is headed or is about to head in the extreme south, and jointing has extended northward well toward the central portions of the belt.

The corn crop is getting a later start than usual, said the report. Wet soil and cool weather have retarded advancement in many central and eastern areas. There has been considerable cultivation in parts of the southwest, although planting is being held up in western Kansas.

Most of Seeding Completed.

Seeding of spring wheat is completed in most of the belt and the crop did well in the central and eastern areas. Oats, barley, and rye have shown improvement, although oats are late. Some alfalfa has been harvested in the extreme south.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Hegari to Be Grown.

May 19, 1937.

HEGARI is one of the new crops to be tried out this year on the experimental grounds at The Tribune's Wheaton farm. This crop belongs to the sorghum family and is considered the most important feed now grown in Arizona.

Seed of hegari was obtained by the farm manager from Phœnix, Ariz. A small amount of Arizona registered hegari of the sunbright strain will he planted and compared with atlas sorgo which also is to be grown in the test fields for the fourth time.

In the southwest, hegari has produced as much as nineteen tons of green forage per acre. It also is grown for grain, yielding as much as 100 bushels an acre.

Grain Yields Heavy.

Ranchers experienced in growing hegari in southern Arizona have been able to produce an average of 15½ tons of silage, or 8½ tons of dry fodder, or 4,400 pounds of headed grain, or 3,550 pounds of threshed grain from an acre. Some report grain yields varying from 2,000 to 5,500 pounds per acre.

Experts say that hegari resembles kafir more than any other variety or class of sorghums. Hegari is described as a plant with numerous long, broad leaves; heads erect, and the seeds are chalky white with a brown or reddish pink undercoat.

Southwestern live stock men find that hegari fodder is relished by all classes of farm animals because the stalks are fairly sweet and reasonably juicy. Its saccharine content is high. Children cut the stalks and chew them just as they have always done with cane.

Dahlia Roots Set Out.

Dahlia roots were set out in the open last week at the Wheaton farm. The head gardener sets out dahlia roots early, even before all danger of the last frost has past. He has found that a late frost will not hurt the dahlias where the tubers are set out about the middle of May.

His method of planting dahlias is to set the roots about eight inches deep and cover them with about two inches of soil. As the plants grow the depression is gradually filled. By planting the tubers deep they produce a better root system.

Dahlia plants, produced from tubers started in the greenhouse last winter, will not be set out in the open garden until after all danger of frost is over. The Wheaton farm gardener plans to set some out about the first of June. Several plants were produced from one tuber. They now are in four inch pots. The plants were developed in the greenhouse and are being hardened off in a cold frame.

WHEAT SOARS AS DUST CLOUDS CROP OUTLOOK

Dry Weather Causes Heavy Damage.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Wk.ago.	Mo.ago.
Wheat	$1.23¼	$1.21⅝	$1.15⅝	$1.20⅝
Corn	1.18⅝	1.19½	1.15¼	1.17⅞
Oats	.44⅝	.44⅝	.42⅞	.44⅝
Rye	1.08⅛	1.05¾	1.00	1.04½
Soy beans	1.74	1.73½	1.76	1.76

Additional reports of drouth in the American southwestern winter wheat belt and dustorm reports from the dry areas of the spring wheat area sent the price of wheat futures up sharply yesterday. Closing prices on the Chicago Board of Trade were 1⅛ to 1½ cents above Tuesday's finish. At the top the July delivery was 9⅜ cents above the low point of May 11. Kansas City futures advanced as much as 2⅝ cents, Minneapolis gained 3 cents, and Winnipeg rose 2¼ cents a bushel. Liverpool climbed 2¾ to 3⅞ cents.

Light showers fell in parts of Kansas and Saskatchewan, but the precipitation was inconsequential. Soil drifting was said to have occurred Tuesday in southern Saskatchewan involving an area of 45,000 square miles.

Change in Condition Abrupt.

There has seldom been such a drastic change in the condition of winter wheat as has occurred during the last two weeks. While Chicago crop experts have commented frequently on continued dry weather in the western half of Kansas and Nebraska, few traders realized that the excellent prospect which prevailed May 1 had been shattered. This year's winter wheat harvest will be determined by weather conditions during the next two weeks. Advices from Kansas City and other points indicated that sufficient damage had already occurred to eliminate all hope of a bumper crop.

As the result of the change in the winter wheat crop prospects southwestern bakers were said to have bought substantial quantities of flour for shipment as late as next January. Purchases of 250,000 bushels of wheat were reported to have been made at Kansas City for shipment to Chicago.

Widespread Lack of Moisture.

Approximately 50 per cent of the spring wheat acreage in the American and Canadian northwest is estimated by Chicago statisticians to be almost devoid of subsoil moisture. This, they say, accounts for the extreme sensitiveness of the futures market to weather reports from the dry area.

May oats slumped sharply when an effort to sell a moderate quantity uncovered a lack of support. Stop loss orders swelled the selling and the price dropped from 53¼ to 49¼ cents a bushel within a few minutes. At times the price in the pit was nearly a cent a bushel out of line with the quotations on the blackboard. A professional operator became a heavy buyer on the break and a rally followed with the close ¾ cent lower at 52⅛ cents. The deferred deliveries declined ¼ cent.

Corn Near Season's Peak.

May corn sold at $1.35¼ yesterday, which was within ¼ cent of the highest level of the season. It reacted later on selling induced by a decline of 1 to ? cents a bushel in cash corn and closed ¼ cent higher at $1.33¾. The July and September deliveries were unchanged to ⅜ cent lower. Rye was 1⅜ to 2½ cents higher, largely in sympathy with wheat and on buying of May attributed to cash interests. Soy beans advanced ¼ to ½ cent and May barley was 2⅜ cents a bushel higher.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL REVENUES MOUNT DESPITE FLOODS

The Illinois Central railroad made a better income showing in the first four months of this year than in the corresponding 1936 period despite the severe setback because of floods this year, L. A. Downs, president, told stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday.

Gross income for 1937 probably will be 10 per cent larger than for 1936, Downs estimated. The deficit for the first four months of this year amounted to $1,348,000, against loss of $1,487,000 in the first four months of 1936.

Gross revenues for the first four months of 1937 were 7 per cent above the 1936 period, Downs said, and expenses were about 6 per cent higher.

Downs said that during the depression years, 1930 to 1936, the road's debt had been reduced by $7,278,000 and interest charges had been reduced $781,702 annually.

Directors were reëlected.

O. JOHN ROGGE NAMED SPECIAL COUNSEL FOR SEC AT WASHINGTON

O. John Rogge, counsel for the Reconstruction Finance corporation in the recent litigation against stockholders of the Central Republic Trust company, was notified yesterday of his appointment as special counsel for the Securities Exchange commission at Washington. He will assume his new duties June 1.

O. John Rogge.

Rogge is 33 years old. He was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1922 at the age of 18 and three years later received his LL. B. degree from Harvard law school.

Rogge, who is married, has resided with his family at 6633 South Peoria street. He has been associated with the firm of Hopkins, Starr & Godman.

INJUNCTION SUIT OF TVA TAKEN TO SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., May 19.—(AP)—The Georgia Power company appealed to the Supreme court today from a fifth Circuit Court of Appeals decision at New Orleans permitting the Tennessee Valley authority to continue to build new power lines and to sell electricity in Georgia. Involved in the complicated litigation were conflicting decisions by the Northern Georgia federal district court and the Eastern Tennessee federal district court.

A ruling by the Georgia court, which was affirmed by the Fifth Circuit court, allowed TVA to expand its operations in Georgia. The Tennessee court temporarily enjoined TVA from expanding in eight states, including Georgia.

In its decision, the Circuit court held that the two lower tribunals had concurrent jurisdiction but that since the Georgia ruling came first its decree should stand pending final determination of the controversy by the Supreme court.

BOARD OF TRADE BOND REFUNDING PLAN CONFIRMED

Official announcement of plans to refund the first mortgage of $10,218,000 on the Chicago Board of Trade was made yesterday by Barnett Faroll, chairman of the real estate committee of the Board of Trade.

The refunding is to require payment of $1,218,000 on the mortgage, leaving a principal amount of $9,000,000, Faroll said. He said terms for amortization of the new mortgage will be announced in a few days. A saving of $1,500,000 is estimated over the period of 12 years to be covered by the mortgage.

As first reported in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, the plan calls for reduction of interest from 5 to 4 per cent. The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, Milwaukee, holds the present mortgage and is handling the refinancing with the grain exchange.

Morgenthau, Reserve Board Plan Mid-June Financing

Washington, D. C., May 19.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau met today with members of the federal reserve board's open market committee to make preliminary plans for the treasury's mid-June borrowing. The treasury is expected to borrow new cash and $300,000,000 to meet maturing bills. It is expected the financing will exceed the half billion mark.

Pure Oil Brings in 'Gusher' at Clay City Field

The Clay county oil boom yesterday received new impetus with the disclosure by officials of the Pure Oil company that their drillers had brought in a new and bigger well three miles south of Clay City.

Although the flow of the latest well has not been definitly measured, L. S. Wescoat, vice president of Pure Oil, said in Chicago yesterday that it will run "several hundred barrels daily" or several times the capacity of the two wells previously brought in in the new Clay county field.

Termed Minor Gusher.

The new well, company officials believe, is the first in Illinois to produce oil without pumping. It was described as a "minor gusher," in no sense as productive as some of the wells in the big East Texas field, but of greater capacity than most wells in this state.

Wescoat said the company's latest discovery not only means a new well, but a new oil formation lying below the reservoir tapped by the two earlier wells brought in several weeks ago. The latest well has been drilled to 3,100 feet, compared with 2,600 feet for the two earlier wells.

The well struck oil in a formation of limestone saturated with oil similar to that in the north Michigan field. The earlier wells at a higher level draw their oil from a sand formation like that in east Texas.

The Clay county oil boom began in February when the Weiler, or "Discovery," well was brought in three and one-half miles south of Clay City.

Second Well Close By.

Subsequently a second, the Bradley well, began to produce oil about 14 miles from the original discovery. Two more "offset" wells are now being drilled close to the Bradley location. Each of the two earlier wells is rated at about 150 barrels a day and requires pumping.

Since February Clay county has been enjoying an old-fashioned oil boom. Options on most of the likely ground, however, have already been taken by leading oil companies, which have been prospecting in that part of the state for several years.

The new well is on the property of Bunyan Travis, a farmer who owns 60 acres. He will receive the customary royalty amounting to one-eighth of the value of the oil taken from his land, Wescoat said.

SEC Asks Supreme Court Speed Ruling on Utility Act

Washington, D. C., May 19.—(AP)—The Securities and Exchange commission asked the Supreme court today to speed a decision on constitutionality of the 1935 public utility holding company act. The commission joined the Electric Bond and Share Company of New York in asking for a review on an appeal directly from a New York district court. Usually an appeal would be taken first to the Circuit Court of Appeals. The power company appealed the test case after Federal Judge Julian W. Mack of New York upheld validity of the act.

Woman Shoots Self, Ties Up Manila Exchange Tickers

MANILA, May 19.—(AP)—The Manila Stock exchange ticker system was paralyzed today by the death of the only person capable of operating it—Mrs. John Wilson, who shot herself, police said.

PARAMOUNT TO VOTE ON CAPITAL CHANGE AND ZUKOR CONTRACT

New York, May 19.—(AP)—Changes in the company's capital structure and renewal of its contract with Adolph Zukor, as head of production activities, will be considered by Paramount Pictures, Inc., shareholders at a special meeting called for June 15, it was announced today.

Zukor's present contract, effective Aug. 1, 1936, provides for a salary of $3,000 a week to Dec. 31, 1937, and additional compensation equal to 7½ per cent of the first $2,500,000 of profits and 5 per cent of such profits in excess of $25,000,000 from film operations for the period bwtween Aug. 1, 1936, and July 31, 1938.

With the approval of stockholders the board is authorized to renew the agreement for a period of not more than three years from Jan. 1, 1938, on substantially the same terms.

Stockholders will be asked to approve an increase in authorized common stock from 4,500,000 shares to 6,000,000 shares, and also to reduce first and second preferred stocks by the number of shares which will have been converted into common prior to the meeting.

Stanton Griffis, chairman of the executive committee, said the company has no present plans for issuing additional common shares. The newly authorized stock will be available for future corporate purposes, he said.

AM. TELEPHONE PAYS REGULAR $2.25 ON COMMON

A regular quarterly dividend of $2.25 a common share by American Telephone and Telegraph company and a 25 cent special payment by Continental Oil company in addition to the regular 25 cent disbursement yesterday topped dividend announcements by several important American corporations. The Telephone dividend is payable July 15 to stockholders of record June 15, while both Continental Oil dividends will be disbursed June 30 to stock of record June 9.

Otis Elevator company declared a 25 cent quarterly dividend, payable June 21 to holders of record June 1. The company has been paying 15 cents quarterly.

Central and South West Utilities company applied to the Securities and Exchange commission under the holding company act for approval of payment of two preferred dividends after the recent capital writedown to eliminate an accumulated deficit.

U. S. BUYS BUTTER IN ATTEMPT TO BOOST PRICES

The federal government purchased approximately 41,250 pounds of butter on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday in an attempt to bolster prices which have declined recently to the lowest levels since last June as a result of increased supplies. The butter purchases were the first by the government in nearly a year.

Federal agents paid 28½ cents a pound for butter grading 89 score and 29½ to 30 cents a pound for "extra" grade. Butter futures advanced at the mercantile exchange as the government entered the market and contracts calling for delivery of butter in November sold as high as 31¾ cents a pound, up ⅞ cent, at one time during the session.

HUFF RESIGNS IN GRAIN CO-OP POLICY BATTLE

Quits 'in Interests of Harmony.'

BY HERBERT VEDDER.

C. E. Huff, president of the Farmers National Grain corporation since 1930, resigned yesterday as a result of bitter strife within the federally subsidized coöperative marketing agency as to the policies it should pursue.

C. E. Huff.

In the carefully worded announcement of Huff's resignation was seen concrete evidence of at least partial victory for proponents of regional marketing and the end of Farmers National as the dominant central agency in charge of selling grain for the thousands of farmers it represents. Huff was a leader of forces wishing to maintain full powers for the central agency.

"In Interests of Harmony."

"Mr. Huff is leaving," said the board of directors, "in the interests of harmony; in an effort to compose differences among stockholders of the national grain coöperative growing out of proposed changes in operating policies."

Huff said he hoped his resignation would bring about a "reconciliation." Explaining his administration has marketed grain on a national basis, Huff said some stockholders favor regional control, believing that any loss of effectiveness from such operations will be compensated by increased confidence through somewhat localized control.

Under operations as they have been carried on, farmers bring their grain to a coöperatively maintained elevator. These elevators are members of a regional coöperative. The regional coöperative owns stock of the Farmers National and are represent-

New Locomotive to Permit Coast to Coast Diesel Travel

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Travel between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts on passenger trains pulled by Diesel-electric locomotives will be made possible, it was learned yesterday with the visit of officials of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to the Electro-Motive corporation plant near LaGrange to inspect a 3,600 horsepower Diesel electric just completed for their railroad.

The Baltimore and Ohio plans eventually to place this locomotive in service between New York and Chicago. When this is done the western railroads which have Diesel-electrics running between Chicago and the Pacific coast will provide the coast-to-coast link.

Will Have Royal Blue.

C. W. Galloway, operating vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio, was at the Electro-Motive plant near La Grange yesterday to inspect the new engine which first will be used to haul the Royal Blue Limited between New York and Washington and later the Capitol Limited between the east and Chicago.

"It is our intention," Galloway said, "to couple the Diesel-electric to a passenger train in the station at New York and uncouple it in Chicago. When that is accomplished Diesel-electric locomotives will haul passenger trains from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

Others at the meeting were Charles F. Kettering, research wizard of the General Motors corporation, who discussed the part which research is playing in man's progress; R. K. Evans, vice president of General Motors in charge of Diesel development; H. L. Hamilton, president of Electro-Motive, and H. B. Voorhees, vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio in charge of the Alton railroad division.

Will Have Unusual Engine.

Galloway disclosed that the Baltimore and Ohio is completing a large steam locomotive at its plant at Mount Clare of unusual design.

"Our new engine has been given the name East to West," Galloway said, "because it has cylinders at each end. We have a remarkable new locomotive which will give the Diesel-electric real competition. With this engine and the new one we are getting from Electro-Motive there will be a tryout of brawn against brawn, efficiency against efficiency, and speed against speed."

The new Diesel-electric consists of two 1,800 horse power units, which are coupled so that they can be operated as a unit. The total weight is 568,000 pounds.

Described as the most efficient Diesel-electric locomotive yet to be turned out, the Baltimore and Ohio engine has been designed to give improved riding qualities and greater stability in making curves at high speed. The latter is attained through a new treatment of load suspension.

Hamilton discussed the growth of the big electro-motive plant which in the eighteen months of its existence has turned out Diesel electric locomotives now running an average of 13,000 miles daily. He said the plant now has a capacity of 150 to 175 locomotives a year.

Another locomotive, a duplicate of the one inspected yesterday, is to be delivered to the Baltimore and Ohio late in May.

B.&O.'s New Speedster

Boeing Airplane Company Files Stock Issue with SEC

Washington, D. C., May 19.—[Special.]—Boeing Airplane company, Seattle, Wash., has filed a registration statement under the securities act of 1933 covering 195,610 shares of $5 par value capital stock of which 183,610 shares are to be offered to stockholders and 12,000 to certain officers and employés of the company or its subsidiaries. Net proceeds will be loaned to or invested in subsidiaries. Brown, Harriman & Co. and G. M. P. Murphy & Co. will be the underwriters.

WARD'S PROFIT $3,466,255 FOR FIRST QUARTER

Equals 61 Cents Per Common Share.

Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday reported net profit of $3,466,255, or 61 cents a common share, after provision for class A dividends for the first fiscal quarter ended April 30, compared with profit of $2,836,838, or 54 cents a common share, in the corresponding 1936 period.

The 1937 figures included provision of $1,045,000 for federal and state income taxes and federal tax on undistributed profits, the company said. A total of 5,203,698 common shares was outstanding on April 30, against 4,565,004 shares a year earlier.

L. A. Young Earns More.

First quarter consolidated net income of L. A. Young Spring and Wire corporation was $483,363, or $1.18 a share on the common, against $427,247, of $1.04 a share, in the like 1936 quarter.

March quarter profit of Commercial Solvents corporation declined to $501,773, or 19 cents a common share, from $617,778, or 23 cents a share, in 1936. Commercial Solvents manufactures pigments and other chemicals at plants in Indiana, Illinois, Louisiana, and California.

United States Leather company announced net profit of $445,[illegible], equal after requirements on the 7 per cent preferred stock and on the $4 noncumulative class A stock, to 27 cents a share on the common. In the corresponding 1936 period, net income was $256,873, or 57 cents a share, on the class A stock.

Southwestern Gas Figures.

Southwestern Gas and Electric company reported net income of $242,821 for the quarter ended March 31, against net income of $167,303 in the first quarter of last year. Southwestern Gas is controled by Central and Southwest Utilities.

Public Service of New Jersey and subsidiaries reported net income for the twelve months ended April 30, was $24,951,873, equal after preferred dividend requirements to $2.74 a share on the common shares. A year earlier profit was $23,185,317 or $2.42 a common share. April net income was $2,279,000 against $2,266,000.

SELECTING AN EXECUTOR

★ Your choice of the executor of your will is extremely important to your heirs. The executor has many duties requiring sound business judgment, knowledge of federal, state and local taxation, skill in negotiation and efficiency in accounting. The work is involved, technical and laborious, and few individuals are qualified to perform all the tasks necessary.

★ For these reasons a corporate executor is desirable, although it is occasionally advantageous to name as co-executor an individual with special knowledge of your business and personal affairs.

★ Appointment of this bank as executor or co-executor will insure that your wishes will be carried out by an institution of strength, permanence and broad experience. Our trust executives have administered a wide variety of estates involving almost every conceivable problem and will be pleased to discuss your particular problems with you and your attorney.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 19.—Moving in a narrow range, prices on the stock exchange drifted irregularly today. Steels, motors, coppers, and other industrial issues moved indecisively. Rails were steady to slightly higher most of the day, then eased toward the close. Utilities were neglected and close. Utilities were neglected and dipped slightly. Volume for the day totaled 789,460 shares.

The indefinite trend was attributed to evening up operations following the previous day's sharp advance. Public speculative participation was small.

Steels and nonferrous metals were among the most active issues in early trading, but after the initial activity prices eased. Except for rare plus signs steel stocks showed declines. U. S. Steel dropped almost a point net. Other losses ranged from fractions to around 2 points.

After a strong performance early rails were subjected to a mild reaction. Atchison was one of the weak spots, dropping 2 points.

A spectacular performer in the group was Northern Pacific, which came in for considerable buying. It was the second most active issue on the board, with 20,200 shares changing hands.

Western Union showed about the largest change in the utilities, dropping almost two points.

Arrangements were made today to sell a membership in the New York Stock Exchange at $96,000 equalling the low for this year. The price was unchanged from the previous sale.

New York Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 19.—The market for government bonds continued to mark time today while traders and investors awaited word from the meeting of treasury officials with the open market committee of the federal reserve concerning the government's June 15 financing. Prices for treasury bonds were a shade easier.

High grade corporate issues, on the other hand, continued to make small gains.

Low and medium priced railroad liens moved narrowly or held even most of the session.

The lack of interest in listed issues resulted in volume for U. S. governments of less than $600,000, par value, and for all bonds of $7,430,000, compared with $8,187,000 Tuesday.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks were mixed yesterday in a small volume of trading in which only 24,000 shares changed hands. Chicago corporation was the most active issue. It declined ⅛ to close at 4⅝ on a turnover of 1,250 shares. Other active stocks were Prima, Borg Warner, Swift and Armour. Among the radios, Ken-Rad and Zenith both showed gains.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks closed steady lower yesterday, as quoted by various dealers. Continental Illinois and City National declined $1 a share, Chicago Title and Trust company was $2 lower, and Merchandise National bank lost about $5 or more. National Builders' moved against the trend.

COTTON

Cotton futures were somewhat firmer in the early trading yesterday on trade and commission house buying, but the aggregate business was light. The market dipped sharply later on a rather favorable construction placed on the weather bureau weekly crop summary. A rally followed with the close in Chicago at net losses of .02 to .04 cents. Other markets were .03 cent lower to .05 cent a pound higher.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .05 cent higher, with New Orleans 13.05 cents; New York, 13.25 cents; Houston, 13 cents, and Galveston at 12.95 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Commodities

Heavy buying yesterday sent cocoa prices sharply higher. Rubber and export copper also gained, but most other commodities improved only a few points or closed irregular.

Cocoa for delivery in July closed at 7.48 cents a pound in New York, compared with 7.11 cents a pound Tuesday. Gains in other futures contracts ranged between 0.37 and 0.40 cent a pound. Trading was heavy with sales reaching 12,585 tons.

Export copper climbed ¼ cent to 14.775 cents a pound as a result of larger industrial demand in Great Britain. The American domestic price of copper remained at 14 cents a pound.

Rubber for July delivery closed at 21.08 cents a pound, against 20.76 cents the day before, and all futures contracts again were above 21 cents. Gains ranged from 0.28 to 0.32 cent.

Hides and coffee were moderately higher and sugar contracts eased a few points.

Live Stock.

Hogs rose to $12 a hundredweight at the Chicago stockyards yesterday for the first time since Sept. 18, 1936. Fresh pork also soared to new 1937 highs as slaughter supplies continued at record low levels.

The rise in hogs this week is the sharpest since the summer of 1934, when an inflation scare sent prices into the sharpest peace time advance in history. Yesterday's quotations were $1.30 to $1.40 above prices prevailing early last week and $2 to $2.25 above a year ago.

Only 8,000 hogs arrived at Chicago and 28,000 at the eleven principal packing centers. These totals were below any corresponding day on record.

The market opened 25 cents higher and closed 40 to 50 cents above the preceding session. The average price at $11.60 compared with $10.90 Monday and with $10.65 at the close of last week.

Fresh pork rose another $1.50 to $27.50 for top light loins, a new eight year high for May.

No sharp changes occurred in other live stock and meats yesterday. A meager supply of slaughter lambs cleared quickly at higher rates, a small lot of wool stock selling at $13, while a few selected native springers brought $13.75. Freshly shorn lambs sold at $11.25.

The supply of cows and hefers was lightest of the year. These were steady to strong, but a bigger number of better grade steers were weak to 25 cents lower. The top reached $14.85, with the bulk selling at $9.50 to $13.

Lard.

Aggressive commission house buying of lard futures, based on continued strength in hogs, carried the former up as much as 27½ cents at the extreme yesterday. Profit taking and selling attributed to packers checked the advance and later there was some pressure in sympathy with the reaction in grains. Closing trades on lard futures were at net gains of 10 to 22½ cents. Deliveries of 100,000 pounds of cash lard were made on May contracts.

Clear bellies [salt pork] closed 10 to 15 cents higher. Cash lard was quoted at $12.50; loose, $11.90; leaf, $12 and clear bellies at $16.37½ per 100 pounds. Prices follow:

Sugar.

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw declined 2 points to 3.35c per lb for spots today. Sales reported at this level included 5,000 bags of Porto Ricos late yesterday and 6,000 bags today in addition to 21,000 bags of Cubas all for May arrival with additional offerings.

Futures were irregular, the No. 3 contract being lower, particularly the May position under liquidation promoted by the circulation of 12 notices and the easier spot market. The No. 4 was firmer on increased covering and commission house buying encouraged by upturns at London. No. 3 closed 9 lower on the May position, and 1 lower on later deliveries with sales of 14,050 tons. No. 4 closed 3 to 4½ points net higher on sales of 17,000 tons.

Butter and Eggs.

Purchases of 41,250 pounds of spot butter yesterday by the AAA in the Chicago market at 28½ cents a pound for 89 score and at 29½ to 30 cents for extras, started a general buying movement in November contracts on the Mercantile exchange. November advanced ¾ cents and closed at 31¼ cents a pound. Sales of futures yesterday were 113 cars.

While there was some buying of egg futures in sympathy with the strength in butter, closing prices on the former were unchanged to ⅛ cent lower with October at 24⅛ cent a dozen. Sales were 82 cars. Potatoes were unchanged, May closing at $2.28 per 100 pounds. Sales, 1 car. Range of prices on futures:

ATLAS TACK HEAD LOSES A POINT AT SEC HEARING

Threatens Violence to Federal Counsel.

New York, May 19.—(AP)—Roger D. Edwards of New Bedford, Mass., husky six foot six inch president of the Atlas tack corporation, threatened to throw a government attorney "out of the window" during today's hearing of a Securities and Exchange commission complaint accusing a number of brokers of illegally manipulating Atlas Tack stock.

Respondents in the case are W. E. Hutton & Co. and other brokers who are seeking to show cause why they should not be ejected from the New York and other stock exchanges.

Edwards, a witness, was telling Trial Examiner Edward C. Johnson of complaints he had heard that the commission's investigation of the brokers was hurting business of the corporation.

Moves for Papers.

Jacob Gruber, counsel for the commission, moved toward the witness table as though to take some papers from which Edwards had been reading when the latter, in a side remark, said:

"Don't get me mad or I'll throw you out of the window!"

Gruber, an average sized man, later won a ruling that he was entitled to see Edwards' notes. Edwards protested: "He is not going to take my notes. Does he want my wallet?" But he finally complied with the ruling on advice of his counsel.

After prolonged questioning by Gruber as to whether the Atlas Tack corporation had not done better business in 1936 and 1937 than in 1935, prior to the stock probe, Edwards admitted it had generally. But he specified losses of business in the Omaha and Chattanooga areas.

Tells of Selling Order.

Edwards named salesmen and firms in Philadelphia, Dallas, Tex.; Lexington, Ky.; Chicago, and Cleveland, and other cities as having told him the stock investigation was hurting business.

He said W. W. Krause, division manager in Cleveland, said he had to explain to customers that the investigation had nothing to do with the corporation itself before any business could be done. Edwards read from a financial publication a comment which stated that it was being said in Wall street that any one who "gets aboard" Atlas Tack is "on a practical joke."

Then Edwards, as his own response, read this statement: "Do these people think we are a practical joke, too?"

Carroll V. Geran, one of the principal respondents and a member of W. E. Hutton, who previously had testified in hearings in Washington, was recalled to the stand to tell of an order telegraphed to him from San Francisco to sell 2,000 shares of Atlas Tack at $24 a share on April 14, 1936.

He admitted the stock was at $21 on that day and, under questioning by Gruber, admitted the market never even got "close" to $24 when the order was put in on the following day. The commission's counsel was endeavoring to show that this order was put in at $24 when the market was around $21 for the purpose of boosting the price of the stock.

Life Insurance Trust.

Life insurance is purchased primarily by a person who wishes to have his income supplanted for a time after his death. But frequently, when the proceeds are payable in a lump sum, the money is soon dissipated because the beneficiary is inexperienced in handling money and invests unwisely or squanders the funds.

To circumvent this proceeds of the insurance policy are frequently made payable to a responsible trust company or individual trustee. An agreement is drawn up authorizing the trustee to invest the funds and directing the distribution of income and principal. The trustee may be given discretionary powers in the matter of payments, depending on the needs of the beneficiary.

Wealthy persons, who buy life insurance primarily to finance payment of taxes and administration costs of the estate, usually have the proceeds of the insurance policy paid directly to a corporate trustee for three reasons:

[1]—If payable direct to the insured's estate the entire proceeds would be subject to state inheritance taxes and probate expenses. Also, the $40,000 exemption allowable for federal estate taxes would be lost.

[2]—The insurance trustee may be authorized by the trust agreement to use all or part of the insurance proceeds to purchase assets of the insured's estate, thereby preventing forced liquidation of these assets and providing the estate with cash to pay taxes and other costs.

[3]—If the proceeds were payable to individual beneficiaries rather than a trust the beneficiaries might be minors, might die before the insured or during the period of probate. In either event the proceeds would not be available to the estate in the manner desired.

Insurance trusts involve no expense since they do not become operative until the insured's death.

LET RAILROADS SHARE IN REVIVAL, SARGENT URGES

Assails Restrictions on Carriers.

A plea that railroads be allowed to share in the nation's improved financial condition through a relaxation of restrictions imposed on them was made yesterday by Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and North Western railroad, at the annual meeting of the operating-transportation division of the Association of American Railroads in the Stevens hotel.

Sargent said that while other industries were showing notable gains, the railroads, although helping to make this possible, had not been able to participate in the upturn to the extent to which they were entitled.

Assails Trend of Rates.

"I am not in favor of raising rates in depression times and lowering them when times are good," Sargent stated. "But this is what has happened in the case of railroad freight rates.

"It is time for some one to come forward and say that when every one else sells goods and services at higher prices, the railroads should be permitted to do likewise. Regulatory bodies must make changes to bring this about.

"The interstate commerce commission ruling on Dec. 18 discontinuing emergency freight rate charges was made despite the fact that the railroads were not in the best financial condition."

Lose Benefit of Savings.

Sargent pointed out that in the period between 1921 and 1936, the railroads reduced their expenses by almost a half as the result of increased operating efficiency. Despite this, he added, the rate situation has been such as to give most of the financial benefits from the improvement to the public.

Estimates made by cost accountants of the North Western indicate that the cost of operation will soon increase approximately 18 per cent and this will necessitate increased revenues, he added. He listed social security legislation, increased costs of supplies and materials, high wages and tax boosts as among the factors adding to operating costs.

ILLINOIS' NEW APRIL BUILDING SHOWS UPTURN

New building, based on building permits issued, increased in Illinois cities during April as compared with that of March and April of last year, Peter T. Swanish, chief of the division of statistics of the Illinois department of labor, announced yesterday.

Permits were issued in 113 cities last month for 2,807 projects, valued at $9,233,175. These figures compared with 2,304 permits, with a total cost of $7,986,239 in the same month last year, a gain of 21.8 per cent in number and 15.6 per cent in cost. However, April's nonresidential building showed a 29 per cent decrease in value from a year ago.

Compared with March, which had 2,206 permits for buildings costing $7,453,709, the increase was 27.2 per cent in number and 23.9 per cent in value.

The largest gain was shown in new homes. Permits were issued last month for 592 dwellings to cost an estimated $4,131,976, compared with 313 permits issued during April of last year, costing $1,892,317.

ENGLISH ENVOY ASKS TARIF CUT ON BRITISH GOODS

New York, May 19.—[Special.]—Quoting Dickens, Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador to the United States, declared before the world trade luncheon today that "Barkis is willing" if American farmers want favorable treatment in Great Britain in return for reasonable reductions of the American tarif on British goods.

Representatives of three countries favored the signing of reciprocal trade pacts at the luncheon which was the third of a series of four being held in this city in celebration of national foreign trade week. This is being observed in more than six hundred cities and towns throughout the country. In addition to Sir Ronald another ambassador, Felipe A. Espil, representative of Argentina, also spoke today.

HUFF RESIGNS IN GRAIN CO-OP POLICY BATTLE

Leaves Post "In Interest of Harmony."

"On these proposed changes in operating policies a committee of directors is now working," directors said. "It is contemplated that the changes to be made will bring all regional grain coöperatives not now participating into participation in the national program."

This paragraph served to focus attention on the serious differences that have existed within the organization for many months. Of twenty-three regional coöperatives who were stockholders before a refinancing was accomplished through the Farm Credit administration, only twelve have continued as active stockholders and members of the organization. At least two of the twelve remaining are known to have been at odds with the policy of central control of marketing. These are the Farmers Union Terminal association, St. Paul, and the Northwest Grain association, Minneapolis.

Other Possible Malcontents.

Three other regional coöperatives, who did not join with the twelve who carried out the refinancing, retained representation of the Farmers National board of directors, and are looked upon as possible malcontents with regard to policies. These are the Farmers Coöperative Commission company, Hutchinson, Kas.; Iowa Coöperative Grain company, Humboldt, Ia., and North Pacific Grain Growers, Inc., Spokane, Wash.

Behind the scenes are rumors of political intervention from Washington.

The name of M. W. Thatcher, who resigned as Washington representative of the Farmers National early this year, is associated with the present shakeup, by some rumors. It is said that Thatcher has "influential friends" in the capital and was able to bring a degree of pressure against Huff. Thatcher has been a strong proponent of regional coöperative marketing in opposition to Huff.

Traceable to Refinancing.

Whatever the immediate causes of yesterday's development may be, however, differences of opinion leading up to it are traceable to the refinancing last year.

Farmers National reached the end of its rope, financially, when a loss of slightly more than a million dollars in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1936, wiped out its remaining capital and surplus.

To rescue the co-op which was formed in 1929, the government wiped the slate clear of loans totalling $14,000,000 and the FCA agreed to provide approximately $7,500,000 of new credits. The FCA agreed to advance $3,000,000 to the regional bodies, who were to subscribe to that amount of new stock in Farmers National and repay the loan over a ten year period. The balance of new funds was in the form of an outright loan to finance operations.

Just twelve of the regionals subscribed to stock, taking only $2,000,000 of it, but the plan was declared effective Sept. 15, 1936.

Objected to Payment Plan.

The reluctance of the regionals to subscribe arose from the provision in the refinancing agreement that ⅛ to ½ a cent a bushel be taken on all grain handled to repay the loan. It was contended this would place the coöperatives at a disadvantage with private competitors. Further, it did not square with the prevailing impression of a generous federal treasury handing out benefits to farmers and others in large amounts.

Also resigning with Huff yesterday was the law firm of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt, which became general counsel for Farmers National at its inception at the request of the late Alexander Legge, then chairman of the Federal Farm board. Attorney Irving B. Goldsmith represented the law firm in Farmers National business.

BRITISH BUY UP PART OF HEAVY GOLD OFFERINGS

British monetary authorities yesterday again indicated they were operating to absorb some of the large supplies of gold offered in the London market, thereby relieving the United States treasury of the burden of gold buying to some extent. The Bank of England made the second large gold purchase in eight days.

The bank bought metal valued at $21,409,000 on the basis of pound sterling of the pre-depreciation gold value at which the institution carries its accounts, thereby bringing total gold stocks of the bank to the highest figure in history. On May 11 the bank bought about $41,000,000 of gold.

Despite the heavy absorption by the bank, additional engagements of $8,890,000 gold in London for shipment to the United States were reported. This brought to $535,300,000 the total of gold taken in England for United States account since Sept. 26, 1936.

The dollar advanced moderately in terms of leading European currencies. The French franc lost .01⅛ cent and the pound dipped ⅛ cent.

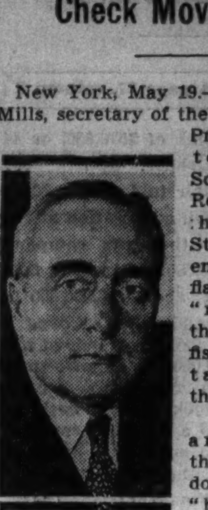
U.S. POLICY LEADS TO FALSE BOOM, MILLS ASSERTS

Assails Lack of Will to Check Movement.

New York, May 19.—(AP)—Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury under President Hoover, told the New School for Social Research tonight that the United States is threatened with an inflationary boom "resulting from the opportunistic fiscal and monetary policies of the government.



Ogden L. Mills.

"It could be arrested were there the will to do so," he said, "but the will seems to be clearly lacking. Were it not, the first step, balancing the federal budget, would be taken."

Summarizing his conclusions on the proper method of providing economic security for those productively employed, Mills said:

"1. A continuation of our American system of free enterprise holds every prospect of a rising standard of living.

Face Labor Shortage.

"2. There is good reason to believe that steady employment can be expected for the next few years.

["What we face is a probable labor shortage, not permanent unemployment," he declared.]

"3. While cyclical business movements cannot be eliminated in a dynamic society, we possess the technique to mitigate their swings.

["The only way to mitigate the severity of the depression is 'to sit on the boom.'"]

"4. This favorable picture is marred by the threat of an inflationary boom."

Concerning the security of those who are dependent, Mills said, "both from the standpoint of tradition and sound administration, this is a duty of the communities and the states."

View on Idle Relief.

He advocated that "the present system of federal unemployment relief should be terminated." Local authorities are more familiar with local needs and would be more economical than federal officials, he said.

"Unless we are careful," Mills added, the nation's unemployed "may become a permanently isolated group —a group that will become increasingly politically minded and more inclined to exert political pressure."

Describing the two types of aid to the aged: [1] Federal-state assistance to the needy aged, and [2] old age annuities for those in commerce and industry, he said:

"There is a very strong case for abandoning the system of insurance annuities entirely."

WALLACE HOPES FOR ACTION ON NEW FARM PLAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 19.—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today expressed hope for favorable action at this session of congress on the new farm program built about the ever normal granary plan by farm groups.

"I think that if we have favorable weather, and that if the program is not passed, both the farmers and I will wish it had been," he said.

He declined to discuss weather prospects, however, insisting that guessing at the weather was as uncertain as "picking the horses."

Wallace said he considered the program, drawn by farm leaders in coöperation with the department of agriculture, to be an excellent one. He said the flexible tarif provision, introduced by eastern farmers, which authorizes the President to raise or lower tarifs under certain conditions, might be withdrawn because it does not conform to the administration's reciprocal trade treaty program.

Wallace declined to comment on the constitutionality of the rigid crop control feature of the program.

Harry F. Sinclair told stockholders of Consolidated Oil corporation at the annual meeting that the company earned about $5,000,000 in the first quarter, against about $3,300,000 a year ago. Shareholders approved a resolution authorizing issuance of not in excess of $50,000,000 of unsecured debentures with rights to convert into common stock on the basis of not less than $25 a share of common stock. They are subject to issue at the discretion of the directors.

General Finance Gains.

General Finance corporation, Chicago, reported net earnings of $264,749, or 31 cents a common share, for the first five months of its fiscal year, ended April 30, before preferred dividends and provisions for surtax on undistributed profits. The company earned $146,466 in the corresponding 1936 period, or 20 cents a common share.

Stockholders of F. W. Woolworth company were told at the annual meeting at Watertown, N. Y., that sales for the first four months this year showed a larger percentage of increase than in the preceding four months, and May was expected to show a substantial gain over a year ago.

E. C. Mauchly, vice president, said that the company is continuing its policy of enlarging and improving stores to provide display space for new lines of merchandise. During the last year 163 stores were enlarged, and eighteen new units were opened in the United States, Canada, and Cuba, bringing the chain to 1,998 locations, he said. The concern has leased twenty-five more locations in North America for opening this year. The partly-owned British affiliate was operating 677 units and its German subsidiary eighty-two stores, he said.

SEARS, ROEBUCK TO EXPAND STORE ON SOUTH SIDE

Sears, Roebuck & Co. yesterday purchased from the Englewood Business college the three story fireproof building at 741 West Englewood avenue, for an undisclosed cash consideration. The property, with 82½ feet frontage and a depth of 124 feet, is directly east across the alley from the Englewood Sears store erected at the northeast corner of Halsted and 63d in 1935.

Bridges will be built over the alley connecting the second and third floors of the college building with the Sears store and the 30,690 square feet to floor area will be used mainly for merchandising. Some of the space will house the company's offices.

Built in 1921, the building just bought was occupied by the business college until May 1 of this year. It has foundations capable of carrying another story, which, it is understood, will be added later.

ORDER OF NOTICE
THE CITY OF MERIDEN
VS.
All the stockholders and creditors of the former Ayer-O'Connell Manufacturing company, a former Connecticut corporation with former office at 37 South Colony Street, Meriden, Connecticut, now dissolved.
All the stockholders and creditors of the former Ayer-Kempton corporation, a Maryland corporation, now dissolved, with former office in Baltimore, Maryland.
All the stockholders and creditors of the former Ayer-Taylor Corporation, an Illinois Corporation, with former office in Chicago, Illinois, at 134 South La Salle Street, and others, including
All the bondholders, secured by a trust mortgage indenture, made by the Ayer-Taylor Corporation, naming the Central Trust Company of Illinois, and Earl K. Stitt as co-trustees thereof, recorded in the Meriden, Connecticut land records, volume 170, page 340 and on file at the Central Republic Trust Company of Illinois, located in Chicago, and known as Trust No. 4725, Charles H. Albers, Receiver.
CITY COURT OF MERIDEN, MERIDEN, CONNECTICUT, May 15, 1937.
COUNTY OF NEW HAVEN, STATE OF CONNECTICUT.

It appearing in the above entitled action praying for reasons therein set forth, for a foreclosure and possession of mortgaged premises located at 37-39 South Colony Street, Meriden, Connecticut, which property stands in the record name of the Ayer-Taylor Corporation aforesaid, now dissolved, and upon which property there is a trust mortgage indenture as aforestated dated July 1, 1921, which action has been returned to and is now pending in the City Court of Meriden for New Haven County sitting at Meriden, Connecticut.

It appearing to and being found by the subscribing authority that the said defendant, to wit, stockholders, creditors, and bondholders aforestated are unknown, and that the plaintiff has been unable to ascertain the same although it has endeavored to do so, and that the notice most likely to come to the attention of said parties is by publication in the Meriden Journal, a newspaper circulated in Meriden, Connecticut, and The Chicago Tribune, a newspaper circulating in Chicago, Illinois.

Therefore, ORDERED, that notice of the pendency of said complaint be given said defendants by publishing this order in the Meriden Journal, and The Chicago Tribune, publication to be made in each newspaper on or before June 1, 1937, by some proper officer or indifferent person.

By the Court.
FRANCIS DANAHER,
Judge.

British King to Review Ships Today—Cards and Giants in Free-for-All as Hubbell Beats Dean

ARE THEY TRYING A RECONCILIATION?—Helen Betenas, once accused of bigamy, in love making scene with Mike Betenas, her "night time" and at present, only husband. Scene occurred while court hearing was in progress yesterday.

RAMBERT GUILTY—Mrs. Hattie Rambert consoling son, Harold, who faces 1 to 14 years for slaying.
(Story on page 13.)

KING IN PORTSMOUTH FOR NAVAL REVIEW—Picture sent by radio and wirephoto showing George VI. as he mounted the gangplank of the royal yacht Victoria and Albert yesterday. He will review 311 ships today.

CHILD HERO—Barry Thorp, 4, of Denver, and Joyce Thompson, 3, whom he saved from drowning.

Lilacs Cheer 16,000 Shut-Ins in 92 Institutions

A scene at the loading platform of the Tribune Tower yesterday as some of the lilacs were being loaded on trucks for delivery to hospitals and institutions. Yesterday was the first of two days in the ninth annual Share Your Lilacs campaign of the Chicago Plant, Flower, and Fruit guild and The Chicago Tribune. Lilacs will again be delivered next Tuesday, with the hope of sending them to a total of 20,000 shut-ins in 120 hospitals and homes. The blossoms yesterday came mainly from the south and west suburban areas and by plane from Seattle, San Francisco, and Cleveland.

CARDS AND GIANTS ENGAGE IN 9TH INNING FIST FIGHT—Dizzy Dean (indicated by arrow) became angered when a balk was called on him in pitching duel which he lost to Carl Hubbell yesterday, 4 to 1. He started throwing at Giants and a fight ensued. Here Gus Mancuso of Giants and Mickey Owens of Cards are on ground with Medwick of Cards (No. 7) trying to untangle them. (Story on page 27.)

Colored children in the Lillian Smith Home for Dependent Children at 5627 South Michigan avenue were not forgotten. Left to right: Mary Jackson, Genevieve Sterl, and Dorothy Raussian with bouquets of flowers. The lilacs were taken not only to hospitals but to charitable and social institutions.
